Dismembered Remains Are Identified as Those of Tuffa Shishem by the Lad's Mother.

ARRESTS ARE MADE SOON

Hassin Nemmer, Turk, Taken Here, and Stephen Kantrencitis, Servian, in Racine as Suspects.

"It's my son; my darling Tuffa! Tuffa, Tuffa, speak to your mother! Tell me who killed you! This crime must be avenged, and I will laugh as I drink the murderer's blood."

With this exclamation Mrs. Minnie Shishem, a Syrian residing at 7 Johnson street, yesterday afternoon identified as her own child the dismembered body of the boy found in the canals and pools of South Lawndale.

And as she said this, in broken English, the mother clapped both her hands against her head and then her body, and alternately muttered curses and then chanted prayers in her native tongue until she fell to the floor of the county morgue, exhausted. She was brought back to consciousness, only to repeat her former actions, and so continued until the police forcibly led her from the place.

Later Mrs. Shishem sank on the lawn at the door of the morgue, and it required the united efforts of the two police officers and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Martha Shishem, 397 South Canal street, and Mrs. Minnie Neimy, 395 South Canal street, to place her on a car for the Maxwell street police station, where she joined her husband and attempted to inform the police about all the persons who might have committed the crime.

Suspect Promptly Arrested.

As a result of information furnished by the mother and other relatives, Inspector Dorman immediately summoned the patrol wagon and boarded it with other officers and personally arrested Hassin Nemmer, alias Joseph Hassin, alias Hassan Neman, alias Yusef Hassin, at the shed he calls home in the rear of 102 Mather street. Here the police found bloody death dealing implements and got strong circumstantial evidence against the prisoner.

Regardless of this, however, the prisoner withstood the severest kind of a questioning by Inspector Dorman and his assistants. The inspector looked puzzled late at night when he summoned Chief Shippy to his aid. Mayor Busse accompanied the chief.

Held Only on Suspicion.

The prisoner, thus far only detained on "suspicion," up until a late hour would admit nothing incriminating, and the police didn't seem any too enthusiastic over his arrest, but were clinging to the hope that he would yet break down and confess what he knew about the atrocious case. Hassin is a Turkish peddler of notions. He is a Mohammedan. He is 56 years old.

Persons in the neighborhood of the Turk's home related to the police that he held an enmity to Christians. One story that was told was that he had boasted he would "kill five Christians before he died." No confirmation of any such threat was secured, but the story was made the basis of a theory that religious or racial differences had a share in the motive—granting that Hassin is concerned in the crime.

Servian in Custody Also.

A second arrest was made in the evening near Racine. This suspect formerly was a boarder in the Shishem household. He is Stephen Kantrencitis, a Servian. A month ago he left Chicago and went to Kankakee. Saturday night he returned to Chicago. He told his friends he was going to Racine and Milwaukee.

He was found last evening by Harry Waldvogel and William Georgepoulos working in a gravel pit of the Chicago and Milwaukee electric road three miles south of Racine. He admitted that his name was Kantrencitis, and that he had lived in Chicago. He immediately was placed under arrest.

During the slight examination to which he was subjected he admitted he had boarded at the Shishem home, but denied emphatically that he knew anything of the fate of the boy. The examination was hampered by his ignorance of English.

Under orders they had received from Assistant Chief Schuettler to "bring him in" the detectives guarded Kantrencitis closely until midnight when they took him aboard a Goodrich line steamer bound for Chicago. They declined to explain what evidence they had against him except that relating to his presence in the Ghetto on the day the Shishems lost track of their son. It is said he had a row with Shishem, the elder, a month ago, but in the afternoon Mrs. Shishem said she did not suspect "Steve."

Greek Under Suspicion.

There is a strange Greek also under suspicion. It is said he has been trying to entice bootblacks and newsboys from the Union depot. The boy who was killed was himself a bootblack in the station. He was 13 years old.

The chief suspect, however, is still Hassin Nemmer. Salim Shishem, the boy's father, who is a fruit peddler, and Nemmer, the Turk, had serious trouble over the Turk's peculiar friendship for the boy three months ago, and during that altercation the Turk is alleged to have said to the father:

"I'll get a knife and jab you to death."

The father and other relatives declare this, but Hassin looks dumb when questioned about it.

Nemmer's Reputation Bad.

Nemmer has a reputation in the neighborhood of being fond of the company of boys, and two years ago and again about eight months ago the police suspected him, but could not get any evidence against him. On July 7 he complained to the police that boys had broken into his house and robbed it of $72 cash and a gold watch that he brought from Turkey. On his information the police arrested two youths, who later were dismissed for want of evidence. The police accuse Nemmer or running a "sort of a fence," where boys could bring their plunder, and their belief is the boys arrested had been enticed there and shown the valuables, and that certain ones later, during the Turk's absence, broke in and robbed his trunk.

Inspector Dorman and his men made a superficial examination of the Turk's place

ARMY CONTRACTS MAY BE CORNERED?

Manufacturers of Illinois Charge War Department Discrimination Gives East Advantage.

WESTERN BIDDERS LOSE.

Manufacturers of the west have found new ammunition in their fight against the methods employed by the war department in awarding contracts for army clothing.

Following its protest last month against the action of the department in constituting a central board of umpires at Philadelphia to pass upon all bids the Illinois Manufacturers' association has registered a new complaint.

It is based on the new department regulation that all bidders for contracts to make army clothing shall deposit with the central board a special twenty yard sample.

The protest, which is incorporated in a letter sent by Secretary John M. Glenn of the association to Secretary of War Wright, is couched in vigorous terms.

The department is criticised severely for its alleged discrimination against certain bidders.

Another feature of the protest is the claim that the new regulation practically is equivalent to the establishing of a "corner" in the making of army clothing, as the expense of making the sample is prohibitive to most manufacturers.

This, it is claimed, will result in the placing of the contract in the hands of one manufacturer.

Asks Some Pertinent Questions.

Secretary Glenn's letter follows:

Luke E. Wright, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: I notice in an article published in "The Chicago Tribune" July 31 that Assistant Secretary of War Oliver says "that in the matter of furnishing cloth for army uniforms, there has plainly been an effort on the part of concerns which desire to capture these contracts, to escape the necessity of submitting a twenty yard sample, which is called for under the new regulation."

I respectfully submit these questions: Why do they want to escape the necessity of making a twenty yard sample? Was not the present policy adopted because it was known that manufacturers could not afford to make the sample? Does not the present policy practically place the contract in the hands of the manufacturer who makes the standard sample for the government? Is it an easy matter to make a sample without a standard sample? Does not the new policy reduce competition?

Does not Mr. Oliver know that the war department is protected under the old rule? Does the assistant secretary of war maintain he has any right to discriminate against bidders so long as they comply with the requirements and furnish the necessary bond?

Does any one contend that L. Capa & Sons of Jacksonville, Ill., is not a reliable firm? I am informed the latter house was 24 cents a yard cheaper than the American Woolen company at the July 10 opening (a difference of over $10,000).

Does the department wish to place itself in the position as appearing to be friendly to the American Woolen company?

On another award I am informed H. and W. Lewis of New York were the lowest bidders, yet the contract went to the American Woolen company and the American Woolen company, it is asserted, sublet the contract to the lowest bidder.

You are respectfully asked if you think the policy now pursued is fair; if you think it is just to the department and just to the public. Yours very truly, JOHN M. GLENN, Secretary.

East Given Advantage.

In the western manufacturers' first protest against the creation of the Philadelphia board, it was claimed that the eastern bidders thus were given a big tactical advantage over western manufacturers.

It was contended that it was a hardship for middle western companies to submit samples, so far from their base.

Insinuations also were made to the effect that the war department deliberately was arranging matters so eastern firms would get all the big contracts.

YATES WOULD PARDON COOKE?

That Is Report in West Side Wards, Circulation of Which Is Credited to Convict's Brother.

To add to the turmoil in the west side wards it was reported last night that "Billy" Cooke, in payment for his active support of the Yates cause, would receive the release of his brother, John A. Cooke, now in the penitentiary for fee grafting. The circulation of this report was credited to "Billy" Cooke himself, and the story has gone all through the Ninth, Tenth and other Lorimer wards.

LINGERIE LISTED AS LUXURY

Nightdress Not a Necessity, According to Hoosier Judge.

GIRL MUST SLEEP IN SHEET.

Father Asks Court to Check Daughter's Extravagance.

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A nightdress may be a desirable luxury, but it is not a necessity, according to Judge H. Tuthill of the Laporte County Superior court. A few weeks ago a girl of 16, whose parents are foreign born, was taken before Judge Tuthill. She was the oldest of nine children, and was inclined to incorrigibility. The father told a long story about hard times and a large family dependent upon him for support. He could not support his daughter in idleness, he said, and wanted her placed where she would be well cared for.

$1.65 Too Much for Dress.

The court concluded that the girl ought to have a chance to aid her parents and grow up to good and useful womanhood without the stigma of having been incarcerated in a penal institution, so he turned her over to a probation officer, who found employment for her in the home of a prominent family. She went to work with a will and her conduct was exemplary.

But the father was not satisfied. He asked that she contribute her earnings to the support of the family. The girl, it seems, developed a taste for feminine finery, and at the end of the first week spent $1.65 for a new dress, giving the remaining 35 cents to her parents.

This was too much for the old gentleman and he laid down an ironclad rule that henceforth she bring home every cent of her wages and allow her mother to select and make purchase of her clothing.

Nightdress Desire Last Straw.

Another pay day loomed near and the father learned that his daughter, as the result of associating with people accustomed to such luxuries, contemplated buying a nightdress.

In consequence of the proposed extravagance he appealed to the court to put a check on the young woman's hifalutin' notions.

The maid pleaded guilty to the charge of coveting a night dress, but after the father had related the many needs of the family more pressing, Judge Tuthill decided the article might be foregone, especially in extremely warm weather.

Therefore, providing she heeds the court's ruling, the girl will have to continue to wrap herself in a sheet or take chances on mosquitoes.

THIEF STEALS FROM MINISTER.

Visiting Churchman Seeks Return of Clergy Book Through "Want Ad" in "The Tribune."

A sneak thief who operated in the Richmond hotel was no respecter of persons, neither was he particular whether the articles which he purloined were of any particular value to him. The clergy book of a visiting preacher and the citizenship papers of the same man were stolen in a suit case which the owner now is seeking.

This ad, which was sent to THE TRIBUNE yesterday afternoon, tells the story of the stranger's loss:

STOLEN—PARTY WHO STOLE SUITCASE AND grip from Room 43, Hotel Richmond, Monday, will not be prosecuted if he returns citizenship paper and clergy book to N. M., General Delivery, City.

At the hotel last evening the clerk refused to discuss the case. He declared that he knew as little of the identity of the preacher as of the thief.

FAVORS THE ALL NIGHT "JAG."

Temperance Lecture Says It Is Better than to Take a "Nip" Every Day.

Addressing the Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua at Austin yesterday John A. Nicholls of Boston said he favored the man who gets on an all night drunk occasionally to the one who takes a nip every day.

"If I wanted to drink," said Mr. Nicholls, "I would get good and soused and then cut it out for a month. It is not nearly so bad to roll in the gutter as it is to take a nip every now and then. A man's physique can't stand either one, especially the latter.

"Three persons suffer for every one who takes a drink, and he should be made to abstain not only for the self-inflicted injuries, but for the injuries he inflicts on innocent persons."

YATES-HOPKINS IS NEW ALLIANCE

Thirty Workers for Ex-Governor Mark 300,000 Sample Ballots for Senator from Aurora.

MUTUAL SUPPORT CLEAR.

Senator A. J. Hopkins and former Gov. Richard Yates are two hearts which beat politically as one again. These estranged friends have forgotten and forgiven. Mr. Yates now is supporting Mr. Hopkins. Of that there is proof. Mr. Hopkins presumably is supporting Mr. Yates, although the evidence of this is not present so convincingly.

The sample ballots which were being prepared yesterday in Yates headquarters in the Stratford hotel carry a cross in front of the name of Mr. Hopkins. Three hundred thousand of these specimens which will guide the Yates workers tomorrow will be placed in circulation either today or early tomorrow morning.

The cross which is a prefix to the name of Yates is printed. That which is prefixed to Mr. Hopkins' name and which carries the indorsement of the Yates organization with it, is traced on the ballots with lead pencil. Thirty Yates workers were secreted in a side-room at the Stratford during the day busily marking in these crosses.

Help Must Be Mutual.

The presumption—and it is eminently a fair one—is that Mr. Yates and his friends are not accommodating Mr. Hopkins to this extent without a consideration, and the only price which Mr. Hopkins could pay would be the support of Yates.

The indications are that an eleventh hour agreement has been entered into between the two men, one not designed for publicity but intended to be worked out secretly between the workers of the Hopkins federal organization on the one side and the Yates Chicago organization on the other.

That whatever understanding exists was to be kept secret was made apparent. The Yates leaders announced publicly and emphatically that no indorsement would be carried on their sample ballots as they left the Stratford hotel except the indorsement of Yates.

The theory on which they were supposed to be working purported to send the Yates ballots to the Yates workers in the various wards with no other indorsement save that of the candidate for governor. It then remained for the Yates men in the different wards to mark in whatever other candidate they wished, either state, county, sanitary district, or Municipal court.

Lorimer the Go-Between?

While the Yates leaders were making this announcement a force of clerks was at work marking in the Hopkins indorsement. Congressman Lorimer, of course, has been friendly to Hopkins. He also has been the chief strength of the Yates movement in Chicago. That he should interfere and swing the Yates strength to Hopkins is not unreasonable. Neither is it that he should demand that so much of the federal machine as can be controlled by Hopkins should support Yates.

Hopkins has had reason to suspect that the Deneen organization in Chicago would support Foss. There have been no outward manifestations of any such intent. The Deneen sample ballots do not carry Mr. Foss' name, but the congressman has secured support from quarters which are credited to Deneen influence, and evidently he has reached his own conclusions.

There had been no agreement between the governor and the senator, according to accepted report and according to the statements of both men, other than a general "hands off" agreement. Gov. Deneen was tending strictly to his own business of seeking the republican nomination for governor, and Senator Hopkins was supposed to be tending strictly to his own knitting without seeking entangling alliances with Mr. Deneen's rival, Mr. Yates, and without listening to allurement from Yates' headquarters.

Deal on Eve of Primaries.

Unless Mr. Yates has been deceived by his own campaign manager, or unless he has fallen victim to a sudden burst of unprofitable generosity, he and Hopkins have reached an agreement and have made a deal on the eve of the primaries, an agreement which is intended to deprive Deneen of as much of the federal organization support as Mr. Hopkins can swing on such short notice.

How much this would be is problematical. A large part of the federal machine obeys Senator Cullom without paying much attention to Senator Hopkins. A sudden summons from the latter might not meet with universal response, but it would have some effect. So far as it was effective it would be injurious to Deneen.

If the plans of the Hopkins men in the Yates camp had been carried out as they were planned, and if no general publication had been given to the indorsement of Hopkins, the Deneen republicans would have had no chance to retaliate on the senator. He would have stood to win without much possibility of a loss anywhere.

The Deneen men would have stuck to their agreements to keep hands off and the Hopkins strength would have gone to Yates. That the Yates' indorsement of the senator is not a free will offering, made without hope or promise of return, is made pretty certain by the fact that Yates made Hopkins senator and then looked in vain to him for a little reciprocal aid when he wanted the renomination as governor.

Even Mr. Yates is not likely to have forgotten the sting of that ingratitude.

Many Yates Men Disgusted.

Some of the Yates supporters who have no kindly regard for Mr. Hopkins learned of this eleventh hour decision with the greatest disgust. Dr. C. Pruyn Stringfield, who has been a Yates supporter from time immemorial, charged on the Yates headquarters as soon as he learned that the indorsement of Hopkins had been decided upon. He was told, as were other inquirers, that no such action had been taken. He believed this until he was able to lay hands on one of the ballots marked in pencil for Mr. Hopkins and then he exploded with all the force of his genuine emotions.

Scratches Yates' Name.

This was not the only trouble the Yates ballots made. William Rothermel of the Sixth ward, who organized the Yates people there for the fight against John R. Thompson and Gov. Deneen, discovered a bit of work which led him and his supporters to scratch the name of Yates off the windows of their headquarters and the original Yates movement in that ward now is "busted."

Mr. Rothermel is a candidate for president of the county board, running against William Busse, the republican slate candidate. He had a right to expect that the Yates strength in the minority wards would be thrown to him. He had started the anti-Deneen movement in Hyde Park early in the game, and had every right to expect that his support of the former governor would be rewarded.

He discovered to his disgust that the Yates ballots were carrying an indorsement of Mr. Busse, his opponent, in some of the wards at least, and his indignation did not allow him time for extended investigation. The "Open Door" club of the Sixth ward, of which he is the founder and head, held a meeting last night and resolved to act quickly on this bit of political "treachery." Rothermel declared himself through with the candidate and his followers went outside the clubrooms and scratched the name of Yates from its place on the door.

Follow Own Inclinations.

The Yates lieutenants in the different wards are following their own inclinations, it is said, regarding the indorsement of the slate candidates of the county organization. In most of the Lorimer wards on the west side the names of Roy O. West, candidate for the board of review, and of Charles Vail, candidate for Superior court clerk, are being scratched and those of T. J. Magner and Joseph Badenoch, their rivals, are being marked as indorsed. John J. Healy also is being sacrificed.

ONE GRAVE WILL HOLD FOUR WHO DROWNED AT SAME TIME.

Oscar MacMaster Returns with Bodies of Two Sons and Their Brides Who Met Death in Mississippi.

One grave will hold the four young people, two brothers and their brides of two years, who drowned while bathing last Tuesday in the Mississippi river at Galena. The four funerals will be held as one at noon today. The funeral services will be held at the brothers' late residence, 1787 Polk street, the Rev. G. MacKay of Grace Episcopal church officiating.

Oscar MacMaster returned yesterday with the bodies of his son, Bert, aged 26, and the latter's wife, Bessie, aged 21 years, and his other son, Archie, aged 23, and his wife, May, aged 22.

When the bodies arrived a pathetic scene was enacted. The three mothers—Mrs. MacMaster, Mrs. Huebner, mother of May, and Mrs. Lohr, mother of Bessie, wept with their arms about each other.

"They were the happiest young people I ever saw," said Mr. MacMaster in the evening. "They were married within a month or two of each other two years ago. Bert was a timekeeper in a clothing house. Archie was a railroad man."

INTEND TO PUNISH PRIMARY FRAUDS.

Deneen Men Will Prosecute Persons Attempting to Count Him Out at Polls.

LORIMER TO BE WATCHED

Election Board Scents Trouble; Issues Warning to Election Officials.

Word came to the Deneen headquarters yesterday that the Lorimer people were going to take desperate chances in the Fourth, Fifth, Ninth, and Tenth wards at tomorrow's primaries. The governor's friends spent the day seeking ways to circumvent any attempt to count him out. They have no challengers and under the law no chance to make a fight.

No quarter will be given in the fight. The governor's friends have adopted strong measures and they have announced that if fraud is detected there will be no limit to the prosecutions. Such watchers of other parties as are friendly to Gov. Deneen will help out in these wards where the governor has no organization.

Charles W. Vail, Gov. Deneen's manager, said:

"Yates is counting in Chicago on two things. One is the liquor interests and the other is the kind of help that his men can give after 5 o'clock on Saturday."

The workers in all the organization wards met during the evening and received their last instructions and sample ballots. In many districts the governor has not taken open part in legislative fights. This is true particularly in such districts as the Third, where all the candidates are organization men. The favors of the organization have been allowed to go out locally. The selected man will be made known by passing the word down the line.

Election Board's Warning.

The election board is alive to the situation and last night sent out a warning to judges and clerks of election to be on the lookout. They have had warning to look out for two particular precincts in the First ward.

It is known that this election offers large opportunities for fraud on account of the incomplete registry lists. The last revision was in April, and then only for an aldermanic election, and consequently many names are on the lists when the voters have moved into other precincts. Under the primary law a man not registered can swear in his vote.

May Arrest Without Warrant.

The commissioners inform election judges that it is their duty to promptly have arrested any person trying to vote fraudulently, no warrant being necessary, and as reason for the warning say:

"The board of election commissioners has received complaints of such a nature as to demand that it take cognizance of the conditions regarding the qualifications of alleged voters in certain precincts. Investigations conducted by the board have justified these complaints, and while the most flagrant instances are the Twenty-eighth and Thirty-second precincts of the First ward; there are other precincts in the same and other wards in which conditions are such as to make necessary plans already consummated to see that none but legally qualified voters are permitted to cast their ballots at the primaries on Saturday next and that the ballots are counted as cast. The conditions mentioned as applying to the First ward are also applicable to various precincts in at least one other ward."

Gov. Deneen and Mayor Busse held a conference in the evening at the Union League club which lasted nearly an hour. The governor said politics was the topic, but neither he nor the mayor would admit that any plans of importance were made for the primary fight.

Deneen Confident of Victory.

Headquarters both of the Yates and Deneen forces began to look deserted as the great battle drew near. The fight had been carried out into the field. No more speeches are counted on, no more organizing will have much effect. What is being done is to conserve and patch up. To this end Gov. Deneen did not make any speeches during the daytime, but kept close to his room in the Union League club in frequent communication with his managers. The governor said in the evening:

"I feel positive I will win by 60,000 votes at least. I am basing this on the fact that in the fight two years ago Cullom won by 45,000 over Yates, and we have an organization in the state much stronger than Cullom had. My campaign has been going on steadily, and I think effectively, for several months. Not only have I been traveling over the state but more than 600 papers have been speaking for me and telling month after month what the work of the administration has been.

"I think I have the coal interests with me —nine out of ten miners. I have as much labor support as ever has been got together in this state. I have the retail grocers and butchers working hard for me. I have the business men of the state with me.

Trusts Intelligence of People.

"More than that, I have answered in pamphlet form every argument that has been made by Yates. I cannot see where he has scored a point or whom he has got behind him except the disgruntled ones. I never have worried a minute over the result of this campaign. The people cannot fail to see that Mr. Yates has misrepresented me and my administration, and that he has made promises that no man could keep."

The strength of the governor in the wards which he controls is so great that it will not harm him if all the votes of the Lorimer wards go against him, according to the reports that come into headquarters. A poll in one of the precincts of the seventh ward has shown: Deneen, 196; Yates, 9; not voting, 4.

The managers of the campaign which the liquor interests are making have withdrawn the name of Yates from their sample ballots. This was done because they felt that Deneen would win, and they did not want to antagonize the future governor any more.

Yates Resorts to Tricks.

While the Yates people express the utmost confidence in the results, it may be explained by a remark which Ernest Magerstadt made to one of his friends:

"We are beaten forty ways," he said, "but we have got to keep the drums going."

In Magerstadt's own ward, where so much is talked about for Yates, the majority of voters are democrats. There are not enough republicans to make much trouble.

Dr. Albert A. Lowenthal, secretary of the Physicians' league of Illinois, which is trying to influence physicians for Yates, formerly was agent for the Goat Lymph Cure company and later a manufacturer of "lymphene." He is a brother of "Sol." Lowenthal, a Chicago lawyer.

Charles W. Vail has received the signature of 1,600 lawyers of Chicago indorsing his candidacy for clerk of the Superior court. His business management and courteous treatment of all were commended strongly.

Members of the Knights of Columbus, Elgin council, are working hard in the interests of the candidacy of William F. Lynch of that city for the nomination as secretary of state.

The baseball friends of Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, are giving him strong support. At a meeting of fans today twenty-five active workers will be selected to hustle in the various wards for Mr. Smith.

Henry W. Lee, editor of the Calumet Record, is making a strong run for trustee of the sanitary district. His platform is that all sewers should be diverted from the lake at once.

Edward R. Litzinger, republican candidate for the nomination for state's attorney, has been indorsed by a committee of physicians, headed by Dr. D. A. Steele, Dr. W. A. Fisher, and Dr. Edwin B. Tuteur.

J. James O'Connor, candidate for Municipal judge, has received the indorsement of sixty lawyers, who have signed a statement that he is "fearless and able, of exemplary habits, unblemished character, and unfailing courtesy."

FOSS SCORES HOPKINS' RECORD

Declares Senator Does Not Stand for Progressive Republicanism

PREDICTS RESULT OF VOTE.

Manager for Congressman Says He Will Carry Cook County.

Senator Hopkins' record was attacked by Congressman George Edmund Foss in a speech last night at Riverview park. More than 30,000 people were in the park during the meeting, which was held in the interest of Mr. Foss' candidacy for the United States senate.

"Senator Hopkins does not stand for progressive republicanism," said Mr. Foss. "He has opposed every policy of President Roosevelt and is opposed to the election of senators by the people. On May 23 a resolution was introduced in the senate calling for a constitutional amendment to bring about the election of senators by the people. Senator Hopkins voted to send the resolution to the committee on privileges and elections.

"He also is boasting that it was due to his efforts that Chicago obtained the new naval training station at Lake Bluff. That training station was obtained for Chicago by the public spirited citizens of Chicago, and Senator Hopkins had nothing to do with it."

Claims Victory for Foss.

Joseph Downey, manager of the Foss campaign, issued the following statement:

To the republicans of Illinois: Mr. Foss will carry Cook county by a substantial majority over all candidates. He has made the greatest campaign ever made by any candidate in Illinois within the time of his candidacy. He greatly regrets that he is unable to visit all of the counties, but nevertheless he has received evidences of support from every county in the state, and he will carry the state by a substantial majority of republican voters.

The tide of public sentiment is rising every hour in his favor. The people are demanding a higher standard of public service. They are demanding men who are free from all corporate influences of every kind and character. They are demanding a man who stands for progressive republicanism, and they know that Mr. Foss stands for these ideas.

Six years ago it was said that two men practically selected the present United States senator now seeking reëlection. This year the people have the opportunity to choose their own next United States senator, and his name will be George Edmund Foss.

Business Men's League Grows.

Francis T. Simmons, chairman of the executive committee of the Foss Business Men's league, announced the names of 200 additional vice presidents. Mr. Foss speaks tonight at Cottage Grove avenue and Forty-sixth street.

SAYS YATES' PATRONAGE IDEAS SHOULD OPEN VOTERS' EYES.

Candidate for Republican Nomination for Governor Also Misrepresents Himself, According to Camp Point Man.

Camp Point, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Mr. Yates says in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE that in 1904, at the time of the deadlock convention, he made a trade with Deneen to "carry on a partnership as to the campaign, elect and organize a state legislature, elect a speaker, retain the state appointees for two years, and elect a United States senator."

Two years ago, however, in a speech in Chicago, Mr. Yates squarely denied having made such a trade with Mr. Deneen. THE TRIBUNE of July 18, 1906, reports him as follows:

Tonight I am going to tell of the conditions under which I am making this campaign. . . . My attitude has been and is misrepresented by certain newspapers. They say in effect that Yates came to Chicago to get the reward of his bargain and sale in Springfield. My friends even have been so fooled as to misrepresent my attitude. The proposition is that Gov. Deneen and I got together and I said to him, "I will make you governor" and that he said to me, "I will make you a United States senator." . . . Even so, does it appeal to you that the governor and I would get together as my enemies are saying we did? It is unthinkable and productive of suicide. The Yates organization would not commit suicide. The papers are trying to fool you. . . . I am quoted as saying that I am here to force and frighten Gov. Deneen into keeping our compact. I always have said Gov. Deneen is too honest to be bought, too sensible to be fooled, and too brave to be scared.

The substance of the trade, as alleged and specified the other day by Mr. Yates, was common tongue and newspaper gossip for two years before he made his public denial of it.

Two years ago, however, Mr. Yates gave a different, or an additional, reason from the reasons he now gives for his spoils trade. In a speech in Quincy, Quincy Whig of March 1, 1906, he talked as follows:

I followed in part the recommendations of county chairmen. In doing this I recognized William Lorimer. . . . I know now I made a mistake. I know now I recognized a man who doesn't know how to stand by a friend. . . . At the state convention of 1904 I endeavored to make amends for any mistakes I had made and to correct any error by doing all I could do to prevent his enthronement in power as a crowned king in the city of Chicago. This I did by helping to nominate Deneen for governor, an act for which I am not sorry, and for which the state is not sorry.

This knock of Lorimer, then, seems to have been not merely an incident of the trade with Deneen, and the trade was in good part for the purpose of making amends to the state for the evil consequences of his mistaken though innocent partnership with the then bad man Lorimer.

It is reasonable to infer that Mr. Yates is again in some unholy alliance to fool the people and for the enthronement of a pushful and tricky politician. How can any one believe a man who so misrepresents himself, who talks of himself like an enemy, who tries to fool the people about himself, who has two reasons for what he does—the reason and the reason he gives?

Why should the voters of the state allow the business of the state to be put on a patronage-trading basis? Why should they magnify a politician who speaks so often and so admiringly of God and Washington and Lincoln and reform, but who acts so much like the devil? C. S. BOOTH.

SWEDES WORKING FOR DENEEN

State Republican League of That Nationality Gives Governor Its Unqualified Support.

Gov. Deneen has received the unqualified indorsement of the Swedish-American Republican league of Illinois for renomination, and its officers are working in his interest.

Reports received at the headquarters of the league from all parts of the state indicate that Deneen will have the support of the voters of this nationality almost to a man. Assistant State's Attorney Oscar D. Olson is president of the league.

State Senator Frank A. Landee of Moline, who was opposed to Deneen in the convention that nominated him four years ago, wrote that he had been converted by his observation of the Deneen administration. George W. Johnson, president of the Moline Fur company, said practically all of the Swedes in his part of the state are with the governor. Dr. Joseph E. Westerlund of Cambridge, Ill., reported an overwhelming sentiment in favor of Deneen among his countrymen in that section, and P. A. Peterson made a similar report from Rockford. County Commissioner Carl Chindblom and George A. Johnson said a great majority of the Swedes in Chicago are for Deneen.

SEE PARKS SAVED IF DENEEN WINS.

Breathing Spots and Boulevards Made the Issue in Thirteenth Ward.

BLOUNT IS OPTIMISTIC.

Great Crowd Hears Governor Review Important Work of His Administration.

Gov. Deneen talked to one of the biggest crowds of his campaign last night, when he went into the Thirteenth ward. The tent at Kedzie avenue and West Monroe street was overflowing, and extra chairs had to be brought in. Fred M. Blount, who is aiding the governor in this ward, says he will be able to carry it. The battle of the Deneen forces in this district has been made upon the issue of park improvements.

The governor referred to the last annual report of the west park commissioners, which sets forth the amount of work done under the Deneen administration, and a description by former President B. A. Eckhart of the deplorable condition in which the parks and boulevards were left by the park board under Yates. This report is being circulated among the voters. Accompanying it is a letter signed by Dr. T. W. Brophy, John McLaren, Graham Taylor, La Verne W. Noyes, W. H. Winslow, and Dr. Andrew M. Harvey.

Urged to Vote to Save Parks.

The letter says in part:

"On Aug. 8, under the new primary law, the opportunity will be given you as a voter to determine whether the west side parks in their present healthy beauty shall be preserved for you, to grow more perfect under an efficient, economical, honest, and businesslike management, or whether these same parks and boulevards shall again sink to ruin and decay under the disgraceful neglect, abuse, and wicked waste of public money which the return of the former administration and its spoilsmen inevitably will bring. That our parks may be kept green and the affairs of the state and the west side parks be continued under an honest, able, and fearless management, do not fail to vote at the primaries for the nomination of Charles S. Deneen as governor."

Haynie R. Pearson and Charles Alling Jr. also spoke at this meeting. Mr. Blount was not present, nor was David Clark, ward committeeman. It was stated that they were detained by meetings of ward workers.

Indorsed by Clergyman.

The Rev. J. D. Leek, pastor of the Western Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, who was Gov. Deneen's old pastor, introduced the governor in these words:

"I knew him as an honorable and honest man. He is that today. He is a man I admire, a man whom I addressed frequently from my pulpit and talked to in his home—a man who has rendered this state great service."

The governor told of the work done in the state charitable institutions and how the primary bill was brought about. On this latter subject he said Mr. Yates never opened his mouth when it was pending, never gave an interview favoring it, never indicated in any way his position until it was a law.

Cites Many Improvements.

In the state institutions he cited these improvements:

The establishment of a state psychopathic institute.
A complete reorganization of medical administration.
Water treatment for the insane.
Industrial reëducation for the chronic insane.
Compulsory training school for nurses and attendants.
New buildings of the pure hospital type.
The segregation of consumptives.
Putting employés under a civil service law.
Improvements in buildings and equipment.

After the address the governor shook hands with hundreds who came to the platform. The governor also spoke at Aurora Turner hall, Ashland avenue and Division street, before the Northwest Side Jewish association. There were 1,000 Jews present. He will close his campaign officially tonight with addresses in Evanston, Irving Park, and at the rally of the Square Deal Political club, Ogden avenue and West Madison street.

BUSINESS MEN COMBINE TO AID CANDIDACY OF GOV. DENEEN.

Executive Secretary Cotton Announces Hundreds Have Joined Organization in Last Few Days.

The Association of Chicago's Business Interests' favoring the renomination of Gov. Deneen grew with leaps and bounds yesterday. Charles H. Conover of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co. and A. J. White, vice president of the board of trade, were added to the executive committee and hundreds of employers and employés of seven new divisions joined the governor's cause.

"It is difficult to imagine a more unanimous and emphatic expression of confidence in a public official by the trades and professions of a great city than is being manifested by the business interests of Chicago for Gov. Deneen," said Executive Secretary Cotton.

"The great central market is so vast in its proportions and there are so many concerns in each classification, that it has been impossible to communicate with all of them. But we have been highly gratified that so nearly 100 per cent of those we have communicated with have responded favorably. In fact, there is no question of how the substantial commercial interests, both employers and employés, stand in this gubernatorial primary contest. Nearly all of them consider it a business proposition that the state will be better off if Gov. Deneen is renominated."

FOREMAN BOOSTS KITTLEMAN.

Alderman Declares Representative's Presence in Legislature Is Necessary to Obtain New Charter.

Ald. Milton J. Foreman, who was chairman of Chicago's charter convention, came out yesterday with a boost for Representative James M. Kittleman of the Nineteenth district for renomination. If Chicago ever hopes to obtain a new charter it will need the services of Mr. Kittleman in the general assembly, says Mr. Foreman.

Mr. Kittleman failed to receive the indorsement of the Legislative Voters' league for the republican nomination for the house in his district, the organization having been swayed in its judgment largely by Kittleman's opposition to direct primary legislation. No preference was recommended.

"The Chicago public little appreciates the services rendered by Representative Kittleman in securing the passage of the charter act," said Ald. Foreman. "By his tact, his diplomacy, and his resourcefulness he secured the passage of the bill by the house practically in the shape it came from the charter convention. The opponents of the charter act who compassed its defeat in the referendum admitted that it would have been satisfactory as it came from the house. It was the changes made in the bill by the senate that killed it."

DENEEN AND YATES JUDGED BY ACTS.

An Illinois voter who has been a student of the gubernatorial administrations in this state for the last eight years has furnished the following series of contrasts between Yates and Deneen:

1. Gov. Yates imposed a 5 per cent assessment on every employé receiving $50 or more of monthly salary. Gov. Deneen stopped that practice.

2. Gov. Yates utilized officers and employés paid by the state and intended to look after the welfare of patients for his political benefit, by sending out such officers and employés to do political work in various sections of the state, during which time their names remained on the pay roll of the state. As an example may be cited that at one political rally which took place at Watseka, Ill., Len Small, now political manager of ex-Gov. Yates, sent out over 100 employés from the Kankakee hospital to take part in the rally. Of these many were attendants, so that the force of attendants left at the hospital was badly crippled, so much so that the patients suffered thereby. Gov. Deneen has been instrumental in placing the employés of the state charitable institutions under civil service, and such a procedure is now a total impossibility. The political strife in the state is now making no difference in the care of patients.

3. Gov. Yates took advantage of brass bands, consisting largely of hospital attendants, these bands being required to play at political meetings, although they were paid by the state to furnish music for the patients. Gov. Deneen has no brass bands consisting of hospital attendants following him during his campaign.

4. Marching clubs were organized by local bosses for the benefit of Gov. Yates. In many instances they were composed of hospital attendants, who were taken away from their post of duty, thereby crippling the nursing force, and made to march for the special benefit of the local boss as well as the governor. There are no such marching clubs shouting for Gov. Deneen and drowning the groans of the opposition.

5. Under Gov. Yates attendants were taken from the wards of the institutions to fold and mail political documents of Len Small and his chief, although they were paid by the state to look after insane patients. No one can cite such an instance in the official career of Gov. Deneen.

6. Gov. Yates made it possible for local bosses, such as, for example, his present manager, Len Small, to make the state hospital within his district a political stronghold for their factional purposes. Stenographers were hired and paid by the state to do nothing but political work. Clerks paid by the state were sent to the headquarters of the boss to act as private secretaries. That is the reason that the bosses fought so violently the civil service law, promised and inaugurated by Gov. Deneen.

These are only a few instances showing how utterly regardless were at least some of the local bosses of the welfare of patients left to their mercy by Gov. Yates. While no one could blame Gov. Yates personally for the number of unfortunate accidents occurring in the various state institutions during his time in office, the above instances are, however, his doing, since, even if he had not originated such practice, he certainly has tolerated it.

CALLS STRIKE YATES' SCHEME

President Smulski Says West Park Labor Row Is Holdup.

BLOW IS AIMED AT DENEEN.

Unions Admit Attempt Made to Take Advantage of Situation.

The strike of electrical workers in the west parks yesterday was denounced by President John F. Smulski of the west park board as a political holdup, calculated to injure the candidacy of Gov. Deneen. There is a strong suspicion that the strike, which is turning out to be a first class fizzle, was engineered by political henchmen of Richard Yates.

Business Agent Hays and President Martin J. Healy of the Electrical Workers' union admitted to a subcommittee of the park board that the strike was nothing more than an attempt to force an advance in wages by taking advantage of the primaries and the political situation.

Only eighteen electrical workers are employed directly by the park board, and when they were forced to go out on strike they openly condemned the action of the electrical workers' district council and Business Agent Hays, and disclaimed any responsibility for the walk out.

Smulski Blames Politics.

"The men in our employ are getting the same rate of wages as are paid by the south and the Lincoln park boards," said President Smulski. "We always have treated our men with marked consideration, and politics is to blame for the whole thing.

"The business agent was given to understand that the park board could not be used in this way and that this time they were barking up the wrong tree. While I have no feeling in the matter and have a high regard for the legitimate demands of labor unions, I could not for one moment countenance what I consider a political holdup.

"The action of the business agent has worked the greatest injury to the men who lost their positions. Let the responsibility rest with those who through underhanded methods have invited the action of the Electrical Workers' union.

"The west park system is a state institution and the present board will uphold the dignity of the people of the state. The situation is entirely in hand, and we have applications for work ten times over the number of employés who went out."

Many Workmen on Hand.

Supt. Jens Jensen declared that grounded circuits were responsible for the darkness in Humboldt park two evenings this week and that the strike had nothing to do with it.

"The strike is one of politics entirely," said Mr. Jensen. "We have plenty of men and our lighting system is in good shape. with the exception of the few grounded circuits, which will be looked into.

"As far as the building trades are concerned they may call them out as fast as they like for we have only about twenty men at work, most of our construction work being finished. The strike is a farce. The greatest injury done is to the men who lost their jobs."

Four band wagons with six musicians in each started out last night from the Chicago Federation of Labor offices at 275 La Salle street in the interest of labor's candidates. The horses and wagons were covered with banners and inscriptions urging voters to support "labor's friends" at the primaries.

In addition to the band wagons fifty men were sent out distributing cards and literature and a large number of volunteer speakers spoke at the meetings of various local unions in all parts of the city.

PLANNING TO "TOSS" LANTRY.

Democratic "Manipulators" Prepare Queer Sample Ballots for River Wards.

A plan on the part of democratic manipulators in such wards as the First and the river wards to "toss" the better class of democratic candidates for the Municipal court nominations was discovered late last night.

Sample ballots carrying instructions to the democratic precinct workers do not carry the names of the democratic candidates who have been indorsed by the Bar primaries, but throw their influence to the candidates whose personality wins particular favor from the guiding geniuses of these districts.

Judge Thomas B. Lantry, the only democratic judge on the present Municipal bench, is one of those who is sacrificed in these wards. His name is not among those for whom the precinct workers in the wards in question are instructed to get votes.

Friends of the judge are appealing to the democrats in other wards to offset this attempt by liberal support of the candidates placed in jeopardy.

'DEBATE' BY L. V. L. ONE-SIDED AFFAIR

DEMOCRATS' IRE ROUSED.

Last Shot of Campaign Fired in Bulletin Indorsing New List of Candidates.

Although Mayor Busse, Frank Smith of Dwight, and State Representatives Hope and Nelson did not respond to invitations sent to them, George E. Cole, president of the Legislative Voters' league, held his primary law meeting at the Great Northern theater yesterday noon.

The "debate" turned into a one sided affair, no one appearing to combat the arguments of Mr. Cole, Thomas D. Knight, candidate for the republican nomination of lieutenant governor, and Harry W. Standidge, candidate for the republican nomination for state representative in the Twenty-ninth senatorial district.

In the midst of the meeting some excitement was precipitated by a man in the gallery who interrupted Mr. Knight.

"How do you stand as between Deneen and Yates?" asked the voice. "If all they say about each other is true, neither one is fit to be governor."

"That's not my fight," replied Mr. Knight. "They're both friends of mine. Deneen and I were classmates at law school and Yates is a social friend with whom I am on the best of terms. I want to say this, however, that either of them is better than any democrat ever has been, or ever can be."

This utterance was greeted by hisses from all parts of the house, and a large number of auditors arose and left the theater.

"No, no!" shouted Richard E. Burke, candidate for the democratic nomination for state's attorney. "At least, have respect for the dead."

"Hooray for J. Ham Lewis!" shouted another.

The man in the gallery then demanded that Mr. Cole express his gubernatorial preferences, but Mr. Cole, who was presiding, said it was his rule to do so only in writing.

Attacks Mayor Busse.

Mr. Knight warmly attacked the mayor and his rival for the lieutenant governorship, Frank Smith of Dwight, referring to them as foes of the direct primary.

"That Mayor Busse and his candidates are implacable enemies of the primary law is as plain as the noonday sun," said Mr. Knight. "In the face of letters to the public accusing them of hostility to that law they remain silent. In answer to invitations to appear here and state their position on it they remain away. When my organization opponent is asked to define his attitude toward the primary law and the so-called senatorial combine he answers that his name is Smith and that he wants every one in Illinois who bears that estimable name to vote for him."

Standidge asserted that the mayor was out to "skin" him because of his advocacy of the direct primary law. "Mayor Busse is the boss of all the bosses," he said. "Since his election as mayor his ambition has swelled until it has no bounds."

Score Officials in Resolutions.

Resolutions were adopted condemning "Mayor Busse and other public officials who, having been nominated under the old and now discarded convention system, oppose direct primaries and who, if they had the power, would wipe the law from the statute books," and approving "the positions of Thomas D. Knight, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, and H. W. Standidge, republican candidate for state representative, in support of direct primaries."

League's Last Campaign Shot.

The Legislative Voters' league fired the last shot of its campaign for better candidates for the general assembly during the day in a bulletin recapitulating its recommendations in the nineteen districts of Cook county. The league's principal approvals may be classified as follows:

SENATE—APPROVED.

Dist.
2—Herman B. Meyers [R.], Leo J. Doyle [D.].

PRINTER SUES A CANDIDATE.

Herman B. Meyers, Senatorial Aspirant, Defendant in Action by John F. Higgins.

John F. Higgins, printer and publisher, began suit in the Municipal court yesterday against Herman B. Meyers, republican candidate for the nomination for state senator in the Second senatorial district, for $538.44. The bill, it is said, is for printing done during the last eight years. A balance of $125.50 on a short term note dated October, 1900, is part of the money sued for. Another statement of $372.75 is attached to the court files.

HOYNE AND KERN IN LEAD

McDonald's Withdrawal Narrows State's Attorney Fight.

DEMOCRATIC WAR IS COMBAT

Only Two in Race for Democratic Nomination, It Is Said.

The withdrawal of Charles McDonald from the democratic race for the state's attorney nomination appears to have had a different result than expected. It now is agreed that Mr. McDonald's action practically has brought the fight down to a combat between Maclay Hoyne and Jacob J. Kern.

Mr. McDonald had the intention of delivering his strength to Ald. William E. Dever. This would have given that candidate needed help in Lake View and put him among the leaders. But he could not carry out his intention. His backers refused to be delivered.

John T. Connery and Harry Gibbons, the two most prominent of the McDonald men, at once came out for Kern. They agreed to attend a Kern caucus to be held at the Palmer house this afternoon. The minor McDonald supporters largely got behind Hoyne.

He Is Out to Beat Hoyne.

In the meantime Chairman William L. O'Connell of the democratic county committee is in serious trouble. He and ex-Mayor Dunne are the main backers of Ald. Dever. If he can get Dever nominated he will be perfectly satisfied.

But the Dever stock was not quoted high in the evening, and Chairman O'Connell found himself face to face with the proposition that if Kern did not win, Hoyne probably would. Now, to have Hoyne win is the one thing Mr. O'Connell does not want. They both live in the Sixth ward, and O'Connell is the committeeman. If Hoyne were to win in the face of his own committeeman's opposition it probably would end O'Connell's control.

So the committeeman went to a number of democrats and privately asked them to help beat Hoyne. It is not understood he suggested any special candidate against him, but the logical one was Kern. This roused so much talk that it was rumored Dever would withdraw. This story, however, was not true. Dunne never would allow his candidate to quit now.

In the combination in favor of Kern not only Harry Gibbons and John T. Connery of the Twenty-fifth ward were put in as new members but Jacob Strauss and Ald. Kruger of the Fifteenth were included. Promises of support also came from the Fourth and Fifth wards. To these are added Ald. Kuns of the Sixteenth ward, Ald. Brennan of the Eighteenth, and Ald. Powers of the Nineteenth, and John F. O'Malley of the Twenty-first, with ramifications in the Twenty-second.

Hoyne Picks Up the Gauge.

Mr. Hoyne gave out this statement:

"I believe the race for the nomination to the office is between Jacob Kern and myself. This is said in all justice to other candidates. Talks with experienced democrats during the last week convince me of this.

"The vote will not be large. I anticipate not more than 50 per cent of the democratic votes will be cast. The winner must have some politically organized strength. That both Kern and I have.

"It is well understood that Kern's hope was to find a many branched split among the other candidates. This is not true today, for I believe that outside of Kern the great democratic support will be with me. Therefore, I look for nomination on Saturday, although I do not wish to go into figures."

McDonald Speaks for Dever.

Former Mayor Dunne, Mr. McDonald, and Ald. Dever were speakers at a meeting held at Forest park in the evening to boom Ald. Dever's candidacy for the democratic nomination for state's attorney.

Mr. McDonald, in his address, made verbal announcement of his withdrawal from the race in favor of Ald. Dever.

"Ald. Dever is the only man who can win," he said. "All the corrupt elements of the democratic party are united to support 'Jake' Kern, and I do not want to include myself with them."

"APOSTATE PROHIBITIONIST" CALLED A POLITICAL CRANK.

National Chairman Jones Says J. B. Corey Withdrew from Party Because Freak Salary Plank Was Rejected.

Prohibition party leaders at last have replied to the bitter attack by J. B. Corey of Pittsburg, who accused those high in the party of graft. They reciprocate with the statement that Corey is a political crank.

Several days ago Mr. Corey, who is said to be a wealthy coal operator of Pittsburg, Pa., publicly withdrew from the prohibition party, after saying that "in the party chairman's financial report on the last campaign, there was a careful lack of detailed items upon which the $92,000 collected was expended."

This statement was denounced as false yesterday by National Chairman Charles R. Jones. He accused Mr. Corey of being a sensationalist who had deserted the party because it had refused to adopt one of his freak planks.

The plank provided that salaries be cut down all along the line, beginning with the president, "bringing the salaries down to where they were in George Washington's time."

"He said he would raise $10,000 toward the party's campaign fund if it would put his plank in the platform," said Mr. Jones. 'Our representative, De Witt Lukens, who called upon Mr. Corey, considered him a schemer of the crank type."

MINERS START WAR ON YATES.

Letter to Union Members Says Leiter Tactics Will Follow Former Governor's Election.

Officials of the United Mine Workers of Illinois have opened a fight on Richard Yates, candidate for governor. In a letter sent out by the mine workers' legislative committee to all locals and members yesterday it is asserted that if Yates is elected governor miners may expect every mine in the state to be run, as concerns union labor, on the plan of Joseph Leiter's mine at Ziegler. The letter says former Judge Hart of Benton, Ill., counsel for Joseph Leiter, has come out in active support of Yates.

The fact is taken by the miners' officials as indicative of what union labor and especially the mine workers of Illinois may expect at the hands of the state administration should Yates receive the republican nomination and be elected governor.

"If you want all mines in the state to be run like Leiter's mine at Ziegler vote for Yates," the letter states. The letters are being sent from the miners' headquarters at Springfield and bear the signatures of Richard Tippett and William Walsh of the legislative committee.

All state officers of the United Mine Workers have given the action their indorsement. The miners feel that Attorney Hart and the Leiter interests are supporting Yates in return for promises from the latter that the mine workers' organization would be "kept in check" during the next four years.

BROKER HELD IN $40,000 BONDS

Robert E. Eastman of New York Arraigned on Fugitive Warrants Charging Embezzlement.

Robert E. Eastman, the New York broker who was arrested on fugitive warrants charging him with embezzlement, was arraigned before Judge Dicker yesterday. His bonds were fixed at $40,000. The cases were continued until next Monday.

"I had liabilities in New York and I came west hoping to get them straightened up," said Eastman. "I have not stolen anything. I am ready to go back."

When arrested Eastman had in his possession a ticket for St. Paul and the police believe that he was attempting to reach Canada.

Charles Burmeister

Candidate for Member of Board of Review on the Republican Primary Ticket.

To the old soldiers of Chicago [of German descent] Mr. Burmeister is one of the best-known residents of this city, having lived among them for the last fifty years. He not only has a good standing as a business man but is well-known among the German societies and he is always among the first to assist German charity organizations. He is a member of the following societies: Plattdeutscher Gilden, Odd Fellows, Free Masons, Knights of Pythias and Arbeiter Verein, and in the last one for a great many years he has been the grand treasurer.

Mr. Burmeister was also the alderman of his ward for one term and three terms as county commissioner and proved himself thoroughly efficient in the performance of the duties of the positions. He is a strong advocate of equalization of taxes and is deserving of the support of every voter. It should be remembered that there is but one member of the board to nominate. Those desiring to vote for Mr. Burmeister should ask the judge of elections for a white Republican ticket and make an X opposite his name. It is the third name in the list in the third column.

DEMOCRATS' FIGHT "UP TO COUNTRY."

Candidates for Governorship Nomination Seem Equally Strong in Chicago.

SO RURAL VOTE DECIDES.

This Situation Favors Douglas Pattison and Adlai Stevenson, It Is Said.

The campaign for the democratic nomination for governor practically closed last evening so far as Chicago is concerned. That the 101 counties outside of Cook will determine the result seemed certain, and the man who wins the plurality there will be the candidate.

Chicago is too badly split up to determine anything. All the candidates have some support here, but none has enough to settle anything. The democrats throughout the state must decide. But if they split evenly then Cook county will have the casting vote.

This condition practically narrows the contest to Douglas Pattison of Freeport and Adlai E. Stevenson of Bloomington. They are the two country candidates and are expected to get most of the country vote. The strength of the other candidates is confined almost entirely to Chicago, and none has reason to expect any overwhelming plurality here.

Representative Pattison has one advantage over Mr. Stevenson. He has a much better acquaintance among the democrats now doing politics in Chicago. Mr. Stevenson's friends are largely of a former generation. The representative also made a complete canvass of the county; and has reason to expect a considerably larger vote here than his competitor from Bloomington.

On the other hand, the backers of Mr. Stevenson, while not claiming any great support in Cook county, do assert they will more than make up the deficiency in the rest of the state. Both sides gave out the reason for the faith which is in them last evening.

Lays Title to 68 Counties.

"For the last two days," said Denis J. Egan, Mr. Pattison's campaign manager, "we have been in communication by telephone and telegraph with every county in Illinois, and we can state positively that Mr. Pattison will carry sixty-eight counties."

In the list of counties which Egan claimed the following important ones were included: La Salle, Lake, McHenry, Winnebago, Stephenson, Carroll, Ogle, Kane, De Kalb, Whiteside, Bureau, Rock Island, and the others in the Fourteenth congressional district, Will, Kankakee, Vermilion, Madison, St. Clair, and Alexander.

In addition, Mr. Egan asserts that in counties where Mr. Pattison is not first he will be second, and for Chicago says: "Upon a careful investigation of the situation here in Chicago we believe we are absolutely safe in claiming the following wards with a large scattering vote in others: Third, Fourth, Fifth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-eighth, Thirty-first, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-fifth."

Stevenson's Notes of Hope.

But Frank S. Peabody, manager of Mr. Stevenson's campaign, was busy during the day with telephone and telegraph also. By evening he had received the following replies from outside of Chicago:

Frank J. Quinn, Peoria—Best advices are Stevenson will carry 80 per cent of the votes in Peoria, Marshall, and Tazewell, and over half in Bureau, Stark, and Putnam counties.

H. N. Wheeler, Quincy—Outlook here is bright for Gen. Stevenson. Had he announced himself thirty days earlier I doubt if he would have had any opposition.

I. C. Davidson, Carthage—Hancock county will give Adlai Stevenson almost the entire democratic vote.

Fred W. Kern, Belleville, St. Clair county—Leaders here are all for Stevenson, and so are the masses. Nobody else in it.

I. B. Craig, Mattoon, Coles county—Stevenson practically has no opposition here and will poll 80 to 90 per cent of the vote.

James W. Patton, Springfield, Sangamon county—Sentiment for Stevenson in this district almost unanimous.

D. W. Cholser, Harrisburg—It is evident Stevenson is largely the favorite in Saline county.

Clinton Rosetta, De Kalb—It is the consensus of opinion among democrats here Stevenson will carry this congressional district easily.

Jesse Black, Pekin—Tazewell county practically unanimous for Stevenson.

W. W. Reeves, Tuscola—Stevenson is strong in Douglas, Coles, and Shelby counties.

McGoorty Also Makes Claims.

But all this does not mean that John P. McGoorty considers himself out of the race by any means. He insists he will have his fair share of votes from the country, even if he does come from Chicago, and in Cook county he hopes to distance all his competitors.

CHARGES A NOVEL SCHEME TO DEFEAT HIS NOMINATION.

Harry Woods, Legislative Candidate, Declares Political Foes Put Up Mythical Man of Same Name.

Sensational charges against "Billy" Skidmore, Frank Sullivan, and "Boss" McLaughlin were made yesterday by Harry Woods, candidate for the democratic nomination for state representative in the Nineteenth senatorial district.

According to Woods, the Sullivan-McLaughlin crowd resorted to a novel method of defeating the provisions of the direct primary law. He charges that they filed a bogus petition in the name of Harry Woods so as to get his name on the ballot twice, and thereby divide his vote. In a circular sent to every democratic voter in the district Woods says:

"A bogus petition has been gotten up and filed with the secretary of state for a mythical Harry Woods, whose residence is given as 1273 West Madison street, but who does not reside there. The secretary of state, seeing this petition was for Harry Woods, pinned it to mine, and tabulated the two as one petition. Frank Sullivan, brother of Roger, called upon the secretary of state and had the bogus Harry Woods petition segregated, so that the name of Harry Woods would appear twice on the ballot. The only possible purpose of this fraudulent petition is to confuse voters and steal votes intended for me. Why was Mr. Sullivan so much interested in perpetuating this fraudulent petition? The petition is sworn to by George A. Cobb of 104 California avenue, adjoining Skidmore's. Search for said Cobb fails to locate him."

Woods says his automobile was stolen from his residence on June 20 and he was informed later that if he would promise Billy Skidmore not to run against McLaughlin he could get the auto back. He put up a Bryan and Woods banner across Madison street, near California avenue, but twelve hours later it was cut down and burned up on the trolley wire to the danger of people in the street.

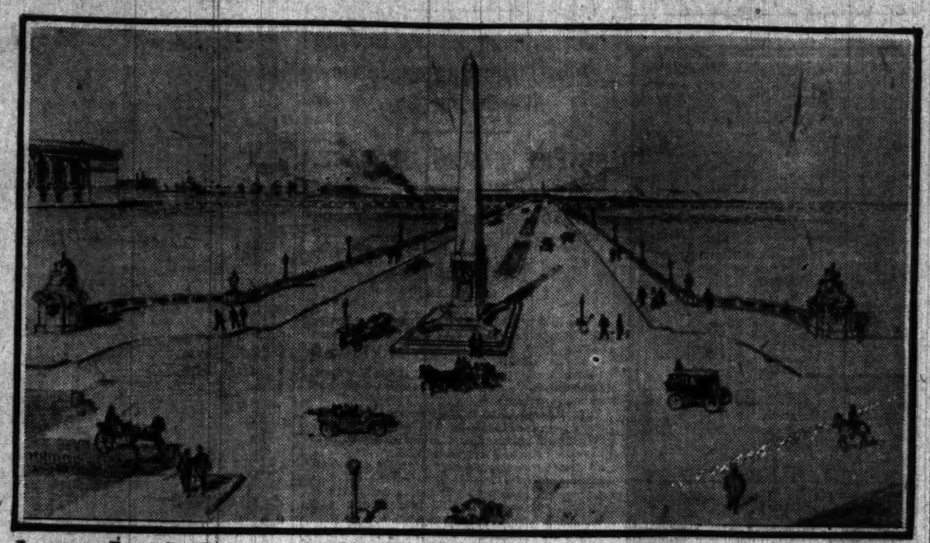

Accompanying the letter is a card directing voters to mark a cross in the square opposite the first Harry Woods on the ballot, the second being the bogus one.

New Boulevard Link Plan Suggested by Architect.

LOOKING EAST IN JACKSON BOULEVARD (EXTENDED) FROM MICHIGAN BOULEVARD.

DOTTED LINE INDICATES ROUTE OF PROPOSED CONNECTING LINK.

A brand new boulevard link plan—intended to overcome most of the obstacles which were found in the path of other suggested links—has been formulated by Architect Victor Falkenau. Chief among its merits is the fact that it will encircle the shipping district of Michigan avenue instead of surmounting it, and that it will cost something like $3,000,000 less than the boulevard on stilts.

One of the pictures reproduced shows the approach to the elevated drive from Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard, where the proposed boulevard will start. There is a gradual ascent from Jackson boulevard to the Illinois Central tracks, which it crosses by means of an ornamental bridge into Grant park. The driveway now leading to the Columbia Yacht club would be utilized as far north as Randolph street, which is about eighteen feet below the level of Grant park.

The plan then contemplates a continuation of the boulevard to the river by means of a series of concrete arches at the same elevation as Grant park. From the river the proposed line of the boulevard will be northwest and westerly to St. Clair and Michigan streets, this portion of the drive also being on concrete arches. From this point it is to descend gradually to the street level, about 100 feet north of Ohio street, connecting with the Lake Shore drive on the east or Lincoln Park boulevard on the west.

To carry this plan into execution, says Mr. Falkenau, but little condemnation of land would be necessary. At any rate, it removes the objections which were made by business interests in the shipping district of Michigan avenue.

TALK RECORD MADE BY YATES

Delivers Something Like 100 Speeches in Four Days.

ENDS HIS EFFORT TONIGHT.

Last Address of His Campaign Will Be to White City Visitors.

Richard Yates, who admits that he is "the man of the hour," has succeeded in establishing a new talking record in Illinois. Since Monday morning he has voiced his own merits in fifty towns and seventy-five counties to 50,000 people.

In a dash down state on special trains, automobiles, and horse drawn vehicles, he has delivered something like 100 addresses in four days. No statistician even can approximately estimate the number of hands he has squeezed. His own right hand, however, is half paralyzed, as an evidence of the hard work it has done.

The down state trip was closed at 7 o'clock last evening, when his special train drew up at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad depot. The "man of the hour" still had work before him, however. Although he had not tasted anything that might be called dinner, he clambered into a waiting auto and was hurried out to Harvey in violation of all known speed laws. At Harvey he delivered the usual criticisms of Gov. Deneen, of his administration, and of everybody connected with it.

Assails Committees and West.

He again announced, as he did at Pana, that he would not recognise the ward committeemen who were elected in Chicago by the present ward clubs on the grounds that these ward organizations were "owned, body and soul, by Gov. Deneen."

"I do not intend to recognise these tools of the republican bosses and no honest man should," said he. "The new primary law was intended as a death blow to hossism and if it was obeyed to the letter there would be no further boss rule in Illinois. If this program of the republican bosses goes through, however, it means that the party organization still will be in the hands of the political bosses."

Then he delivered himself of a veiled denunciation of Roy O. West, chairman of the board of review. Mr. West incurred his enmity by wearing a Deneen instead of a Yates button.

"If I am elected governor of the state of Illinois I shall use all of my influence to secure the passage of a law prohibiting a man from holding the dual positions of member of the state or county central committee and member of any taxing body," said Mr. Yates.

"The spectacle of a man occupying these two positions—chairman of the state central committee and chairman of the Cook county board of review—is presented to the voters today. This should be made illegal in fact as well as a violation of the laws of decency."

Chafes at Delay on Railway.

The last day of the Yates trip was the most strenuous of the four. There was an early morning meeting at Rockford, where the Yates managers estimated that 800 men turned out before breakfast to hear him talk. Then there was a dash for Belvidere, where at 7:30 a. m. the estimators numbered the crowd at 2,500.

Several changes were made, which included two hours' riding on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. It was vaguely hinted, however, that the officials of this road were endeavoring to tie up the Yates trip in the interest of Gov. Deneen. Whether there were any grounds for this charge or not there were so many delays that Mr. Yates and his lieutenants were glad to reach the Northwestern again at Geneva.

Mr. Yates' campaign will be closed this evening with a meeting to be held at White City.

ABJURES ITS YATES FEALTY.

Sixth Ward Open Door Republican Club Accuses Deneen's Opponent of Treachery and Rescinds Its Indorsement.

Richard Yates' name was scratched last night from the front window of the Sixth Ward "Open Door" Republican club, where for several weeks it had been blazoned to the world in letters a foot high.

Then the officers of the club and some of its most influential 2,000 members sat down and denounced Yates for his treachery to the club's president, William E. Hothermel, who is a candidate for the republican nomination for president of the county board.

They had discovered that Yates' managers had been sending out through the Sixth ward and probably elsewhere in the city specimen primary ballots with the name of William Busse "crossed" as the favorite candidate.

"Yates made a trade with William Busse for the county patronage," said E. J. Harvey, one of Mr. Hothermel's campaign managers. "A few days ago the Yates managers submitted a proposition to us concerning the marking of these ballots, but they wanted a heavy campaign contribution—larger than we could afford. We told them we didn't want the ballots marked. Then they made a trade with William Busse for the county patronage. It's a clear case of sell out. Ours was the first club to indorse Yates for governor and opened the first Yates headquarters in Cook county."

FRENCH TO DEFENSE OF YATES.

Former Railroad Commissioner Says O. L. Mann's Charges Against Ex-Governor Are False.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A. L. French, formerly railroad and warehouse commissioner, today took exceptions to O. L. Mann's letter in reference to former Gov. Yates' action regarding freight rates.

"The article in THE TRIBUNE signed by O. L. Mann charging Mr. Yates with having used his influence while governor to delay or defeat the reduction of freight rates in Illinois," said Mr. French, "is misleading and false.

"The person making such a statement is either misinformed or guilty of malicious falsehood."

CUMMINS WAITS FOR FUNERAL; RUSH FOR TOGA PUT ASIDE.

Iowa Governor Officially Announces Allison's Death and Says Now Is No Time for Scramble.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Cummins reached home this morning, and at once issued the following proclamation in official recognition of the death of Senator Allison:

To the Citizens of the State of Iowa: It has become my sorrowful duty to officially announce to the people of Iowa the death of Senator William B. Allison, which occurred at his home, in Dubuque, on the 4th instant.

During the brief life of the commonwealth Iowa has given many distinguished men to the public service, but no one of them has surpassed in worth or distinction the man whose death we now mourn. His long career in the senate, full of faithful, patient devotion to duty, made him the most prominent figure in legislative life, and his influence was deeply felt in all the affairs of government. His memory will long be cherished in the patriotic hearts of his countrymen.

ALBERT B. CUMMINS.

Gov. Cummins and the other state officers leave tomorrow morning to attend the funeral of Senator Allison and there will be outlined no specific plan of campaign for the Allison succession until the return of the governor to Des Moines. A consultation of friends of the governor is expected to be held early next week.

Gov. Cummins said today that this is no time for a political scramble.

ERROR IN FALKENAU LETTER.

Typographical Mistake Makes $30,000 Difference in Contractor's State Capitol Completion Statement.

On account of a typographical error, Victor Falkenau, the contractor, was made to say yesterday in a letter printed in THE TRIBUNE, that he and Architect Samuel Treat guaranteed that the repairs of the state house at Springfield would not exceed $60,000. The work actually cost $76,860. The former figure should have read $90,000. The actual cost represented a saving of nearly $17,000 on the outside estimate. The bill that was pending in the legislature at the time appropriated $225,000 for these repairs.

Gov. Deneen summoned Mr. Falkenau and Mr. Treat, and obtained their estimates of the actual needs and the cost, and eventually saved the taxpayers $148,000 on this item alone.

SEVENTH'S DEMOCRATS RALLY.

Watermelon and Beer Feast Follows Speeches by McGoorty and Other Candidates.

Democrats held a rally in a pavilion at Stony Island avenue and Sixty-seventh street, in the Seventh ward, last night. Following the speeches was a feast, in which several hundred watermelons and many kegs of beer were consumed. John P. McGoorty, candidate for governor, was the principal speakers, others being John C. Vaughn, candidate for congress; Thomas B. McElligott, who aspires to be a member of the Illinois legislature, and Clarence Toolen and Leon Hornstein, candidates for the Municipal bench nomination.

FOLK PRAISES PRIMARY LAW; FIGHTS REPEAL OF STATUTE.

Governor Would Correct Defects and Says if System Is Wrong Popular Government Is Wrong.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—In answer to a great many communications, complaints, and suggestions concerning the primary election law, Gov. Folk gave out the following statement tonight:

"The primary law has its defects that have been made clear by trial. These defects can be remedied so to more effectually curtail the power of the bosses. It would be folly to say that because under the primary law the bosses still have some power, the remedy is to repeal it and go back to the convention system, where the bosses usually are supreme. If it is a bad thing for the bosses to have any power under the primary system, it would be a worse thing for the bosses to be placed in full control under the convention plan.

"The defects in the convention cannot be corrected, while the defects in the primary system can. An effort is being made by reason of defects in the primary law to discredit the entire law and go back to the professional politician's delight, the convention system. This effort should fail, and I believe will fail.

"If the primary system is wrong, then government by the people is wrong."

BRYAN SPECIAL RATE DENIED.

Passenger Association Refuses to Cut Fare for Notification in Lincoln on Aug. 12.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 6.—The Western Passenger association has refused to grant a special rate for the Bryan notification on Aug. 12. Secretary Whitten of the Lincoln Commercial club, who received the ultimatum of the association today, has wired Chairman Mack of the democratic national committee and other leading democrats, urging them to protest against the decision. Special rates were granted for the Taft notification, Secretary Whitten declares.

Mack May Make a "Holler."

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Chairman Mack likely will make a vigorous protest against the action of the Western Passenger association should it develop that special rates were given those who attended the Taft notification.

YANKEE DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT.

Progressive League Head Calls New England Good Field—Vermont Made a Battleground.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 6.—Alexander Troup, president of the New England Democratic Progressive league, today issued a call for the vice presidents and members of the executive committee of the league to meet in Boston on Aug. 11 "to take into consideration the political situation in New England and devise ways and means for propaganda work."

"Chairman Hitchcock of the republican committee has stated that New England was all right for the republican ticket," said Mr. Troup, "we intend to show him that it is a good field for the democrats. From the middle to the end of August democratic speakers of national prominence will canvass Vermont from end to end in order to reduce to a minimum the republican majority at the state election.

"We are not so bold as to say that we hope to make the state democratic, but we are going to get to the polls every democrat and every independent voter who believes in the principles of democracy."

VIRGINIA LAWYERS HEAR TAFT SPEAK

State Bar Association Likes Address of Candidate on Delays in Court.

TALKS ON PRESIDENCY.

Says People Have Check on Executive but None on Legislature.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—William H. Taft spent today and this evening as the guest of the Virginia Bar association, being accorded a full measure of southern hospitality without any signs of political embarrassment. His address in the afternoon, in which he deprecated the cumbersome qualities of the American judicial system and said the present delays in the courts should be remedied, was approved by most of the attending lawyers.

Tonight Mr. Taft was a guest at the association's banquet and responded to the toast, "The President."

Mr. Taft said that it might be appropriate for him to respond to that toast.

"Not because of any relation I bear to that office, but because I was summoned to the White house when the invitation was extended, and directed to come here and do what I could, if need be use the big stick to uphold the administration."

Joking aside, Mr. Taft called attention to the difficulty of discussing even the office of the president without trespassing on some issue in the political campaign. He pictured the great expansion of interstate commerce to show that its proportion to commerce within the states had been reversed.

Office Expands with Country.

"Has the executive expanded? Undoubtedly the executive has expanded, but we are a much bigger country." Mr. Taft explained the necessity for an increased exercise of power in the Philippines, Porto Rico, and the canal zone as well as in other respects.

All these things, he said, were under the control of congress, but congress had not acted as promptly as it might.

"The danger of the usurpation of power by the executive is less than the danger of the usurpation of power by the legislature. Congress can bring the executive up standing. But there is no such check on the legislature."

Mr. Taft today received a gold mounted rabbit's foot from John W. Frazier of Philadelphia. Mr. Frazier said the rabbit which once bore the foot was the seventh son of the seventh hare shot by the seventh negro clergyman in Philadelphia, and was shot by aforesaid clergyman on the seventh day of the week, the seventh month of the year, at full moon on the grave of the preacher's seventh son in a country churchyard. It is said to insure good luck.

People Not Wholly Satisfied.

In his address on the judiciary Mr. Taft stated that the end sought in the administration of justice was to promote tranquillity and contentment among the people. It had, he said, long been established that the Supreme court of the United States was the ultimate arbiter of the great political and is adverse to the democratic candidates to send literature and speakers.

Aside from this the most important announcement from Fairview today was the decision of Mr. Bryan to make an extended speech on the tariff question at Des Moines, Ia., on Aug. 21, and to spend the three following days in Chicago in consultation with Chairman Mack and other of the party leaders over the plan of campaign.

Campaign Fund Raisers Named.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Chairman Norman E. Mack of the democratic committee announced tonight before his departure for Chicago the appointment of a finance committee for the democratic campaign with Moses C. Wetmore of St. Louis as chairman and John E. Osborne of Wyoming as vice chairman, and a speakers' committee with John H. Atwood of Kansas as chairman and Champ Clark of Missouri as vice chairman.

Announcement was also made by Chairman Mack that Senator Charles A. Culberson of Texas had been appointed to succeed David R. Francis of Missouri as chairman of the advisory committee.

Wetmore Heads Finance Body.

The finance committee appointed today by Chairman Mack is as follows:

Moses C. Wetmore, chairman, Missouri; John E. Osborne, vice chairman, Wyoming; C. N. Haskell, treasurer, Oklahoma; W. A. Clarke, Montana; Thomas L. Johnson, Ohio; Lewis Nixon, New York; Alva Adams, Colorado; D. J. Campau, Michigan; Francis G. Newlands, Nevada; Willard Saulsbury, Delaware; Alexander Troup, Connecticut; Richard F. Pettigrew, South Dakota; George Turner, Washington; Martin H. Glynn, New York; Ellison Tucker, Arkansas; M. A. Mills, Oregon; Melbert B. Cary, Connecticut; George Fred Williams, Massachusetts; Josiah Marvel, Delaware; W. S. Jennings, Florida; W. R. O'Brien, Indiana; M. F. Dunlap, Illinois; E. C. Wall, Wisconsin; Isaac Reese, Tennessee; J. Taylor Ellyson, Virginia; Thomas R. Brown, Vermont; W. E. Chilton, West Virginia; Blair Lee, Maryland; Eugene E. Reed, New Hampshire.

Headquarters in Chicago.

The speakers' committee is as follows:

John H. Atwood, chairman, Kansas; Champ Clark, vice chairman, Missouri; C. A. Towne, New York; R. B. Glenn, North Carolina; B. R. Tillman, South Carolina; R. E. Lee, Mount Castle, Tenn.; John J. Lentz, Ohio; Augustus Thomas, New York; T. H. Alexander, Colorado; Jeremiah Black, Pennsylvania; Henry Warren, Indiana; T. T. Hudson, Minnesota; W. H. Dumphy, Washington; W. B. Haldeman, Kentucky; Thomas H. Dowd, New York; Guy B. Tucker, Arkansas; T. A. Jennings, Florida; S. P. Donnelly, Idaho; E. L. Jones, Maryland; John W. Coughlin, Massachusetts; J. Bruce Kramer, Montana; John Sunderland, Nevada; William Collins, North Dakota; W. T. Brady, Oklahoma; M. A. Miller, Oregon; Frank K. Nebeker, Utah; J. E. Burke, Vermont.

The chairmen of the two committees will probably make their headquarters in Chicago. Chairman Mack left here for Chicago at 8:20 o'clock tonight.

MORSE WRATHY AT OFFICIALS FOR BLOCKING HIS BANK PLAN

Interference in Scheme for Paying Off Depositors of North America Called "Criminal" by New Yorker.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Charles W. Morse was nettled today by the announcement from Washington that Assistant United States District Attorney Frankfurter of New York was there in conference with Thomas P. Kane, deputy controller of the currency, over Mr. Morse's arrangement with the Chicago Asset company to put money enough in the hands of the receiver of the National Bank of North America to pay off the remaining liabilities of the bank to the depositors, who have received 30 per cent. Deputy Controller Kane had announced after Mr. Frankfurter's visit that it was likely Mr. Morse's arrangement would be negatived and the bank's affairs wound up in the regular way.

Mr. Morse said he would like to know on what ground United States District Attorney Stimson had taken a hand in the bank's affairs and why he sent his assistant to Washington. He characterized the district attorney's action as "criminal interference."

"What right has Stimson, or Kane, or Hanna, or anybody else to block the way of 1,500 depositors getting their money at once, instead of waiting for a receiver to hold on to his job for a good long time at a fat salary until he gets ready to pay off in his own way? Hanna, Kane, and Stimson are no more above the law than any one else, but their conduct indicates either that they are putting themselves above the law or are not acquainted with it."

BRYAN DEFENDS HIS PLANKS

Answers Circular Letter Issued by Manufacturers' Association

LABOR AND TRUSTS UNLIKE.

Should Be Treated Separately; No Concern of Business Men, Anyhow.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 6.—William J. Bryan today issued a statement replying to a circular recently issued by the National Association of Manufacturers and signed by James W. Van Cleave.

Mr. Bryan declares that the pamphlet of Mr. Van Cleave's raises two questions: First, is there anything in the labor plank of the democratic platform to which business men can justly take exception; and, second, is the labor question so important to business men as to justify them in ignoring all other issues?

"The platform draws a distinction," he declares, "between associations of wage earners organized for the protection of wages and the improvement of labor conditions and industrial corporations which act in restraint of trade. The difference between a labor organization and a trust is so apparent that no disinterested person will deny that they should be treated separately. Surely the business men can have no vital concern in including the labor organizations in the anti-trust laws."

Defends Trial by Jury.

Mr. Bryan then takes up the plank providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt. He insists that this cannot raise a question of vital concern to business men, because every man has a right to a jury trial.

"An attempt has been made to raise a false issue in regard to the courts," he continued, "and to make it appear that the demand for trial by jury is an assault upon the integrity of the courts. Those who make this argument might as well insist on the abolition of the jury in all cases, for the jury system itself is just as much a reflection upon the bench as is this demand for trial by jury in these particular cases."

"But there is another labor plank that Mr. Van Cleave probably has in mind. This is the plank that declares that parties to all judicial proceedings should be treated with rigid impartiality and that an injunction should not issue in any case in which an injunction would not lie if no industrial dispute were involved. Do the business men insist upon partiality in judicial proceedings? Do they insist that the mere fact that there is an industrial dispute should justify an injunction?"

Mr. Bryan in conclusion declares that Mr. Van Cleave does the business men an injustice in assuming that his waking hours are filled with fears of the wage earner and that his night's rest is broken by imaginary disputes with those who toil.

New Plan to Learn Sentiment.

As the result of the visit to W. J. Bryan today of Senator "Bob" Taylor of Tennessee the national committee of the democratic party, with the concurrence of Mr. Bryan, will soon enter upon a most elaborate plan for ascertaining the sentiment of the country toward their standard bearers.

This plan contemplates the formation of a national democratic club, with state and county clubs as subsidiaries, whose duty it will be to report to the central organization data favorable or unfavorable to the national ticket. It is proposed also that these clubs shall poll the voters of the United States and to every section where the feeling

Jury Trials Might Be Lessened.

"We cannot, of course, dispense with the jury system," Mr. Taft said. "It is that which makes the people a part of the administration of justice, but every means by which in civil cases litigants may be induced voluntarily to avoid the expense, delay, and burden of jury trials, ought to be encouraged, because in this way the general administration of justice can be greatly facilitated and the expense incident to delay in litigation can be greatly reduced."

Mr. Taft closed with a caution that conservatism ought not to be allowed to prevent reforms which are in the interest of equalizing the administration of justice between the poor and the rich.

DEMOCRATIC SPLIT IN IDAHO.

Dubois and Anti-Dubois Factions After Row Form Separate Conventions at Wallace.

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 6.—The democratic state convention split today, and both the Dubois and anti-Dubois factions organized conventions. The division came when the convention failed to sustain a protest of the anti-Dubois faction against the seating of the Dubois delegates from Bear Lake, Oneida, and Fremont counties.

The anti-Dubois faction left the hall and the Dubois men formed a permanent organization by the election of A. L. Freehafer of Washington county as permanent chairman.

The "regular" democrats, as the anti-Dubois people style themselves, chose Judge Stockslager chairman. The antis' convention claims to have 183 votes and the Dubois 115. Many delegates have gone home, leaving proxies.

LEAVE BUSINESS FOR DAY'S PICNIC.

Grocers and Butchers, with Wives and Children, Attend Annual Outing.

3,500 VISIT THE COUNTRY.

Young Woman Baseball Pitcher Is the Feature of the Athletic Contests.

Accompanied by their wives and children 3,000 members of the Chicago Grocers' and Butchers' association journeyed yesterday to Elliott's park, where they spent the afternoon riding the merry-go-round, throwing balls at dummies, witnessing and participating in a heated game of baseball, strolling through the woods, dancing in the pavilion, and eating their luncheons on the grass.

Four trains on the Illinois Central railroad made up of twelve coaches each carried the picnickers to the grounds, the first leaving the Randolph street station at 10 o'clock in the morning and the last at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Return trains were run between 7 and 9 o'clock.

The trip to the park afforded as much pleasure to the excursionists as the scene on the grounds. Groups of warbling grocers and butchers gathered in the different cars with their harps and mandolins and furnished the happy crowds with all the latest and most approved of comic and sentimental songs. The singing was interspersed with recitations from bystanders who seized the opportunity to mingle in the gayety. The girls, who at first were reluctant about singing, finally broke their spell of modesty and joined the others.

Many Watch Girl Ball Player.

The feature of the day was the phenomenal work of a young woman baseball player, who attracted large crowds while she performed in the pitcher's box. The girl who aroused the envy of her sisters on the grounds was Miss Dorothy Jones, 309 Homan avenue. She stationed herself in one end of the diamond and with a real ballplayer who wore a uniform proceeded to "warm up" preliminary to a game between the Moston Stars and the Stuckarts, in which she firmly intended to take part even if she had to play in the outfield.

She had every kind of a ball known to the most enthusiastic "fan." The crowd which surrounded her to witness the curves was kept busy dodging inshoots tossed by the young woman, who threw with as much ease as a veteran.

Pick Nines from Spectators.

When it came time to call the game between the two rivals a deplorable discovery was made. The suits of the contestants had arrived, but the players could not be found. Without players it was obvious that a game was well nigh impossible. A caucus was held which finally decided that the teams should be chosen from the spectators, among whom were old timers. In the mixup that followed picking out the players Dorothy was omitted from the lists.

An hour or so later any one who might have been strolling around near the dancing pavilion would have seen Dorothy holding a little game of her own with a man friend and three girls. Dorothy was the whole nine—pitcher, catcher, and an excellent judge of her own deliveries.

The game between the chosen sides waged fiercely the rest of the afternoon, the players who adopted the Moston uniforms winning by a score of 10 to 9.

Tries Sleight of Hand Tricks.

The dancing in the pavilion was interrupted periodically by a jovial young butcher, who insisted upon introducing feats of sleight of hand. In the midst of one of his most difficult stunts, that of juggling a burning piece of paper on the end of his nose, he carelessly allowed the paper to fall to the floor, whereupon he was ushered peremptorily from the hall, never to venture on the floor again with his tricks.

The politicians evidently thought the picnic an unusually good thing, as they swooped down on the unsuspecting people with bundles of photographic literature.

Both in the morning and the afternoon excursionists took luncheon with them. During the afternon the tablecloths were spread on the grass, and family reunions were held. Those who failed to bring baskets were provided for at the restaurants on the grounds, which were improvised affairs thrown together by numerous industrious advertising wholesale concerns.

TOUCHES WIRE; FALLS 50 FEET.

Caddie at Onwentsia Club Receives Electric Shock and Three Fingers Are Burned Off.

While playing on the top of the water tower at the Onwentsia club, Lake Forest, Walter Keir, a 12 year old caddie, touched a live electric wire and received a 2,300 volt shock. He fell fifty feet to the ground, striking a pipe and breaking it in the descent. Three fingers of his left hand were burned off and his left foot was injured by the current.

The boy picked himself up and walked several hundred yards to the clubhouse and without the least indication of pain asked Dr. A. C. Haven, who examined his injuries, if there was any chance of saving his hand. He burst into tears when told only part of the hand could be saved, and that he would be unable to play golf for many months.

The lad was removed to the Alice Home hospital. His mother is a widow and keeps a boarding house in Lake Forest.

LEARN THEY ARE HEIRS BY SUIT

Wards Who Accuse Guardian of Dishonesty Make Discovery During Railway Condemnation.

Suit was brought yesterday by Jennie Henry, Adeline Fowler, and Gertrude E. Gottschalk, heirs of Joseph J. Kendrick, who died in 1857, to recover a share of $22,000 paid to the county treasurer for west side property purchased by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company.

At Kendrick's death Justice Daniel Booth was appointed guardian of the minor heirs. The bill asserts that Booth mortgaged the property and then had the holder of the mortgage foreclose. When Booth died he held title.

His wards were not aware of their interest in the property until condemnation proceedings were begun by the railroad.

EAGLES DEPART FOR SEATTLE.

Nearly 1,000 Chicago Members Leave on Special Train for the National Convention.

Nearly 1,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, many of them accompanied by members of their families, departed last night on the Burlington for Seattle to attend a four days' convention, beginning Aug. 11. The itinerary includes stops at St. Paul, Butte, Spokane, Seattle, Portland, Salt Lake, and Denver, and will consume fifteen days. The train will be parked for occupancy during the stay in Seattle convenient to the convention hall. The principal series represented among those that left this city and neighborhood were the Chicago, Garfield Park, South Chicago, Highwood, Englewood, and Proviso.

MANY TAX LEVIES ARE CUT

Board of Review Reduces Mrs. Katherine Tuley's Assessment.

FAVORS MELVILLE E. STONE.

Valuation of Residence Fixed at $15,000 Instead of $38,700.

Mrs. Katherine E. Tuley, widow of the late Judge Tuley, yesterday was given a reduction of $1,840 in the valuation of her buildings at 806 West Madison street. Mrs. Tuley was represented at the board of review by Attorney Frank Asbury Johnson, who obtained a cut in the assessment on the property from $16,840 to $15,000.

One of the heaviest reductions of the day was given to H. L. Brand, 32 Cedar street, whose aggregate assessments of $47,041 on buildings in various parts of the city were reduced to $30,000, a cut of $17,041.

This included an assessment of $3,841 on improvements at Twenty-second and La Salle streets, which the reviewers were told is a vacant lot, and the levy was stricken out. A valuation on the lot of $17,706 was confirmed. It included also an assessment of $30,000 on a building at 4201 Ellis avenue, which was reduced to $20,000.

M. E. Stone Assessment Cut.

Herbert S. Stone complained in a letter that the assessment on the property of his father, Melville E. Stone, president of the Associated Press, was too high. The building was assessed at $38,700, which the reviewers cut to $15,000. A valuation of $25,000 on the land was confirmed.

A reduction of $3,400 was obtained by D. M. Pfeiser in the levy on his building at 202 East Van Buren street. The improvement was assessed at $36,000 and was cut by the reviewers to $32,600.

A reduction of $7,900 was given to Mary O'Leary, 225 Blue Island avenue, whose property at that address was assessed at $14,400 and reduced to $6,500. An assessment of $350 on her house at 210 De Koven street was cut to $100.

Anton Malcak Gets Reduction.

Anton Malcak, 655 West Twenty-fifth street, obtained a reduction on his improvement from $10,500 to $6,500. The executors of the John T. Convey estate were given a reduction from $7,100 to $6,480 on buildings at 1056 West Twelfth street.

LAWN FETE THIS AFTERNOON TO AID "THE TRIBUNE" BABIES.

Seven Young Women Arrange Open Air Benefit Bazaar at Residence of Congressman George Edmund Foss.

THE TRIBUNE babies are to have another benefit. The affair is to take place this afternoon on the lawn of Congressman George Edmund Foss' residence at 47 Gordon terrace, and will be presided over by Katherine and Constance Foss, the congressman's two daughters; Dorothy Brentano, daughter of Judge Theodore Brentano; Elizabeth, Margaret, and Jean Mundie, and Margaret Murray.

These young women have arranged an open air bazaar and lawn fête. For weeks they have been at work sewing, embroidering, and making other preparations for the event.

The spacious lawn will be transformed into a sort of miniature village, with tiny booths arranged along a main street, which will be decorated with flags and bunting. Each of the seven girls will have charge of a booth.

Next Sunday the Illinois State Gaelic Athletic association holds its field day at Gaelic park, Forty-seventh street and California avenue. This is to be another benefit affair, the proceeds to be divided equally between the Working Boys' home on the west side and THE TRIBUNE summer hospital and free ice fund.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the event. There will be hurling, association football, and a varied and decidedly interesting program of sports which have made their way into this country from the "ould sod."

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP BRIDGE.

Supposed Bomb Explosion Believed by the Police to Be Result of Labor Troubles.

The new Illinois Central railroad bridge over the Calumet river at One Hundred and Thirty-third street was damaged early yesterday morning by a supposed bomb.

The bridge is being built by the American Bridge company, and more than fifty nonunion men have been employed in the construction work. The police believe the explosion is a result of labor troubles. Three men who were seen loitering about the bridge Wednesday afternoon are being sought.

The south end of the bridge was damaged about $200.

Judge Bethea Back from Vacation.

After a two months' vacation United States District Judge Bethea returned to Chicago yesterday. He visited several countries of Europe. He said that he had gained in health.

NEW AUTO LEADER FOR GLENCOE WAR

J. F. Gunther Chosen by Club Members Who Favor Strenuous Measures.

SAY LEIMERT IS TOO MILD

Expert Timers and Flagmen to Descend on North Shore Suburb Tomorrow.

It is a brave autoist who dares to counsel milder methods in the fight against Glencoe—the automobile consuming village of the north shore. Joseph T. Leimert, who as chairman of the speed committee of the Chicago Automobile club had the temerity to advise that more diplomacy and less strenuosity be used in the campaign, is no longer general of the auto forces.

When the automobile hordes descend upon Glencoe next Sunday prepared to carry the fight to a finish in the enemy's country they will be under the immediate command of Gen. Joseph F. Gunther, the new chairman of the club's speed committee and a known advocate of strenuous methods.

This much was decided upon at yesterday's meeting of the speed committee of the club. The meeting was an active one for such a hot day, especially when it is considered that it was held behind closed doors. However, all the members of the committee insist that it was but a "friendly disagreement" and that Mr. Leimert resigned because he found that his views were at odds with those of the majority of the club members.

Fret Under Mild Measures.

For several weeks the club members have fretted under what they considered the too mild methods of Mr. Leimert. Many of the veteran autoists who had been opposing the Glencoe police and justices for years thought that Mr. Leimert, who met the enemy for the first time this summer, was too eager to bring about a truce.

But the real difference came last Sunday when a force of detectives and autoists were sent on to Glencoe to do battle with the villagers in the open. Gen. Leimert, however, failed to bring the fight into the open as had been planned.

The autoists had drawn up a program which included red flags and expert timers of their own, same to be placed at the beginning and ending of each speed trap. Under Gen. Leimert, however, the enemy induced the autoists to place their red flags in their pockets and their timers in the bushes by the roadside. Thus the automobile club representatives constructively were approving of the hated speed traps.

E. B. Ayres Wants War.

"Why," exclaimed E. B. Ayers, along with several other members of the club, "we have been objecting to these speed traps ever since the village opened the war on automobiles, and we don't want to take part in them."

But Gen. Leimert had distributed his forces along the highway, and he refused to recall them. He took the position that no automobilist who was traveling within the limitations permited by the law had any reason to fear. Consequently one lone chauffeur was arrested during the day as opposed to the scores who in the prosperous days of the Glencoe traps had paid tribute to the constables and justices along the roadside.

It was due to these circumstances that when the speed committee gathered yesterday afternoon there were two distinct sets of opinions that would not mix any more than would oil and water. There were the "bush adherents," and there were the "open warfare and red flag" men. Needless to say that Gen. Leimert was at the head of the former aggregation. His following, however, was small—an overwhelming majority of the club already had declared for the red flag tactics.

New Leader Calls Council.

No sooner had the new leader of the automobile forces been selected than he called a meeting of his committee for "consultation purposes" in his automobile establishment in Michigan avenue. It didn't take the committee long to decide upon the plan of action.

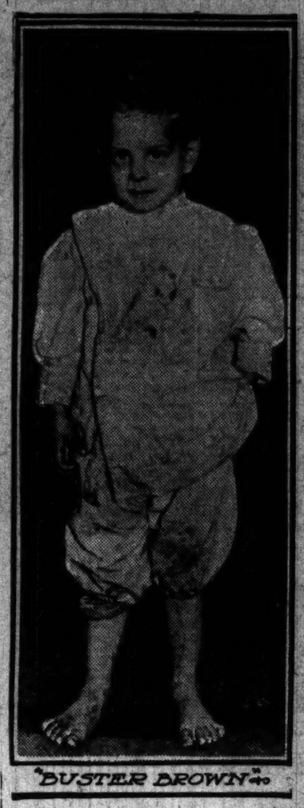

It was agreed that Gen. Gunther, flagmen, and expert timers should descend upon the village tomorrow afternoon and make a fight in the open. Anybody connected with the club who takes to the bushes will be repudiated at once.

"The wishes of the club shall be carried out to the letter," said Mr. Gunther in the evening. "The club members want us to fight in the open and that is the way we shall make the fight. We will make it a costly matter for the Glencoeites to carry on this fight if they merely are doing it for profit."

Club Upholds Henderson.

To round out the day of defies to the Glencoe forces, the club announced that it had not repudiated T. P. Henderson, the hapless auto enthusiast who has been in the clutches of the Glencoe branch of the law so often. Attorney Sydney S. Gorham, representing the club, announced that Mr. Henderson was a club member in good standing. He was not a reckless driver, said Mr. Gorham, but had had a streak of "bad luck."

Do You Know Him? He Is a Lost Boy.

"BUSTER BROWN"

FINDS THE AUTO KIDNAPER.

Policeman Moor of Glencoe Identifies George A. Crane as Man Who Carried Him Away.

Policeman Moor of Glencoe scored a victory in the automobile fight yesterday when he identified George A. Crane, managing salesman of the Knox Automobile company, as the man who was driving the car in which he was kidnaped on June 21.

In company with Village Marshal Lane of Glencoe Moor reached Chicago early yesterday morning armed with a "John Doe" warrant. After following up a number of clews they went to the Knox company's salesrooms, where Moor pretended that he wanted to buy an automobile. In this way he learned the real name of the man he wanted.

Crane was not arrested, but arrangements were made for a hearing in the case on Aug. 12 at Glencoe.

This is the second man apprehended for kidnaping Moor. On July 24 Constable Samuel Harrison of Evanston and Moor went to Bloomington, Ill., and served a warrant upon J. F. White, who convinced the village attorney that he was not the man they wanted, as he was only a passenger and prospective purchaser of the machine at the time of the kidnaping.

Chief of Police Dennis of Glencoe received a letter yesterday from Preston, Minn., proposing the use of large carpet tacks or sharp nails, driven into pieces of boards and placed in the roads so the points would puncture the tires of speeding automobiles.

The Glencoe police are wondering when they will be able to arrest speeders again. Chief of Police Dennis declared he will be too busy for such trivial work Saturday on account of the election and the old settlers of Glencoe will hold a reunion in the north edge of the village Sunday which Chief Dennis, Justice Lane, and others interested in the automobile arrests wish to attend.

FOSS is a loyal republican, but he wears no man's tag, and no machine controls him.—Adv.

SHIPPY TAKES UP CASE.

Lad, Dressed as Befits His Name, Makes Many Friends by Perfect Manners.

The identity of "Buster Brown," a 3 year old boy, who was found by the police last Saturday at Fifty-fifth and State street, is still a mystery.

Several persons have called at the Harrison annex to see the little fellow, but no one has recognized him.

Chief Shippy has taken personal interest in the case, and today he will send detectives to orphan asylums and other institutions to inquire if the boy was an inmate.

It is the strangest case of child abandonment that ever has confronted the Chicago police. The boy was wandering on the street when a policeman found him about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Aug. 1.

He threw his chubby arms around the patrolman's neck and in answer to the question, "What's your name?" replied "Buster Brown."

The boy was taken to the Hyde Park station, where he remained until Sunday evening. As no inquiry was made about him Chief Shippy, who had heard of the case, ordered him transferred to the Harrison street annex, where he would have the companionship of other children.

Promises Buster Auto Ride.

The chief called at the annex Monday and was so taken up with the little fellow that he had a second "missing message" sent to all stations, giving a description of "Buster." Chief Shippy promised to call again and give "Buster" a ride in his automobile, but he has failed to do so.

"Buster," however, has not forgotten about it. He asks the matron every hour or so if the "big man" is coming after him to give him the "autobeel" ride.

"That child is just dying for an automobile ride," said Mrs. McGee, the matron in the evening. "Every time the bell rings he runs to the door to see if the 'big man' has come for him to take him riding."

Boy Is a Real Buster.

"Buster" is between 3 and 4 years old. He was dressed in a white "Buster Brown" suit and wore a brown cap with a peak.

He also wore low black shoes and black stockings.

His eyes are blue and his hair is of a light brown color. He has clean cut, regular features and good teeth.

"It certainly is a remarkable case," said the matron at the annex. "Why a mother should abandon him, if the mother is alive, is a mystery.

"He is such a sweet little fellow that you couldn't help loving him. Everybody in the annex is just crazy about him. The girls wash his little 'Buster Brown' suit every night after he goes to bed, and in the morning, when he is nice and clean, you would think he belonged to a refined family.

"He has been asked his name more than a thousand times since he was brought here, and every time his answer is: 'Buster Brown.'

Child's Manners Perfect.

"He is the best mannered child of his years that I ever saw. There is no doubt that he has been well brought up, and as he does not cry for any one, I am inclined to believe that he has been cared for in some kind of a home.

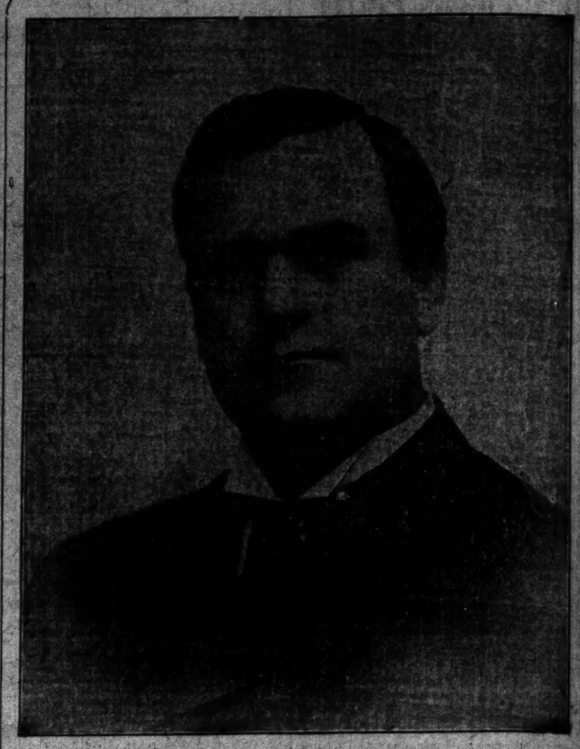

"He doesn't ask for his mamma or anybody else, but is cheerful from the time he gets up until he goes to bed.

COURT TO SIT AT A PICNIC.

Justice Lane Will Try Auto Speeders at Old Settlers' Outing Next Sunday.

With a grove as a courtroom and picnickers as spectators, automobile speeders who may be arrested next Sunday on the Green Bay road will have the distinction of an open air trial.

Justice M. T. Lane of Glencoe and Chief of Police Dennis want to attend the old settlers' outing on Sunday near the county line on the Green Bay road, and planned yesterday to hold court on the picnic grounds if necessary.

HEALY ATTACKED BY PRIEST AGAIN.

The Rev. Father O'Callaghan Declares State's Attorney Unfit for Office.

ASKS AID FOR BILLIK.

Scores Affidavit Made by Physician Tope; Calls Him a "Country Doctor."

State's Attorney John J. Healy was attacked for his method of handling the Billik case in three sensational speeches made by Father P. J. O'Callaghan in vaudeville theaters at Forest park last night. The addresses culminated in the declaration that Mr. Healy is under divine displeasure, which will also involve his children and from which he cannot escape.

An affidavit, secured by the state's attorney's office from Dr. W. A. Tope, declaring that Henry Niemann, whose inquest Father O'Callaghan is pushing, died of heart disease and old age, formed the basis of the attacks. Edna Billik was present and sang "Smarty, Smarty" before each address.

"All the waters of heaven will not wash clean John Healy's scarlet soul," cried Father O'Callaghan. "As a priest of God I say to you I am confident that if he is not condemned by this people God's curse will still rest upon him, and upon his children.

"I wish to offer an apology to Pontius Pilate for comparing him to Healy. That sturdy Roman was a gentleman if he was a scoundrel. He had finer feelings than were suited for the business he was in, and he washed his hands in a basin of water to cleanse them.

Attacks State's Attorney's Action.

"Mr. Healy, judicial minded as he is, judicial and just as he pretends to be, before the inquest on the body of Henry Niemann is fairly started, publishes the affidavit of a poor old country doctor, and because the doctor thinks Niemann might have taken medicine with arsenic in it he sets aside the other evidence in the case.

"He reveals what a hypocrite he is when he sends his assistant to Dupage county saying that he wished to assist in the inquest, when the proceedings revealed the fact that his purpose was to belittle the facts and make farcical the most solemn and tragical of all events. It is a strange and silly man who finds mirth in such a tragic moment.

"There is no way to secure a fair hearing for Billik except by removing from office this man, absolutely lacking in a sense of official responsibility. John Healy gave Billik a bad name to hide his cowardly self and justify his own miserable office. No doubt he would sacrifice his own mother, as he has sacrified things as sacred before this to further his own prospects. Get him out, and jump on him.

"Unfit to Be Trusted."

"The man is unfit to be trusted with the lives of the meanest citizens, and you are responsible so long as you keep him in office. John Healy's conscience, like that of the witty Frenchman, ought to be good—it has never been used. I'd like to ask him what became of the tunnel case, and the telephone cases, and the coal trust cases, and the Mollin J. Fell case, where a man got out of jail under peculiar circumstances, and many other cases. He has A. B. Farwell behind him, but he does not respect A. B. Farwell; he is 'using' him for all he is worth.

"Judge Barnes said to me the other day, 'Mr. Healy has investigated this case.' How innocent Judge Barnes is. Even wise doctors have been fooled in this Billik case, and yet Mr. Healy takes the word of an old country doctor, who did not even sign a death certificate, and stops there with his investigation.

"I have taken desperate chances. I have had the feeling of the gambler who wagers his last dollar, but every suspicion I had has been corroborated. There was arsenic in Henry Niemann's body three years after it was buried. John Healy 's a hypocrite—he has been given ample proof of murder and has done nothing of consequence with it."

Dr. Tope's Affidavit.

The affidavit of Dr. Tope, who attended Niemann for fifteen years, says:

"During all this time he suffered from chronic heart disease, and about two years before his death he suffered an electric shock.

"I am familiar with the symptoms of arsenical poisoning and found none of these symptoms except the shaking of the limbs, which I attributed to the electric shock. He was an habitual user of patent medicines, which may have contained arsenic. I believe that death was caused by mitral heart disease and old age."

A letter to Mr. Healy from an eastern physician, who had experimented with himself in administering arsenic, said that at one time during his experiments he had 3½ grains of arsenic in his system, and that one-fifth of a grain, the amount found in Niemann's remains, would not be sufficient to cause death.

APPEAL TO WAR SECRETARY FOR A 200 FOOT CHANNEL.

Eight Local Organizations of Shipmasters' Association Will Protest Against Attitude of Sanitary District.

Eight local organizations of the Shipmasters' association within a few days will file with the secretary of war a protest against the attitude of the sanitary district in its refusal to accede to demands to widen the Chicago river to a uniform width of 200 feet. This announcement was made yesterday by Charles Dinsmore, secretary to Capt. F. B. Higgie of the Chicago Shipmasters' association.

When told of this announcement Hoyt King, secretary to President Robert R. McCormick of the drainage board, said:

"Such a course on our part would be a misuse of public funds. The district has no power to go beyond what it is doing. The sanitary district was created to construct an outlet for the sewage of Chicago and it has nothing to do with navigation. The work already done in the river is sufficient to dilute the stream to the full extent required by law."

JAR STARTS BLAZE IN A CAR.

Traffic Delayed as Result of Ignition of Cases of Matches in Illinois Central Yards.

Suburban and freight traffic on the Illinois Central railroad was stopped for half an hour last night while Battalion Marshal Edward Buckley and several companies of firemen extinguished a fire which destroyed a freight car filled with merchandise in the company's yards at the foot of Monroe street.

The freight car was standing in the yards at the foot of South Water street. A switching crew backed another car into it, making a "flying switch." This jarred the car so much that several cases of matches in with the other merchandise were ignited.

When the blaze was discovered the car was drawn to the foot of Monroe street by a switch engine. The loss was $1,500.

POSTMASTER WOULD BE "COP."

Pennsylvanian Offers to Forsake Uncle Sam for Service Under Shippy in Chicago.

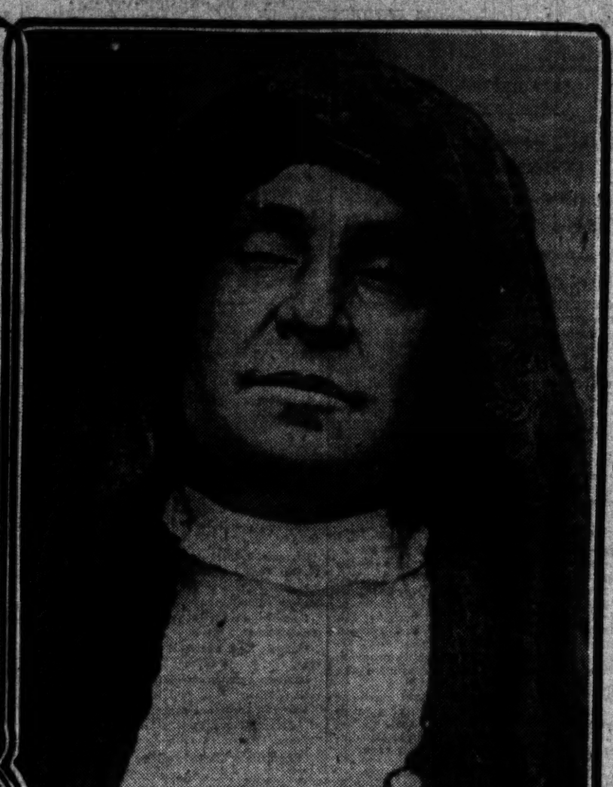

C. J. Roberts, 30 years old, postmaster at Reynsdale, Pa., in a letter to Chief Shippy inquires what chance he has to become a member of the Chicago police department. Roberts is willing to work for $75 or $80 a month. He says he received a good education in his native country, Holland, and that he is a healthy, robust man with a good disposition. Roberts says he is a fair shot with revolver or rifle and, being a good rider, would fit into the city's mounted force.

BRAVES SEA TO SAVE SCORE

Robert Drouet Swims in Maelstrom to Boat's Rescue.

CARRIES ROPE IN HIS TEETH

Thrilling Heroism by Actor in Jersey Coast Storm.

DROWNINGS OF THE YEAR.....726

Sea Isle City, N. J., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Robert Drouet, the actor, saved perhaps a score of lives in the bay off this city today by a thrilling piece of heroism. With his own life at stake, he plunged into the wild surf at the height of a storm, and with a rope held in his teeth, swam through the swirling maelstrom to the rescue of three motor boats crashing helplessly against a jagged ledge of rock.

Help Came Just in Time.

By means of the rope another motor boat was enabled to pull, one after another, the powerless craft out of the ugly circle of cross currents that held them. Had they not received assistance those on board the vessels would surely have been cast into the waters in a few minutes.

The boats were the Athaliah, the Alfred L., the Sunshine, and the Emily E. Mr. Drouet was a guest on the latter. In a driving rain all but the Emily E. ran into the maelstrom, and once there they were helpless. It was impossible to run the Emily E. near enough to throw the rope to them and the actor suggested swimming to the rescue.

BOY DROWNS WHILE SWIMMING.

William Davis, 12 years old, 9100 Green Bay avenue, drowned while swimming in the Calumet river near Ninety-first street yesterday afternoon. No one witnessed the drowning. The body was recovered.

John Barnes of Robertsdale, Ind., was saved from drowning in the lake near the state line in the afternoon by John Evans of East Chicago.

Barnes dived into four feet of water and struck the bottom with his head. He was stunned and remained under water until Evans went to his rescue.

ILLINOISAN SAVED FROM CLIFF.

Springfield Boy Spends Day on Rocks 600 Feet Above Sea Before Rescuers Reach Him.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A wireless message from Avalon, Catalina Island, reports the rescue today of Irving Spalding, aged 15, son of A. F. Spalding of Springfield, Ill., from a precipice 600 feet above the sea, where he had spent the day in peril of his life.

The youth disappeared from the hotel early this morning. He went to explore the island and climbed the sheer face of the cliff, 750 feet high, as far as he could go, and got within a hundred feet of the top.

Spalding found it impossible to get down and shouted for help, but failed to make any one hear. He could not sit down, and the slightest misstep would have sent him to instant death on the rocks below. His father, as night was approaching, organized a searching party.

After an hour's search they located the boy, weak with fear. The problem of how to rescue him was solved at last by the discovery of a path leading fifty feet down from the top.

A rope was lowered to the youth and he was drawn safely to the top of the cliff.

Aside from the nervous shock, weakness, hunger, and terror, the boy is all right tonight.

TROUSSEAU IS ON HIS HANDS.

Disappointed Sweetheart, Jilted for Another, May Dispose of the Wedding Outfit.

FOR SALE—CHEAP—ENTIRE WEDDING OUTfit for bride and groom, including paying of clergyman, and interest in future home. Apply Peter Brantiwski, 60 Front street.

An ad similar to the above may soon appear in the newspapers. And all because of a blighted romance, which was related in full in THE TRIBUNE on Tuesday, and which had its denouement yesterday.

Agnes Babesch, 18 years old, 50 Cornelia street, was to have married Peter Monday evening, but changed her mind Sunday evening and eloped with a Greek suitor, Hustos Simnetis. The young woman was married yesterday to her Greek lover. The groom gave his address to Marriage License Clerk Morris Salmonson as 407 State street.

Brantiwski had spent more than $200 in the purchase of the bride's trousseau and other incidentals, and he is now seeking to recover this amount from the eloping girl's sister, Mrs. Kate Tavlaski, with whom Agnes lived.

Stork Brings Family Triplets.

When the stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alle Dubois, 7116 Carpenter street, last Monday a boy and two girls were left. The boy is named Theodore Roosevelt Dubois. The triplets were welcomed by seven brothers and sisters. The parents are each 40 years old.

TWO IN CUSTODY AS BOY'S SLAYERS.

in the evening and then securely fastened a padlock to the door, expecting to make a closer examination later. There are spots about the floor, bed, and walls which to the police look like blood stains. A chemist is to be taken through the place today.

Weapons Seized as Evidence.

A lot of razors and other death dealing weapons were found in the four little rooms the Turk had occupied alone for nearly seven years. The inspector took back to the police station as evidence two big saws stained with what appears to be blood. He also took a keen edged hunting knife of large size, with sheath of animal hair, a large hatchet, and also a shortened ax handle, all of which also seem to be stained with blood.

Then there was a bed quilt with a large blot of blood in the center. Coroner's Physician Hunter, who first stated that the body evidently was hacked up with a butcher's saw and cleaver, stated yesterday that the implements taken from Nemmer's house would have produced the same kind of cuts and dissections.

At 10 p. m., after Chief Shippy, Mayor Busse, and Inspector Dorman had made a further futile attempt to elicit something damaging from the prisoner, Chief Shippy told the newspaper men that he couldn't allow them to photograph the prisoner because he was not sure enough of his case.

Must View Mangled Remains.

Chief Shippy has planned a dramatic setting for the Turk today in the hope that he will break down. He will take the prisoner to the morgue and confront him with the ghastly remains of the boy, but if this scheme is not successful he doesn't know exactly what steps will be taken next.

The officials were handicapped at the evening quizzing because of the absence of an interpreter. The Turk knows enough English to go throughout the city peddling notions, but claims to be ignorant of the language when disagreeable questions are asked him. All his replies are either evasive or flat denials of the accusation put to him.

"I never had any trouble with the boy's father; I didn't know the dead boy, but knew his brother. The boy's mother lies when she says I drew a gun during the altercation with her and her husband and he lies when he says I drew a knife," was about all the officials could make out of a jumbled statement he gave.

Police Sergeant John O'Donnell and Attorney Joseph Epstein were brought into the room, and made unsuccessful attempts to have the prisoner admit his misconduct with boys. The prisoner looked at them in seemingly blank amazement.

"You have been associating with boys for the last thirteen years," Sergt. O'Donnell addressed him, "and were indicted two years ago, and were arrested about eight months ago," but he could evoke no reply.

Police Spurred On by Teacher.

The boy who was killed was a member of the Penochis club, a boys' organization connected with Hull house. He had promised to visit his teacher, Miss Gregory, 67 Astor street, last Sunday afternoon, and failed to do so. It worried Miss Gregory, and on Monday morning she called on his mother to learn why the engagement had been broken. The mother said she was worried; that the boy had been missing since Sunday morning. The women of Hull house had much to do with notifying and spurring on the police in their search for the missing boy.

One of the most important things for the police yet to do is to trace the boy's movements on Sunday. His brother, Azaiz, 15 years old, told the police that he saw him last at 9 o'clock that morning when he was summoned from the Union depot to the saloon of Kaeding Bros., Canal and Van Buren streets. Azais returned home at noon, but nothing more of Tuffa was seen by the family until his dismembered corpse was identified. The bartender at Kaeding's said the boy was not in there on that day.

It is believed the brother is mistaken about the saloon, because other bootblacks and newsboys also say it was another boy who went into that saloon. James J. Thompson, who conducts a saloon at 55 West Van Buren street, said Tuffa was in his place Sunday noon and shined "Shorty's" shoes.

"I believe Tuffa was in here Monday also," said Thompson. "I knew the kid well. He and the whole bunch used to sneak in here and fill their caps with lunch. He was a good lad, at that, and I used to let him eat."

Last Seen Sunday Afternoon.

Inspector Dorman has no doubt about Tuffa being in that saloon Sunday, but believes that Thompson mistook Willie Shishem, a cousin, for Tuffa on Monday afternoon.

Willie told the police he saw Tuffa in Jefferson street, near De Koven street, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and that he knows a little Italian boy who saw him in Harrison street two hours later. From this time on the police have been able to get no trace of the boy alive.

Frank Rito, 235 Forquer street, who sells papers at the Union depot, is the boy who convinced the police that Tuffa is not the one who shined a strange man's shoes in Kaeding's saloon Sunday morning.

"No, that was another boy," said Rito, "and I don't think you have the right guy. On Sunday a week ago a Greek came here asking a bunch of us boys about the boats to Milwaukee. He wanted his grip carried and Pete Costello, who lives in Jefferson street, between De Koven and Taylor streets, started to the boat with the Greek. On the way the Greek asked Pete if he didn't want to come along, and he said something also that Pete didn't like and Pete 'ditched' him. Last Sunday I saw the same Greek around the depot, but didn't go near him. And, when I come to think about it, I believe the same guy was around the depot on other Sundays. His grip was like the picture of the one that was found near the body."

Boy's Mother Suspects the Turk.

Stephen Kantrencitis, the former boarder at the Shishem home, who was arrested last night near Racine, came to Chicago Saturday night from Kankakee, where he was employed, and remained in the city until Sunday night. He ate a noon lunch in a Harrison street poolroom, and, it is claimed, passed the Shishem home Sunday afternoon. To some he said he was going to Racine, Wis., and to others that he was going to Milwaukee.

"The police ought not to suspect 'Steve' of knowing anything," said Tuffa's mother. "He boarded with us when we lived at 108 Mather street, and never lived in our present home. We have been in the Johnson street house just three months. Steve was always good to all the children, but didn't seem to like Tuffa as well as the others. No, it must have been the Turk."

Tuffa had nothing to do with the federal investigation of the "padrone" system of importing Greek boys, the authorities state. This boy always worked "free" in the streets with his brother, and they took their earnings home to their mother. "Padrone" boys are compelled to work in shoe shining "parlors" in Chicago.

Family Came from Syria.

The Shishem family came to Chicago from Zaahlah, near Beirut, Syria, six years ago. Tuffa attended the Dore public school at Harrison and Halsted streets and also attended instructive sessions at Hull house. There are five other children in the household—namely: Asaiz, 15 years old, and Charlie, 4 years old, boys; and Zakia, 8 years old, Adel, 6 years old, and Sophie, 2 months old, girls.

Shortly before 11 o'clock at night a squad of police searched a barn at 248 West Polk street, the center of a Greek colony, but got no clews. Later a couple of officers were detailed to see about trains departing from the Union depot Sunday night, others went in the neighborhood of the Nemmer home, and others went to South Lawndale.

Prisoner Baffles the Police.

"We are concentrating all our efforts on Nemmer just now," said Inspector Dorman, after a good review of the facts before him, "and I believe we are on the right track. If the prisoner would make the slightest admission on anything we have put up to him we would have him dead to rights. But he is one of the stubbornest men I ever tried to handle. All that we can now do is to confront him with the remains, and see how he acts, and get other boys in here to accuse him. If he doesn't break down in the face of what we will have against him he will, indeed, be a wonder.

"I have about come to the conclusion that the satchel containing part of the boy's clothing—some clothing marked with Greek characters—did not really belong to the prisoner. Where he got it I don't know; but it is possible that the murderer got hold of that satchel by purchase or otherwise, and put it near the body as a 'blind' to mislead the police. For that reason I am paying little or no attention to the laundry marks on the clothes, because I don't believe the man who got the clothes laundered would be foolish enough to leave that satchel near the body.

"Nemmer was a bad man in his conduct toward boys, and there is a chance that the boy threatened to tell what he knew. This, together with the statements of his parents to the effect that the Turk made threats against both of them, looks bad for him."

Delay in Identification.

For several hours the police were bothered about the actions of the boy's relatives and their inability to identify the corpse as quickly as the police believed they should. This was explained later. The father of the boy had been detained in Inspector Dorman's office in the afternoon while the mother and her two sisters-in-law had been sent to the morgue with Lieut. Ptacek and Sergt. Scully.

The head was found at 9:15 yesterday morning in a small pond at West Thirty-first street and St. Louis avenue, and it was some hours before it was brought to the county morgue. Late Wednesday night the father was taken to the morgue but could not identify his son from the body and stained clothing. Yesterday morning both father and mother went to the morgue before the head arrived, thence to Maxwell street station, and then to the Lawndale station to see the clothing. At the latter place the mother was shown one of the boy's long black stockings and his garter, but she did not move a muscle.

Mother in Hysterical Grief.

Inspector Dorman and his assistants described the boy and his clothing as minutely as possible, but the grief stricken parents could not grasp the meanings of words. At 1:30 o'clock word was phoned to the deputy coroner to put the body together as best he could and lay it out in a rough box for the mother's inspection.

Seeing that the woman was on the verge of collapse, Deputy Davis tried to spare her the ordeal of witnessing the ghastly sight, but as he could not convince her the lieutenant marched her and her sisters-in-law into the basement where the body lay on a slab.

With police officers standing on either side, the sheet was drawn gently away from the face. At the first glimpse the mother shrieked, and those about her found it impossible to control her emotions.

"It's my darling boy!" she shrieked piteously, and then made a sudden move as though she were going to grab the head and press it to her lips. It was unattached, and Deputy Davis, anticipating her movements, pushed her aside. Then the distracted mother and even her relatives fought to see more of the body and had to be forcibly restrained.

Collapses on Lawn of Morgue.

"Calm yourself," pleaded the lieutenant without avail, but the heartbroken mother would not listen to reason until the lieutenant and sergeant commanded her to desist and leave the room. For a time she stood as if fixed to the spot, and an instant later she began chanting, which later broke into loud shrieks as she darted toward the bier and again attempted to grasp the boy's head up into her arms. It was a scene never before witnessed in that death house.

Half led and half dragged, she reached the top of the stairs in safety, but as soon as the fresh breezes of the open air struck her she again became uncontrollable, and after a vain attempt to break back downstairs sank to the lawn utterly exhausted.

Upon arrival at the Maxwell street station she tried to force her way into Inspector Dorman's private office, where her husband could be heard moaning, and she again had to be restrained. The lieutenant had driven back to the station in his buggy and broke the news to the father. These scenes were repeated when the woman reached her home. She slapped her face, tore her hair, and showed such signs of utter distraction that friends and neighbors feared she would do herself bodily injury.

ST. JOE ROMANCE THAT FAILED.

Chicagoan Spends Night in Jail After Unsuccessful Attempt to Steal Michigan Bride.

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Lora Costa of Chicago steamed back across Lake Michigan tonight on his way home, tired of Michigan and Michigan girls, after an unsuccessful attempt to elope with the daughter of a Berrien county farmer. He spent last night in the city jail, and this morning was released through the magnanimity of the father of the bride-that-was-not. The girl is Miss Irene Pennell, 17 years old. Yesterday Costa went to her home and brought the maid to St. Joseph. They were just boarding a steamer to Chicago when an uncle of the girl intercepted them.

RAIN 'AD' ALMOST ANSWERED

"Michigan Farmer's" District Dry; Showers Fall in State.

SHORT CROPS THREATENED.

Forecaster Sees No Indications of Break in Chicago Drought.

According to dispatches received last night the showers for which "Michigan Farmer" advertised in THE TRIBUNE have been delivered in his state, but have not reached his section, in the vicinity of St. Joe. Advertising for weather, however, is yet in its infancy and the results are likely to be uncertain for a time.

A telegram from Mount Clemens reported "beautiful rains and incalculable benefit to crops," while at Pontiac it has been raining ever since the want "ad" was inserted in THE TRIBUNE. Detroit reported drenching rains in northern and western counties and the drought effectually broken.

Short Crops Threatened.

But nothing doing around St. Joe. South Haven farmers said that unless that "ad." brings results within a couple of days the crops will be short in southwestern Michigan. Only one or two showers have fallen in the last month, berries are drying on the bushes, and potatoes are few and small. Corn is dry and cannot be cultivated, while the oats are not filling out. Apples and peaches are in good condition.

Chicago and its environs, not to speak of the country districts, would welcome a drenching rain as much as Michigan, but Maj. Hersey, the weather forecaster, said last night that he saw none indicated at present.

"There have been copious showers throughout the western, southern, and northern portions of the country," he said, "and it seems likely that Chicago will get its portion shortly, but I cannot officially predict rain. However, the heat will not be so great."

Forecast for Today.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow was generally fair and moderately cool, with fresh to brisk northerly winds.

The sky was overcast in the vicinity of Chicago a large part of the day, and the temperature did not rise above the 80 degrees it registered at 9 a. m. A wind of nineteen miles velocity from the southwest gave a humidity of 58 to 68.

Herbert Calion, 1341 State street, a laborer, was overcome by the heat in the afternoon while at work at Sixteenth street and Indiana avenue.

DIVERS AT WORK ON FIREBOAT.

Great Difficulty Expected in Raising Craft, as Hatches Were Open When It Was Sunk.

The work of removing the debris covering the fireboat Illinois, which was sunk in the river at Sixteenth street on Tuesday by a sailing wall, was begun yesterday by three divers.

Great difficulty is expected in raising the boat, as the hatches were open when it sank and it is filled with water. The contract for raising the fireboat has been given to the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company.

The divers report that the damage to the boat is not great and can be repaired in a short time.

Women's Trade Union Plans Outing.

The Women's Trade Union league will give a basket picnic at Jackson park Sunday. The party will meet at the German building at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Raymond Robins is president of the league and Miss Emma Steghagen is secretary.

ENORMOUS WASTE OF WATER SHOWN

City Engineer Reports That a Total of 83,000,000,000 Gallons Is Lost Yearly.

BAD PLUMBING ONE CAUSE

Consumers Without Meters Pay Less than a Third of What Measured Aqua Costs.

Chicago is wasting water at the rate of more than 83,000,000,000 gallons per year.

This estimate, accompanied by a protest, is included in the annual report of City Engineer John Ericson, which will be made public today. Mr. Ericson also takes up the meter question in his report, showing that consumers without meters get their water for less than one-third of what meter users have to pay. He asserts that the city is not receiving "an adequate return or revenue from the unmetered supply." Instances are cited in which the water supply has been cut down by the vigilance of inspectors 1,400,000 gallons a day in a territory of moderate area without affecting in any way the usefulness of the service.

Consumption Per Capita.

For the benefit of those to whom large figures do not appeal, Mr. Ericson's report makes the water waste appear in concrete figures by a little statistical table.

"From careful experiments and observations," he says, "a liberal average per capita consumption of water in Chicago may be estimated as follows:

Parks	2 gallons
Other public and semi-public purposes	6 gallons
Domestic purposes	35 gallons
Manufacturing purposes	35 gallons
Total	68 gallons

"There still remains," says the report, "a per capita pumpage of about 96 gallons which is absolutely lost. The cost of coal to pump this excess quantity amounted during the year to about $140,000. By surveys made by this department the average daily supply of water in one district was reduced from 4,650,000 gallons to 2,600,000 gallons without diminishing the legitimate and necessary supply."

According to the report the city pumped in 1907, 165,589,000,000 gallons of water, receiving a revenue of $4,453,000 for it, or at the rate of 2.69 cents per 1,000 gallons. To the meter users, however, the water was sold at the rate of 7 cents per 1,000 gallons, while consumers without meters got it at the estimated rate of only 1.7 cents per 1,000 gallons.

"This difference in price," says the report, "is too great. In the unmetered districts the city is receiving for its water less than its actual cost."

A supplementary report made by Supt. W. J. McCourt of the water bureau shows 14,500 meters now installed. Through these meters 27,945,000,000 gallons of water are pumped and measured yearly, while an estimated 137,788,000,000 gallons is used in unmetered service.

Supt. McCourt said most of the present troubles are caused through leakage in plumbing.

Supt. McCourt showed a brass plate with three small holes. The first would scarcely accommodate a cambric needle. A pin might be passed through the second and a lead pencil point was accommodated by the third.

"What we call the needle hole, if it is in a pipe, will waste 170 gallons of water in twenty-four hours," he said. "The pin hole will waste 970 gallons and the pencil point hole will waste 3,600 gallons."

$500,000 IS GIVEN COUNT ZEPPELIN

German People Promptly Open Subscription Lists for Construction of New Airship.

KAISER REGRETS LOSS.

Sends Telegram of Sympathy to Aeronaut, Who in Reply Declares He Will Continue.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—Count Zeppelin will have an abundance of money to construct his new airship to take the place of the one burned yesterday at Echterdingen. The German people, in a remarkable outburst of pride in the achievements of the count, have been prompt to follow the lead of the imperial government, which has made a grant of $125,000 to him.

Already more than $375,000 has been raised by popular subscription and the pledges received double this amount. A national committee has been formed at Stuttgart, headed by Prince von Hohenlohe-Langenbourg, to supervise the raising of funds. Subscription lists have been opened in every city in the empire and many of the contributions made are small amounts from the lower classes.

Boerse Gives $25,000.

The subscription list of the Berlin boerse has reached a total of $25,000. Senator Poosehl of Lubeck and the Essen Mine company have each given a similar sum, and at Heidelberg an anonymous subscriber has contributed $5,000. At Cologne $8,500 has been raised, of which the city council gave $2,500.

Emperor William today sent a telegram expressing his regret at Count Zeppelin's loss, which was delivered to the aeronaut at his hotel in Friedrichshafen by the king of Wurttemberg in person.

Kaiser Sends His Regrets.

"I have heard with the deepest regret," the kaiser telegraphed, "of the destruction of your balloon by a storm, and I wish you to know of my cordial sympathy in your misfortune. All the more since I and all Germany thought we had every reason to believe we could congratulate you on the glorious realization of your splendid epoch making achievement. Nevertheless, what you have accomplished must be recognized as of the highest order, and this must be a comfort to you in this catastrophe."

Count Zeppelin later replied to Emperor William as follows:

"Your majesty's telegram has turned my grief to joy. I will gladly devote myself to your wishes and those of the German people and continue the construction of airships."

Wreck of Airship Under Guard.

ECHTERDINGEN, Aug. 6.—Only a narrow streak of burned grass marks the spot where the Zeppelin airship made its descent yesterday morning. Some of the delicate and complicated machinery seems still to be perfectly good and even the instruments for the taking of photographs during flight escaped destruction in the explosion. Everything of value that might be used again has been either removed to a place of safety or is under guard. The two gondolas that were suspended beneath the car are practically intact and the forward motor was still in order when it was tried today.

One of the machinists who witnessed the explosion yesterday declares yesterday's disaster inexplicable. Neither motor was working at the time, and there was neither light nor fire anywhere near the balloon. It is assumed that the strong concussion to which the airship was subjected by the whirlwind caused the self-ignition of the hydrogen gas.

Souvenir Hunters Driven Off.

Even as early as 8 o'clock this morning, and in spite of the inclement weather, thousands of people from the neighborhood collected around the wreck. Several hundred soldiers were on duty to keep the people at a good distance from the remains of the aerial giant, which the relic hunters surveyed with greedy eyes. But in spite of these precautions some people managed to get a hold of small pieces of wet and partly burned balloon cloth which they carefully hid away.

The photographers also were chased away by the soldiers, the count having no desire that his misfortune become the subject of picture post cars. One man, however, was successful in taking two views. He was apprehended and brought up before the commanding general of the Stuttgart garrison, who, in the middle of the field and surrounded by a numerous mounted staff, was personally conducting the salvage operation. The photographer was asked to give up his spoil, and in reply he handed a soldier two negatives of no value, retaining the good plates concealed in his camera.

The government of Hesse has decided to erect a commemorative stone at the scene of the disaster to the airship.

Russians Arrest German Balloonists.

KATOWITA, Russia, Aug. 6.—Three German military balloonists who landed yesterday in a balloon a short distance south of Warsaw were taken into custody as soon as they stepped from their car. The balloon also was seized by the gendarmes.

CARDINAL GIBBONS BETTER; ORDERED TO TAKE A REST.

Physician Says His Indisposition Is Due to Fruit Eaten and Puts Him on a Liquid Diet.

ROME, Aug. 6.—The condition of Cardinal Gibbons, who was taken ill on Wednesday at Castel Gandolfo and was brought to Rome to be treated for an intestinal disorder, is better this morning. The internal symptoms have moderated slightly, his headache is less violent, and his temperature has fallen to 100 degrees.

The attending physician has ordered the American prelate to take a complete rest and has put him on a liquid diet. He considers the attack due to fruit eaten by the cardinal and expects that the illness soon will be overcome.

The pope, when he learned of the indisposition of the cardinal, expressed his sorrow and the hope that he would soon recover. He sent Cardinal Gibbons his sympathy and asked to be constantly informed as to his condition.

800 KILLED IN TABRIZ STREETS.

City Wrecked by Bombs and Residences Looted of Property Worth One Million Dollars.

TABRIZ, Aug. 6.—There has now been thirty-five days' fighting in the streets of Tabriz, and the casualties, due chiefly to bombs thrown from mortars and shrapnels, are estimated at 800.

Many of the finer residences of the city and hundreds of shops in the bazaars have been looted, the loss in this direction being placed at more than $1,000,000.

The American missionaries in the city have been exposed to stray bullets, but, although they have had some narrow escapes, none of them has been injured. During one of the heavier bombardments a piece of a shrapnel shell fell in the mission garden within a few feet of one of the mission servants.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

BERNE, Switzerland.—An unprecedented record in Alpine climbing has been made by a Mr. Burr of Boston. Accompanied by expert guides, he ascended in one day the peaks of the Jungfrau, the Moench, and the Eiger.

LONDON.—Damage of $250,000 was done by a fire which destroyed Burley hall, near Oakham, the residence of the Hon. Frederick Guest, whose wife is a daughter of Henry Phipps of New York.

For once you can pick your own senator. Don't fool your chance away. Vote for FOSS.—Adv.

UNIONS PUT OUT PARIS LIGHTS

Strike of Electricians Brings Candles Into Use.

THEATERS FORCED TO CLOSE.

Laborites Return to Work After Forty-five Minutes' Demonstration.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The fight between syndicated labor and the remainder of Paris continues. The electrical workers did not quit work on Monday in response to the call of the general confederation of labor, the secretary of their union, M. Pataud, explaining that four days' notice was needed for them to organize a strike. The four days expired today and tonight at 8:30 the men quit the plants.

In a short time the city was in darkness so far as the electric lights were concerned. Candles in bottles lighted diners at the restaurants, and theaters were compelled to dismiss their audiences. Hotels were in darkness until they were able to obtain candles.

Chinese Lanterns in Cafes.

The cafés on the boulevards hung out Chinese lanterns. These makeshifts were hardly in place when at 9:15 the electric lights began to burn again.

It had been the object of the electrical workers to make a demonstration by a two hours' strike. Even this was not attained fully, for in the Puteaux district the men were told that if they quit work they would be dismissed for good. They remained at their posts. The section of the city containing the labor exchange also enjoyed light.

Old Strike Case Settled Coincidentally.

By a coincidence the action of the Comedies Française against the electric company for failure to supply light during the 1907 strike was decided today in favor of the company on the ground that it was prevented unavoidably from carrying out its contract.

AMBASSADOR HILL HONORED; ADDRESSES NOTED SCIENTISTS.

American Diplomat at Berlin Speaks at Opening of International Congress on Ethical Function of Historian.

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—David Jayne Hill, ambassador of the United States to Germany, delivered the opening address today on the assembling of the International Congress of Historical Sciences. Dr. Hill's selection carries distinction, as the session has attracted scientists from all parts of the world.

The ambassador spoke on "The Ethical Function of the Historian." He said the business of the historian is not to make history seem reasonable by placing upon it a scientific stamp foreign to its nature, but to display the motives that have determined the historic process.

"From every point of view," said Dr. Hill, "the function of the historian is not to deal with uniformities and universal formulas, but with the variations of human conduct, and to measure its success and its failure upon the scale of rational endeavors; for history is the record of man's efforts to solve the problems with which his nature and his environment confront him. It is good for mankind to realize that, although living in a universe governed by law, as a result of its freedom it has sometimes gone wrong; and that, without a loyal adherence to great principles, it may go wrong again."

FRANCE TURNED KAISER DOWN?

London Correspondent Says French Government Refused Emperor's Proposal to Meet Fallieres.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Copenhagen has wired that he has learned from a high authority that the French government politely refused Emperor William's proposal to meet President Fallieres in the Baltic sea while the president was returning from Reval, where he recently met Emperor Nicholas.

STOCK BROKER DORR ARRESTED

Accused by San Francisco Men of Embezzlement of $14,000 in Securities.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—Frederick Dorr, the stock broker, whose offices in this and other cities of the west recently were closed because of alleged failure on his part to meet obligations, is being taken tonight to San Francisco, where a warrant for the alleged embezzlement of $14,000 worth of Wall street securities was sworn out against him.

Dorr, having succeeded in evading the northern police, arrived in this city from the latter place this afternoon.

He was in consultation with lawyers tonight while the city was being scoured for him by detectives. Half an hour before the train left for San Francisco at 7:30 the accused broker accepted service of the San Francisco warrant and agreed to go north at once and face the charge filed against him there.

SAYS WIFE WANTS TO WED.

Danville Lawyer Charges Woman Seeks Divorce to Marry Wealthy Chicagoan.

George B. Leonard, an attorney of Danville, Ill., yesterday filed an affidavit before Judge Samuel C. Stough in the Superior court wherein he alleges his wife, Elizabeth A. Leonard, who is suing him for divorce, is seeking her decree on perjured testimony that she may marry a wealthy Chicagoan.

Leonard asserts that Lillian S. Rohling, the co-respondent mentioned in his wife's bill for divorce, told him that she has been promised $550 to testify against him.

The affidavit was introduced in the proceedings in court wherein Mrs. Leonard sought temporary alimony from her husband. Judge Stough denied the motion and directed that the charges against Mrs. Leonard be sifted thoroughly.

FIGHT INVASION BY LLOYDS.

Insurance Men Seek Legislation to Prevent London Underwriters Writing Policies in New York.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The attention which centered on Lloyds of London through the publicity given insurance placed in New York against Bryan's election, and more recent reports of financial difficulties among some of the Lloyds underwriters, has focused the resentment of the regularly incorporated New York insurance companies against the invasion of their field by the Lloyds into a movement to draft legislation which will make impossible the writing of Lloyds' policies in this state.

DOG RESCUES DOG FROM OCEAN.

White Bull Leaps Into Sea at Long Branch and Tows Children's Pet Back to Shore.

Highlands, N. J., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Children playing on the beach at Long Branch, threw their pet dog in the surf. The current was strong and the animal was unable to swim against the undertow. The pet fast was being carried out to sea when Tommy Johnson's white bulldog, Thistle, jumped in the ocean, swam out to the other dog, and brought it ashore.

DIES AS HE ATTEMPTS TO DIE.

Excitement of Placing Noose on Neck Anticipates Plans of a Would-Be Suicide.

Zanesville, O., Aug. 6.—While placing a noose about his neck for the purpose of committing suicide, James Loreymer, a farmer, dropped dead today. Death was due to apoplexy brought on by excitement, according to the coroner.

TURKEY IS GIVEN REFORM MINISTRY

New Cabinet Composed of Liberals Who Stand for Constitutional Regime.

TWO CHRISTIAN MEMBERS

Kiamil Pasha, Grand Vizier, Thrice Exiled for Holding Advanced Opinions.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 6.—The young Turks have triumphed. A new cabinet, practically composed of their own nominees and commanding public confidence, has been appointed. It is established on a constitutional basis, the sultan having given up his claim to the right to appoint the ministers of war and marine.

Kiamil Pasha, who for the third time becomes grand vizier, throughout his career has struggled for a constitutional régime and thrice has suffered exile for his opinions. His ministry, with two exceptions, is composed of new men of liberal views. Two of them are Christians. Gabriel Effendi, the minister of works, is an Armenian, and Prince Mavrocordato, the minister of agriculture, is a Greek.

Two Ministers Retain Office.

Jemalledin Effendi, the Shiek-Ul-Islam, and the minister of foreign affairs retain their portfolios. Reshed Akif Pasha, vali of Sivas, becomes minister of the interior; Redjeb Pasha, vali of Tripoli, minister of war; Arir Pasha, minister of marine; Zia Pasha, minister of finance; and Hassan Fehmi Pasha, minister of justice.

The new ministry will publish its program almost immediately and prepare for the elections.

Within the space of a fortnight since the proclamation of the constitution a new régime appears to be firmly established and the court camarilla completely dispersed without any distrubance of order.

Young Turks Deny Vengeance.

The young Turk committee publishes a remarkable document calling upon the people not to attempt to satisfy personal vengeance on the ground that indulgence in personalities is opposed to its sublime ideal. It calls upon all the government officials to do their duty and to report to the committee any difficulties which they may encounter in so doing. The document prohibits all private communications with the palace and urges the people to trust the committee and obey it implicitly.

Today a battalion of troops which had just returned from Salonica forced open the prisons and liberated all criminals, even those under sentence of death, and then marched through the town, holding a peaceful demonstration in favor of the constitution.

DANISH EXPLORER LOSES LIFE; ERICHSEN DIES ON ICEFLOE.

Eskimo Takes News of Adventurers' Experiences While Adrift at Sea and Expires Telling Story.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 6.—Mylius Erichsen, the Danish explorer, is dead in the far north, having perished during a snow storm which fell while they were adrift at sea upon an ice floe.

The explorer and three companions, one of them an Eskimo, left the main party, intending to cross the eternal ice cap of Greenland at its broadest part to the unknown, frozen dome of the interior, which rises to 10,000 feet above sea level. This region is completely devoid of vegetable and animal life.

Before reaching the point where they expected to strike for the interior a huge field of ice became detached from the mainland and carried them out to sea.

For days they drifted about. Their provisions gave out and by the time the wind changed, blowing them back to the coast Erichsen and the two Europeans were unable to crawl ashore.

The Eskimo helped them to firm land, but they died within a few hours. The Eskimo carried the news back to the main party, reaching the ship too exhausted for recovery and died as he finished telling of the explorer's fate.

PET CAT'S BITE CAUSES RABIES.

Long Island Woman Dies in Convulsions Three Months After Receiving the Injury.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. J. C. Trumbull of Baldwin's, L. I., succumbed early today to rabies, which developed from a cat bite received three months previously. For eight hours before her death Mrs. Trumbull endured the fearful agonies of the last stages of the disease.

The cat which caused Mrs. Trumbull's death was a pet. While she was playing with it it suddenly turned on her and sank its teeth into her nose.

Last Monday she awoke in terror from a dream that the cat had come back to life and was again scratching and tearing her face. A few hours afterward symptoms of rabies developed and Dr. F. W. Fletcher of Freeport was summoned. That evening she went into convulsions, which continued until she died. Dr. Fletcher said her death was hastened by her own imagination and apprehension.

PYTHIANS ELECT CHANCELLOR

Henry P. Brown of Texas Chosen Head of Supreme Lodge.

KNIGHTS AID INJURED MEN.

Detachment Goes to Scene of Building Accident Near Their Camp.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6.—With the election of officers today the supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias closed the most important business session of its twenty-fifth convention, which opened in this city on Monday. The Pythian sisters also elected officers. The uniform rank devoted such of the day as was free from rain to competitive drills on Franklin field for the $10,000 cash prizes offered.

Henry P. Brown of Cleburn, Tex., was elected supreme chancellor without contest, he having served the last year as vice chancellor. There was a spirited contest for vice chancellor. After five ballots George W. Hanson of Calais, Me., was chosen.

Retrenchment Faction Wins.

There was but one other important contest, which was for the members of the board of insurance control. The fight was between a faction standing for strict retrenchment and those satisfied with the present conditions. The retrenchment faction won after four ballots. The result of the elections, in addition to the officers named, was as follows:

Supreme prelate—Rev. De Witt C. Cobb, Salem, N. J.

Supreme keeper of records and seal—R. L. C. White, Nashville, Tenn.

Supreme master of exchequer—Thomas D. Meares, Wilmington, N. C.

Supreme master at arms—Samuel P. Davis, Davis, Okla.

Supreme inner guard—E. Allison Powers, Quebec, Que.

Supreme outer guard—William D. Cameron, Meridian, Miss.

Board of insurance control, for six years—U. S. G. Cherry, Sioux Falls, S. D., and C. S. Davis, Denver, Colo.

Strobbart Retained as Commander.

The uniform rank assembly, consisting of twenty-six brigadier generals, formally appointed Maj. Gen. Arthur E. Strobbart of St. Paul, Minn., to succeed himself in command of the uniform rank. The appointment will come up before the supreme lodge tomorrow for ratification.

A three story wooden house under construction on Greencock street, a short distance from the camp of the Knights of Pythias, collapsed today. The crash was heard at the camp. At once a bugle call was sounded and a detail of about fifty knights was ordered on the double quick march to the scene. The knights were ahead of the police and took charge of the situation until the officers arrived. They removed two injured men from the débris.

Invites Conclave to Chicago.

The efforts of the Chicago Knights of Pythias to have the next biennial conclave of that order held in Chicago received the assistance of Mayor Busse yesterday. He forwarded to Charles A. Barnes, a supreme chancellor of the order, a telegram asking the body to meet in this city in 1910.

C. P. TRAINMEN MAY GO OUT IN SYMPATHY WITH SHOPMEN.

Predicted in Winnipeg That Entire System Will Be Tied Up by Sunday—Chicago Strikebreakers There.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Striking mechanics of the Canadian Pacific railroad declared tonight that the trainmen of the system will go out with them in sympathy, and that by next Sunday the entire system will be tied up. These trainmen consist of switchmen, brakemen, baggagemen, and some of the conductors.

Tonight all the railway shops are in darkness, owing to electricians operating the light plant declining to work with nonunion labor. Three coach loads of strike breakers arrived in this city from St. Paul and Chicago today. Several hundred mechanics are expected from Pacific coast states, while the eastern shops will draw their supply from the New England states.

Sixty union pickets have been placed on duty at the local shops, the company not being adverse to passive picketing. At some shops in far western cities armed police are on guard, but this is not considered necessary here.

Teamsters Elect Chicagoans.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—Daniel J. Tobin of Cambridge, Mass., was today reëlected president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Other officers elected were: Vice presidents, E. J. Mullin, Chicago; George Golden, Chicago; A. A. Silva, Chicago; secretary-treasurer, Thomas L. Hughes; general auditor, George W. Briggs, Chicago. Peoria, Ill., was selected for the next convention in 1910.

OBITUARY.

PETER E. WILSON, former local freight agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, who died of apoplexy last Tuesday, was buried at Rosehill cemetery yesterday. The funeral was held from the residence, 620 Euclid avenue. Mr. Wilson, who was 65 years old, had been a resident of Chicago for over thirty years. He leaves a wife and three daughters.

BETTING UPHELD BY HIGH COURT.

New York Justice Says Gambling Law Was Not Intended to Stop Wagers.

BOOKING TRADE BARRED.

Distinction Made Between Private Chances and Regular Business of Gaming.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Justice William J. Gaynor of the Supreme court in Brooklyn handed down today a decision in which he held that ordinary betting is no crime, and added:

"The law never has descended to thrusting its nose into the personal conduct of men and women, and those who try to make out that it has only tend to create disrespect for it."

The decision was given in the case of George B. Sterling, who was arrested on July 30 on the Salisbury golf links by Deputy Sheriff Brown of Nassau county after he had made a bet with Ephraim Hamm on the result of a game of golf about to be played. The bet was of a dozen golf balls valued at $6 and a note of the wager was entered on a card. After Hamm had won the game and Sterling had paid the bet the latter was put under arrest for violating the betting law.

The case came before Justice Gaynor in a hearing on a demurrer to the return of a writ of habeas corpus sued out by John B. Stanchfield for Sterling. At the hearing Mr. Stanchfield appeared for the relator and District Attorney Coles of Nassau county for the sheriff.

Betting and Gambling Not Alike.

Justice Gaynor today ordered the discharge and filed this opinion:

"The difference between ordinary betting and gambling is too plain to require words. An ordinary bet is not a crime whether made in your parlor or on the golf links or on the racetrack, nor is the making of a note or memorandum thereof, but if you hold yourself out to bet and bet all comers or generally, or become a general recorder of such bets or of bets between others you are guilty of a crime.

"Ordinary betting never was made a crime in this state," said Justice Gaynor. "The law has never descended to thrusting its nose into the personal conduct of men and women to that extent, and those who try to make it appear that it has only tend to create a disrespect for the law.

Dead Letter Laws Are Shed.

"No law can be enforced except by public opinion, and wise legislatures never pass a law that lacks public opinion in its favor. Such laws are dead letters, except as they are stirred up from time to time by the few among us who delight in meddling with the conduct of others, or to levy blackmail. The community sheds them as the snake does its skin.

"All that the last legislature did in respect to the gambling laws was to make them apply inside of the racetrack inclosure as well as outside.

"As to the writing of a memorandum of a bet on a card by the relator, it is enough to say that section 351 of the penal code is confined in plain terms to the case of persons engaged in the recording or registering the bets of all comers as a practice or business. That is common gambling or aiding and abetting common gambling, which the law does not tolerate."

AUTHOR MADE A PEACE OFFICER.

Richard Harding Davis Gets Authority of Deputy Sheriff to Protect His Property.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Richard Harding Davis, the novelist who has been appointed a deputy sheriff in White Plains, today visited Sheriff Lane to be sworn in. After he had taken the required oath he left for New York to purchase a big badge, which he will wear in the discharge of his duties. He thinks the badge will frighten law breakers. Mr. Davis denied he had become a deputy sheriff for the purpose of writing his experiences for the magazines.

"My object in joining the sheriff's staff," said he, "is to police my own property up in North Castle. I have a place of about 320 acres up there and of late there have been a number of daring holdups."

Mr. Davis says he also is bothered by Italians who trespass on his place and annoy him by hunting and frightening his maids. He says he thinks he can frighten them away if he gets a badge big enough, without shooting at them or using violence.

Mr. Davis has arranged to arraign his prisoners before a local justice of the peace.

THEATRICAL MEN DISCUSS HARMONY

General Betterment of Conditions Sought by Many Representatives.

BEGINS GOULD INQUIRY.

Grand Jury Examines Witnesses as to Conspiracy in Divorce Case.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Aug. 6.

Men representing all lines of theatrical enterprises met today in the offices of Klaw & Erlanger to discuss the possibility of the general betterment of theatrical conditions and harmonious co-operation toward that end.

Theatrical Men Discuss Co-operation.

No merger was discussed. One of the subjects which took up considerable time was the fact that new theaters are being erected constantly for which there are no suitable attractions to fill the time. Those present besides Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger (who also represented Charles Frohman) were B. F. Keith, F. F. Proctor, S. Z. Poli, Percy G. Williams, C. E. Kohl of Chicago, Martin Beck of the Orpheum circuit, Lee Shubert, George B. Cox of Cincinnati, Samuel F. Nixon, representing Nixon & Zimmerman; Al Hayman, John H. Havlin of Stair & Havlin, E. F. Albee, Samuel Scribner, J. J. Murdock, M. C. Anderson, L. Weber, H. Fehr, and H. M. Ziegler.

A resolution was passed empowering the chair to appoint a committee representing various interests to draw up a plan of operation which will be submitted to the entire organization at its next meeting. If agreed upon it will form the basis for a permanent organization. The chairman named this committee: Marc Klaw, E. F. Albee, Lee Shubert, Percy G. Williams, Samuel Scribner, Martin Beck, J. H. Havlin, J. J. Murdock, M. C. Anderson, and H. Fehr.

Probably crazed by the heat of the last few days Robert Turnbull, a prominent operator in suburban real estate, formerly a professional pugilist of some note, shot and killed himself in his home in Borough park, Brooklyn, today.

The grand jury today took up the investigation into the alleged conspiracy to manufacture divorce evidence against Frank Jay Gould. Several of the principal witnesses gave testimony, but the result will not be announced until later.

Probe Conspiracy Charge in Gould Case.

The first witness was Miss Mabel MacCausian, the milliner's apprentice, whose story resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Ben Teal, wife of a theatrical manager; Harry S. Mousley, a private detective, and Miss Julia Fleming, former friend of Mrs. Teal, all of whom are charged with subornation of perjury. Mrs. Teal and Harry Mousley are out on $5,000 bail and today bail was reduced from $5,000 to $2,000 in the case of Miss Fleming, but she was not bailed out. Miss Fleming has made a confession and the district attorney agreed to a reduction in the amount of her bail.

Other witnesses were Blanche Hale, a hairdresser at the Hotel Lincoln, and Miss Marie Falk, a dressmaker. The two witnesses corroborate the charges of Miss MacCauslan, it is said, claiming that they also were asked to swear to false affidavits against Mr. Gould.

Miss Marion Woolman, heiress in her own right to about $150,000, a Vassar college graduate, and daughter of a rich family, will marry S. A. Hewitt, former captain of the Salvation Army at Burlington, N. J., and now transferred to New York, despite the opposition of her parents.

Heiress to Wed Former Salvation Army Captain.

She has been taken away and is now in Sullivan county, N. Y., but her friends say she is bound to marry the Salvationist, and it is only a question of a short time.

After her graduation from Vassar Miss Woolman became deeply interested in the work of the Salvation Army. She even beat the tambourine once to the terrific horror of her relatives.

Capt. Hewitt went to Burlington eight months ago. Their attachment for each other soon was marked. Every means was employed to break up the affair, but Miss Woolman went her own sweet way alone. Two months ago the captain was called to the mission in Brooklyn, and, although denied, it is believed pressure was brought to bear to bring about the desired separation. Some say this frustrated an elopement.

Representatives of the Trunk Line association and the steamer lines of this and other Atlantic ports held a conference here today at which the question of grain rates east of Buffalo was discussed.

Rail and Steamship Men Confer on Grain Rates.

The steamship men protested strongly against the high railroad rate on export grain east from Buffalo as compared with the rates accepted by the railroads from the lake ports to Montreal, which they said was killing the steamship business from New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Baltimore.

They ended with an appeal to the railroad men to adjust the situation by a reduction in the east grain rate. The railroad representatives took the matter under advisement. It is not believed, however, that a reduction will be granted, as the Trunk Line association refused a similar appeal made about two months ago by a special committee of the produce exchange on the ground that important changes could not be made on grain without affecting the rates on other commodities.

Mayor George B. McClellan today announced the names of the men he has asked to serve on the Grover Cleveland memorial committee. The committee is headed by Francis Lynde Stetson and its office will be to arrange for a memorial meeting or other public tribute to the late statesman.

Cleveland Memorial Committee Appointed.

The committee consists of the following: Francis Lynde Stetson, chairman; Lyman Abbott, E. C. Benedict, Joseph P. Bryant, Nicholas Murray Butler, John Cadwalader, John G. Carlisle, Andrew Carnegie, Joseph H. Choate, William F. Coakley, Charles S. Fairchild, John H. Finley, Richard Watson Gilder, George Harvey, W. M. Laffan, John G. Milburn, Frank D. Millet, Paul Morton, Patrick F. McGowan, St. Clair McKelway, Herman A. Metz, De Lancey Nicoll, Adolph S. Ochs, Morgan J. O'Brien, Peter B. Olney, Alton B. Parker, Francis Key Pendleton, Whitelaw Reid, Herman Ridder, Isadore Straus, Edward M. Shepard, William F. Sloane, and Egerton K. Winthrop Jr.

The city authorities made a further incursion into the transportation domain today when it was decided to lease for not more than six months four of the five ferry lines across the East river which threatened to close down because they had become unprofitable through the opening of bridges and tunnels.

City Leases Four Lines of Ferries.

A law will go into effect on Oct. 1 which will enable the city to negotiate for permanent ownership of the East river ferries.

The building department today officially approved the plans for the proposed $10,000,000 sixty-two story office building designed for the Equitable Life Assurance society to replace its present building on Broadway.

Plans for Sixty-two Story Building Approved.

The plans were filed with the department on June 29 last by D. H. Burnham & Co., Chicago architects. The building is designed to cover the Broadway block bounded by Nassau, Pine, and Cedar streets.

Millionaire Who Killed Himself When Rise in Wheat Exposed His Crookedness.

JOHN G. LUND

John G. Lund, millionaire real estate operator and banker of Minneapolis, committed suicide when he found the rise in the price of wheat, in which he had been speculating, would show up his criminality in raising money on fake mortgages.

BANKER SUICIDE TO ESCAPE JAIL.

J. G. Lund, Ruined by Speculation, Reported Involved in Mortgage Frauds.

TWO BANKS ARE CLOSED.

Institutions of Which He Was President Shut Up Pending Examination of Books.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—John G. Lund, the former millionaire and democratic politician who shot himself yesterday, ended his life to escape the disgrace of arrest for a felony.

The two banks of which Lund was president were closed today, the First National of Belle Plaine being closed by order of the controller of the treasury at Washington upon the advice of National Bank Examiner F. O. Hicks, who reported the institution insolvent. The Robbinsdale State bank of this city was closed for three days by State Bank Examiner Schaeffer after a conference with the stockholders, who announced, however, that the doors would reopen Monday.

Girl Employes Involved.

Two girls, employés in Lund's office, are involved by his death. Alberta Logan, his stenographer, it has been discovered, signed mortgage papers for Lund which purport to show that she gave him thousands of dollars in money on mortgages. Lelia Race, another stenographer and clerk, did the same thing, according to the litigants in suits pending against Lund in the Hennepin county courts. It is believed that Lund used these spurious mortgages as security for loans.

Becoming entangle, Lund staked his all, according to his acquaintances, on wheat. He sold short and on Wednesday the market rose 5 cents. By the noon hour Lund had lost thousands of dollars. By 1 o'clock, when the market was closing at an advance of 5 cents, the one-time millionaire knew that he was doomed to death or disgrace. Five minutes before the market closed he ended his life.

Speculated in Real Estate.

For the last four or five years Lund's speculations in real estate were disastrous. Lately he had been speculating in wheat, in a last effort to cover his numerous shortages. Ten suits on promissory notes covered by alleged fictitious mortgages had been brought against him in the last year. Already the lawyers had been getting their heads together to put him in jail. They had been hounding him day after day for weeks and months. One of them was in his office a moment after his suicide.

Lund's was one of the most spectacular careers in the history of the city. His schemes for obtaining money were unique.

Obtained Money on Mortgages.

His principal method, the court records show, was to obtain money on personal notes, secured by worthless mortgages on lands in Minnesota and the Dakotas. His victims live in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and the Dakotas. They are bankers, farmers, widows, and working people.

The Lunds figured prominently in society until Mrs. Lund's death a year ago. The palatial home, once the scene of many brilliant society events, has been vacant since she died.

NATIONAL BODY OF DRUMMERS.

Traveling Men Meet in Milwaukee—Aim to Reduce Expenses by Banding Together.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A committee of nineteen representatives of twelve states, began drafting the constitution for the proposed National Travelers' association tonight. Permanent organization will be effected tomorrow. Two hundred traveling men from all parts of the United States have gathered in Milwaukee. They predict their organization will be "a step upward in the commercial activities of the country" and prove a means of protection to them. They agree that by banding together they will be able to lower hotel rates and reduce railway fares.

Swedish Lutheran Picnic Tomorrow.

Arrangements have been made for the annual Swedish Lutheran national picnic to be held tomorrow at Elliott's park. In the morning several church choirs will join in singing national songs. In the afternoon speeches will be made by the Rev. G. S. Ohslund and G. A. Elliott.

EMPLOYES BACK UP RAILROADS

Declare Revenues Must Be Increased or Wages Will Be Cut.

MEN ORGANIZE FOR FIGHT.

Movement Already Has Members in Thirteen Western States.

While shippers' organizations in all parts of the United States are fighting the railroads tooth and nail in an effort to secure reductions in freight rates or to prevent the putting into effect of porposed increases, thousands of railway employés, fearing that their wages may be reduced unless the companies are permitted to increase their revenues, are planning a vast campaign in the interests of their employers.

Definite ways and means have not yet been decided upon, but the general scope of the plan includes an extensive campaign of education to show that the interests of the public demand that the roads be allowed to increase their earnings. It is also proposed to present their side of the case before the interstate commerce commission and before state railroad commissions whenever an opportunity presents itself.

West Leads in Fight.

The lead in the movement is being taken by the recently organized Nebraska State Railway Employés' Protective association and by the American Protective Association of America, with headquarters at Kansas City, which is now being organized and which already includes members from thirteen western states. Members of the Chicago division of the Order of Railway Conductors have already taken active steps in the matter and representatives of the other railway brotherhoods are taking an interest in the movement, although it has not yet been officially taken up by any of the latter organizations.

The men point out that the expenses of the railroads have been enormously increased during late years, while freight rates have been gradually reduced and that matters have now come to the point where an increase in revenue is imperative if the railroads are to continue to maintain their property in first class condition and make needed extensions and improvements while maintaining the present scale of wages.

Offer Other Arguments.

Another argument is that when the railroads are prosperous the country is prosperous and the consuming power of their employés increased, with consequent benefit to the merchants. After producing figures to show how little effect a 10 per cent advance in freight rates would have on the retail price of the articles involved, they argue that the increased revenue demanded by the roads ought to be divided among the 80,000,000 inhabitants of the country, where the slight per capita increase would be so small as to be almost negligible, rather than among the million and a half of railway employés and approximately 10,000,000 dependent upon them, in the form of a decrease in wages.

A committee composed of members of various railway brotherhoods located in Chicago has issued pamphlets addressed to employés of the Illinois Central and its subsidiary lines quoting from recent addresses on the subject of rate increase made by W. C. Brown, senior vice president of the Rock Island, and urging the recipients to exert their efforts in every way possible in spreading the propaganda of protection to the roads and their employés among the shippers with whom they deal.

Says "Let Railroads Alone."

C. A. Pinney, chief conductor of the Chicago division of the Order of Railway Conductors, who is taking an active part in the movement, said yesterday:

"It is about time that the public let the railroads run their own business. The roads are paying more for everything they use than they formerly did; labor is receiving higher wages and materials have increased in price, and yet freight rates have been steadily going down under the influence of hostile legislation. Something has got to be done about it.

"It is time that the employés join with their employers and do what they can to assist them in getting fair play. Unless the roads are allowed to charge higher rates they have got to reduce our pay, which places the burden on the shoulders of a million and a half men instead of distributing it over the entire country.

Sees Burden on Consumer.

"Any increase in rates is bound to fall upon the consumer in the end. What, then, would be the effect of adding 1 cent to the price of a hundred pounds of flour or seven-tenths of a cent to the cost of a suit of clothes all over the country as compared with that of reducing the consuming capacity of 10,000,000 people? It is time that the railroads were given a fair show and we are going to help it along as much as possible. This is no political move. The employés are acting on their own initiative in looking after their own interests and in demonstrating their loyalty to their employers, whose interests are identical."

DENEEN OR YATES.

Charles S. Deneen entered politics to make money. He had been born and raised in the southern part of Illinois, where the political life of a community is more emphasized than it is in a large city, and at a time when politics was looked to as offering a "career" for young men.

When Deneen came to Chicago to make his start in life he had the traditions of a political family behind him, he had a natural liking and aptitude for the "game," he had some ability as a public speaker—enough to enable him to give a favorable account of himself in a small meeting—and he had surveyed the prospects of the various fields open to a young man and had found politics the most attractive.

It not only fitted his natural bent but it offered money and advancement to those who could win.

He did not try to deceive himself as to his motives in taking the political road. What he wanted was a livelihood and a competence—wealth, if he could get it. His progress was that of any successful man who starts at the bottom in politics. He got control of his precinct, of his district, and of his ward. When he could control his political subdivision, the town of Lake, he was taken into the councils of the leaders and offices were offered him.

He had been sent to the general assembly and had been attorney for the drainage board. He had sufficient political strength now to command better things from the organization. He was offered the county judgeship, and refused it for two reasons, the lesser of which was that he did not consider himself qualified at that time for this office. The greater of the two was that there was not sufficient remuneration to suit his ambitions.

These facts, essentially biographical, are presented as necessary preliminaries to any understanding of the defects or merits of the present candidate for renomination for the office of governor. They show his idea and his method—by organization politics to reach a big paying office.

It is worthy of notice that at no time did Deneen yield to the fascinations of commercial politics. The men with whom he was associated were in control both of the officials who made contracts and of the companies which secured them, but there is no record of Deneen getting his fingers into this bucket of tar, although his pursuit of money was as enthusiastic as theirs.

His opportunity came when he was offered the state's attorneyship. That was a gold mine to the occupant. It was the Eldorado for which Deneen had been hunting. He moved in and took possession.

There is no dispute now that the law which made this office the fortune of its occupant was an offense to public morals, but at the same time it was the law, and the law under which the state's attorneys in the 102 counties of the state were operating.

Deneen grew wealthy in it. He kept within the strict letter of the statute, but everything that it allowed him to take he took. In return he gave an administration of the office so efficient that it made his reputation. His eight years of service not only brought him a quarter of a million dollars but it paved the way to the governorship.

Deneen was covetous of one other thing in addition to money, and that other thing was power. It is to be doubted if he cared much for the honor attached to the governorship, but the power was a fascination. Great wealth, he knew, would give him the supremacy which could command, but even at the rate he had been collecting money he could not be encouraged to hope that he could accumulate it to the degree which meant control. Moreover, his best was for political and not financial power.

It was inevitable that when he became a candidate for governor the methods by which he made his money would be questioned. The issue was raised, answered, and fell flat. He was nominated and elected on his record as state's attorney.

He took office, a man with a prodigious capacity for work and an amazing capacity for detail. His knowledge of men had been gained in eight years of work as a prosecutor of criminals. There was a fallacy that he was a "reformer" and could be expected to take a running jump and land on organization politics and "bossism" wherever it showed its head.

Deneen himself had not been directly responsible for the existence of this fallacy, but he had not discouraged it particularly. His friends and supporters had tied the tag to him, and while he did not wave it about to attract attention he did not take it off.

At the same time every man who knew him or understood him knew that he had been made by organization politics, stood for organization politics, and sincerely was of the opinion that substantial progress was impossible except by organization politics.

He was willing to be a little in advance of his party, but never to oppose it. If it would not follow him he would fall back with the majority and tramp along with it.

Many voters looked for a great smashing of machines and a great slaughter of the bosses. They looked to see the state strewn with the springs, cogs, and inner workings of the political organizations and to see the woods filled with terrified party leaders en route to the inaccessible parts of the earth.

Instead of that they found the councils of the party still made up of these same enemies of the people and Mr. Deneen sitting at the head of the table with all the serenity of a member of the family who proposed to remain as long as he could.

The disappointment following this discovery distorted the judgment of those who had looked for an independent and uncompromising upholder of principles and who found only another type of boss. They became the victims of political astigmatism and could see nothing that Deneen subsequently accomplished as it should be seen.

The governor soon proved that although he worked all the time untiringly he was unconscionably slow, particularly in matters concerning which politicians were in feverish haste. He was cautious to the point of being evasive. He looked all through a question, all around it, and then ten years ahead of it, to figure out everything that possibly could happen at any time in the possible life of that question.

It is true, probably, that he never did a thing in his life on impulse. That gave him a reputation for "coldness." He was found to be the possessor of a temper of considerable explosive power. He had it well in hand, but once in a while it got away from him and contusions of the susceptibilities resulted. He also had courage at times to do things which he must have known would impose a greater penalty in the way of unpopularity than they would bring benefits in increased reputation.

He had been cautious and careful in what he said he would do if he were elected, making a nice and discriminating use of words which did not always fall upon ears which discriminated so nicely. He had promised primary reform, charitable institution reform, and civil service for the state institutions. These were the main things.

He accomplished them all in the first half of his term, but in such a way as to bring him as much criticism as if he had not done them. In the first place he "encroached" on the legislative branch of the government. There was no doubt of the encroachment.

During the Forty-fourth assembly, which filled the first half of the governor's term, the legislators were more or less amenable to threats, promises, and patronage. The Forty-fifth assembly broke, and things which had been secured with comparative ease from the Forty-fourth were wrung from the reluctant and stubborn Forty-fifth or were not secured at all.

In fulfilling the pledges Deneen undoubtedly fell short of public expectation, and yet his performance stands out as a remarkable one, although his organization training made it impossible for him to discard the considerations of petty politics.

He gave the state a primary law which worked so vast an improvement over previous unregulated and uncontrolled conditions that no comparisons could be made. He did it in such a way that instead of getting credit for a reform he was blamed for a failure. The criticism increased when the legislature, in special session necessitated by the invalidating of the first law, worked out a second compromise.

Deneen at this time was opposed to direct primaries. The record is clear on that point. When the second law met the fate of the first he changed front. Political expediency and good judgment both demanded it. Unless he left a primary law on the statute books his administration had failed in its chief purpose and unless he had one under which to seek renomination he was likely to be defeated.

Before he became involved in the bitter struggle with the legislature and his political opponents he was not so anxious for a second term, providing he could go out of office with a record of promises redeemed at least to his own satisfaction. He had, however, been forced to fight or be regarded as thrown from office. To fight successfully he needed primary legislation. It was evident that the only kind of a law which could be passed would be a direct law. Deneen then became the champion of direct primaries.

The conversion was logical if not sincere. Whatever happens to Charles S. Deneen tomorrow his primary law pledge has been kept. The ways were devious and the path rough, and, although Deneen did not always drive in the direction in which he aimed at the start, he always forced the going.

He gave the state a civil service law, but here again the heritage of his organization training asserted itself. The improvement was great but it fell short. The exemptions which politics claimed as necessary were too numerous.

Although he was insistent that the state charitable institutions should have the merit system, his aid was lacking when the equally meritorious issue of giving Cook county the same system was presented. Deneen the politician ruled when the prospect of losing the patronage of the immensely valuable Cook county offices was seen. That patronage keeps the republican organization intact and on its feet. Deneen went with the organization.

He gave the state a consistent policy with regard to its charitable institutions, the first which was broad enough in its scope to concern itself with years to come. He was big enough to see the necessity for this, and he had the good fortune to secure the cooperation of disinterested men big enough to handle the problems. The improvement of the charitable institutions was a real and abiding part of his ambition, and it was his misfortune to run full tilt into an asylum "scandal."

That part of his administration which in after years will reflect most credit upon him is, temporarily, the most embarassing. It is one of the inconsistencies which time rights.

These are the large things of his administration, well done so far as the political heritage of the governor would permit them to be done, far better done than popular idea now gives him credit.

In a hundred lesser things he proved the value which a man of executive ability, clearness of vision, precision in analysis, and stubbornness of purpose—a man with a greed for work and a genuine desire for improvement—can be to his state.

He has played the game of politics unsympathetically. It is an unsympathetic game to his notion, one in which a man swims or sinks. When he sinks there may be mourners, but few take the trouble to drag him out and roll him on a barrel.

Deneen is a man who works without self-advertisement. Full one-half of what he has done for the state has been accomplished without attracting the attention of others than those who have been in position to see the origin of the improvement and its development. A flourish of trumpets is not the inevitable prelude to an undertaking with him, and the racket of a brass band is not its inevitable accompaniment.

For the republicans the choice is between him and Richard Yates. When the latter name is considered the defects which may loom large in Charles S. Deneen fade away. Mr. Yates could make some of them appear as virtues if he were fortunate enough to have them.

The contest is between a man who has the essential qualifications for the office and a man who lacks even the elementary. It is between a man who has proved his desire to be of service to the state and a man who has proved both his disinclination and his inability. It is a contest between an unemotional, clear thinking worker and an emotional, vaporish poser.

To be specific briefly regarding Charles S. Deneen and Richard Yates:

Yates brought the slush fund up to the proportions of a colossal scandal; Deneen abolished it. Yates talked of primary reform and civil service; Deneen secured them. Yates disregarded the injustice of Illinois freight rates; Deneen reduced them. Yates tolerated disorder and worse in the insurance department; Deneen straightened it out. Yates allowed the Chicago state parks to fall into bankruptcy and decay; Deneen rehabilitated them. Yates ignored a dozen absurd abuses in the state government; Deneen corrected them. Yates was the creation of a political ring; Deneen is responsible politically to himself alone so far as one man may stand alone in a political organization.

Deneen is a man of constructive ideas; Yates is a man of destructive tendencies.

Charles S. Deneen is not ideal, but he is not absurd. His enemies may be as numerous as were those of Yates, but the state is not so crowded with apologists. Deneen gives great promise of increased usefulness. Yates gives great promise of increased uselessness. The issue is between the two.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF THE SIXTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

When the work of rehabilitating the west parks was begun with the presidency of Bernard A. Eckhart, on the fat pay roll which was inherited from the Lorimer-Yates board was an item for a bridge tender.

Upon investigation the bridge was found. It was over the west branch of the south branch of the Chicago river, a stream flowing several pints of water and mud to the hour. Water bugs and chips sailed this noble thoroughfare, but nothing else, so the bridge which spanned rusted honorably toward decrepitude.

There was the bridge, but where was the tender? He was on the pay roll, but not on the bridge. So a search for him began and lasted three weeks, off and on. Then he was discovered.

The bridge tender was tending bar.

This is a picturesque episode, but it is important only as a small detail of the system by which the west parks were allowed to run down and the money paid by the citizens was diverted into the pockets of politicians for political services and not for services rendered the parks—for work done in practical politics for Lorimer and his allies and not for work done for the public.

The record of the west parks is only one of the chapters in the record of Billy Lorimer. The bridge and bar tender and his graft was only a paragraph in that chapter—just a serio-comic little paragraph—but when it is considered that there were 299 men out of a total of 618 on the pay rolls of the west parks who were just about as useful employés and just about as necessary as the bridge bar tender the little serio-comic paragraph in one of the chapters of Lorimer's record becomes eloquent.

President Eckhart dismissed the bridge bar tender and the other 298 men who were working for Lorimer and taking pay from the people, and the restoration of the west parks began.

This episode and this chapter of William Lorimer's long career are recalled upon the eve of the first direct primary not because they are more important, or more notorious, or more discreditable than other chapters in his career but because they belong to the history of the west side, took place under the eyes of the people of the Sixth district, and are characteristic of the unscrupulous spoils politics for which Lorimer has been the brazen champion from his obscure political beginning to this day.

On Saturday the republicans of the Sixth district will be free to express themselves on this man and his works. Will they honor themselves by repudiating them? Will they save the state of Illinois from the disgrace of Lorimer in congress? Will they send him into the limbo of gang politicians where in our new and better days so many of his allies and accomplices of the age of public loot have gone before?

FOSS FOR SENATOR.

Congressman Foss' campaign for the United States senate is receiving the unequivocal indorsement and the powerful support of the best class of business and professional men throughout the state. And he is receiving it deservedly. Mr. Foss' record as a congressman has been not merely unexceptionable but most creditable. He has been zealous and capable and his elevation to the senate without any question would be in the interest of the state of Illinois and of its people. There are no sinister or discreditable aspects of his career, and THE TRIBUNE believes his service in the senate would be creditable and public spirited. His position on public questions is sensibly progressive and with some confidence may be relied upon to continue to be expressive of the will of the people.

The vote for him should be decisive.

SNAPP'S DAY OF RECKONING.

The bi-partisan machine of Howard Malcolm Snapp, which runs so smoothly over roads paved with state, federal, and local "jobs," is not only going to pieces on the country roads of Wheatland, as THE TRIBUNE predicted, but it is mired in every part of the Eleventh congressional district.

Adam Clow, the sturdy Will county man, has developed a splendid fighting strength, and as reports now indicate will put Snapp out of political life with a stinging defeat on Saturday.

The feat will be creditable to the intelligence and conscience of the republicans of this district. Snapp should be tolerated no longer. Among the first fruits of the reformed primary should be his defeat.

FOR some time past rumors have been current abroad to the effect that Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, who as commander in chief of all the troops in the metropolitan district of St. Petersburg exercised for a time almost dictatorial powers, no longer enjoyed the confidence and good will of the emperor—in brief, that he was in disgrace. This is true; but the reasons are not wholly political. They are also connected with an extremely unpleasant affair which has been the talk of every salon in the Russian capital.

The fact of the matter is that Gen. Alexander A. Gall, the principal aid de camp and most trusted and influential dignitary of the household of the grand duke, was caught cheating at cards the other day at the Engelish club, the leading institution of the kind in St. Petersburg. The offense was of the most flagrant character, and the general was promptly ejected in the most ignominious fashion from the premises. The general told the story in his own way to the grand duke, conveying, of course, the impression that he was the victim of a conspiracy, and Nicholas Nicholaievitch, who is extremely autocratic, arrogant, and high tempered, summoned Gen. Arapoff, one of the senior governors of the club, and demanded an explanation of the occurrence and a report.

Arapoff, greatly offended by the attitude of the grand duke, replied that the statutes of the club forbade the communication of affairs that had taken place within the precincts of the club to any person not forming part thereof, and that he should consequently decline to give any explanation or to make any report about the matter unless he received the personal and direct orders of the czar, whose will he regarded supreme.

The grand duke thereupon directed Gen. Gall to challenge to a duel the man who had been the first to accuse him of unfair play and to bring a charge of cheating against him. In consequence of this, Gall sent a cartel to Maj. Biskoripski, of one of the cavalry regiments of the guard. Now officers in the Russian army, as likewise in the armies of Germany and Austria, are not permitted to fight any duel until they have submitted the matter to the regimental court of honor and have received the authorization of the latter to fight. The court of honor, presided over by the commander of the regiment, Col. Krossowski, taking into consideration the fact that meanwhile letters had been received from clubs abroad frequented by the general intimating that he had exposed himself there to pronounced suspicions of unfair play, decided that no challenge could be accepted from him until either a specially organized court of honor or a court martial had determined whether or not he was any longer qualified to encounter an officer and a gentleman on the field of honor. This was a perfectly natural conclusion. For the general had been, as mentioned above, caught in the act of cheating, had been ejected from the leading club in St. Petersburg, with considerable violence, and was therefore, according to all the ethics as to honor and of the public prevailing on the continent of Europe, barred from demanding or receiving satisfaction in single combat until cleared of the charges resting on his shoulders.

Grand Duke Nicholas, however, declined to look upon the affair in this light, and, taking advantage of his power as generalissimo of all the military forces of the St. Petersburg district, inflicted a sentence of four weeks' arrest on the colonel of the regiment for obstructing the execution of his orders. Within twenty-four hours this action on his part had been brought to the notice of the czar, who, exceedingly angered and wrought up, gave directions for the immediate release of the colonel, at the same time sending a written communication to the grand duke, intimating his displeasure and disapproval of his conduct. The grand duke at once left St. Petersburg for the south of Russia, and has not since been seen at court.

This affair may be said to have coincided with or to have followed shortly upon the bitter criticisms leveled in the duma by some of its leading members against the obstructive methods of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch in his capacity as president of the committee of national defense. These criticisms, which were voiced in particular by Alexander Goutchkof, one of the most respected members of the national legislature and a supporter of the government, were indorsed by an overwhelming majority of the parliament, and even the minister of war, Gen. Rodiger, was constrained to publicly admit that in certain respects they were justified. In order to show that there was no hostility in the matter against the government or the crown the duma expressed itself willing and ready to vote not only the large sums demanded by the administration for the reorganization and reequipment of the army but to accord an even larger sum than that asked, in order that the work might be well done, stipulating only, however, that Grand Duke Nicholas, as well as his brother Peter, inspector general of the engineer corps, and his cousin, Grand Duke Sergius, inspector general of artillery, should be transferred to some other sphere of usefulness, and that their places should either be left vacant or else filled by officers subject to the authority of the minister of war, instead of disdaining to recognize him.

Grand Duke Nicholas at once telegraphed to the czar demanding that he should at once either dissolve the duma or accept his resignation, and it is understood that this dispatch was followed by messages of similar import from Grand Dukes Peter and Sergius. The answer of the emperor was curt. It was to the effect that he would relieve them of their duties when he saw fit, and not before. Of course this quickly became known, and is regarded at court and in official and political circles throughout Russia as not merely a triumph for Premier Stolypin and his ministerial colleagues, who are endeavoring to educate the people, and especially the bureaucracy, to parliamentary forms of government, but also as an indication that the czar has recovered his independence and has emancipated himself from the reactionary influence of Nicholas Nicholaievitch and of the latter's brother.

Of course neither the first, the second, nor yet the third and present duma have fulfilled the exaggerated expectations formed with regard to them both in Russia and abroad. But each has done better than the last, and the fact that all the ministers have been compelled to face the elective assembly of the nation, and to give some sort of account of their stewardship, and that the emperor and the ministers have tolerated legislative criticism, not to say condemnation, of scions of the reigning house, such as Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, shows a great and astonishing change in the land of the czar, and one which reflects an immense amount of credit upon the emperor and his premier. It has practically closed the door to the appointment of incompetent men as cabinet ministers. For even the bureaucracy, which has fought so bitterly against the inauguration of legislative methods, finds it now to its interest that its policies, its views, and its work should be defended and championed by clever men before the duma rather than by fools.

Nor is Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, now married to Princess Stana of Montenegro, divorced wife of Duke George of Leuchtenberg, the only grand duke who is in disgrace just at present. Grand Duke Andrew, the youngest son of Grand Duke Vladimir and a brother, therefore, of Cyril and of Boris, has just been banished to Irkutsk, in Siberia, to be employed in military duties there until he agrees to abandon his intention of marrying Mlle. Sirischinska, one of the actresses of the Imperial theater at St. Petersburg.

The grand duke, who is 29 years of age, is so infatuated with the girl that he has made her several written offers of marriage, and both his parents and the emperor are afraid that he may follow the example of Grand Duke Michael Michaelaievitch, of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch, and of Grand Duke Cyril, in contracting a religious marriage without the consent of parents or of sovereign. Andrew, who holds the rank of captain of artillery in the army, will be kept under the closest kind of surveillance at Irkutsk until all danger of any such mesalliance is at an end; and it is worthy of note that if he has been banished by the emperor, it is with the full consent and approval of his parents, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Vladimir.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

BY CHARLES S. DENEEN.

THE issue most prominently before the people during my former campaign for the governorship was that concerning the enactment of a primary election law. In my campaign I advocated the enactment of a compulsory primary election law. So strong was popular sentiment upon this subject that upon the submission to the voters of the question of a revision of our primary election system they favored such revision by a majority of nine to one.

The republican platform, furthermore, had declared for the enactment of a compulsory primary law, so that, in the part subsequently taken by me throughout the long legislative struggle for primary legislation, which began immediately after my inauguration and continued almost without cessation until the passage of the present primary law, which went into effect scarcely more than a month ago, I was prompted by a double incentive—to keep faith with the people and to redeem the pledges of the republican party.

In my inaugural message to the general assembly I treated the question of primary election law revision as of first importance, beginning my message with the words, "Our state needs a compulsory primary law," pointing out the evils existing under the old system and suggesting what I considered to be the broad, essential features of an effective primary law. These I deemed to be:

Provisions requiring each political party to hold its primaries in every county and township in the state on the same day; that the day and hours shall be fixed in the statutes; that judges and clerks therefor shall be appointed by the judges of the County court; that the names of all candidates for offices shall be printed on the ballot with squares in front of each, thus giving to the voter an opportunity to designate his choice. In short, that primaries shall be held under the safeguards which surround regular elections.

Notwithstanding the clearly expressed wish of the people, and notwithstanding the pledges made in the platforms of both the great political parties, the task of procuring the enactment of a primary election law proved one of great difficulty. Popular sentiment, party platforms, and the pledges of party candidates seem to have been in advance of the consensus of legislative opinion upon this subject. Nevertheless, after prolonged discussion the first primary election measure was passed by the general assembly in the session of 1905, going into effect on July 1 of that year.

On April 5, 1906, the Supreme court declared this law unconstitutional. Within five minutes of the handing down of the court's decision I issued a proclamation convening the general assembly in extra session five days later to take up the consideration of another primary election measure and addressed to them a special message reiterating the necessity for primary reform.

The question was again taken up by the general assembly and discussion developed the fact that the difficulty of securing legislative agreement upon the details of a primary election measure had grown since the passage of the former law. This was shown clearly by the vote upon the two measures. Whilst on the first bill the vote in the house stood, for the bill, republicans, 84; democrats, 28; against the bill, democrats, 18; prohibitionists, 1; socialists, 1; and in the senate, for the bill, republicans, 40; democrats, 1; against the bill, republicans, 1; democrats, 3; the vote on the second bill stood, in the house, for the bill, republicans, 76; prohibitionists, 1 (77 votes being necessary to passage in the house); against the bill, democrats, 50; republicans, 5; in the senate, for the bill, 37; against the bill, none. Legislative sentiment favorable to the passage of a primary election measure was evidently on the wane.

Such was the situation when, on Oct. 2, 1907, the Supreme court handed down a decision invalidating the second primary election law.

The subject of primary legislation, therefore, was again placed where it had stood at the beginning of the present administration. The pledges of the party were still unredeemed, the popular demand for primary reform was still uncompiled with, and the defects of the old nominating system against which both the people and the parties had protested still remained.

On May 16, preceding the handing down of the Supreme court's decision, the general assembly had adjourned, but in compliance with a special message addressed to them by me on the subject of waterway legislation had agreed to reconvene on Oct. 8 following. Upon their reconvening on the date mentioned, six days after the second primary law had been invalidated, I addressed a special message to the general assembly, and in view of the sweeping character of the court's decision, urged that—

"The general assembly keep in view the necessity of avoiding the imposition of even the slightest limitation upon the power of the people freely and directly to express their views and to have their views control in the nomination of candidates. And to that end I recommend for your consideration the enactment of a direct primary law, with an emergency clause. I furthermore recommend to you that an advisory vote be provided for in relation to the election of United States senators."

Between its reconvening on Oct. 8 and Nov. 26 the general assembly took numerous recesses without having accomplished anything in the way of primary election legislation. On the latter date the general assembly again adjourned, not to reconvene until Jan. 14 following.

I was aware of the failing strength of primary reform sentiment in the general assembly to which allusion has already been made. I also had been informed that steps had been taken by the leaders in some of the smaller counties to hold conventions in the interval between the adjournment and reconvening of the general assembly, and in this way to furnish a plausible reason for deferring the enactment of primary election legislation until after my term of office had expired. In fact, there existed at that time a general opinion that the effort for primary reform would fail.

On the day of the adjournment of the general assembly, therefore, I made arrangement to begin on the Tuesday following the adjournment a speech making itinerary. In this itinerary I visited fifty-three counties before the reconvening of the general assembly on Jan. 14. In all the speeches delivered I made primary reform the keynote of my appeals to the people, feeling this to be necessary if the popular demand for primary reform was not to be defeated through legislative indifference.

On Jan. 14 the general assembly reconvened, and for a third time took up the question of primary reform, and after a discussion even more prolonged than its predecessors the third primary election measure, our present primary law, was enacted.

I have taken the trouble to indicate the course of the primary election struggle because the assertion has been made by my opponents that in my championship of that reform I was insincere. The record is a sufficient answer to this charge. Without being unduly boastful I think it may be said that to my administration is to be ascribed the credit for having maintained a determined effort to keep faith with the people, to redeem the pledges of the party platforms, and to fulfill my own preelection promises in relation to primary election reform.

Some objections have been raised to the course of politics since the first primary election law was enacted. The objections are specious, but not substantial. A studied and prolonged effort has been made especially to misrepresent matters related to the nomination of Mr. John F. Smulski, the present state treasurer, at the state convention held two years ago. Under the law then in effect the names of all candidates appeared on the ballots, and a plurality of the vote in each primary district instructed the delegates elected in that primary district to cast each vote for the candidate receiving a plurality of the votes.

The result was that where there was no active contest a small vote was cast, whilst a large vote was cast where the contests were active. Mr. John F. Smulski of Chicago, Mr. Andrew J. Russell of Jacksonville, and Judge J. E. Mesick of East St. Louis were candidates for the state treasurership. Neither one of these had a majority of the instructed delegates, and the delegates voted as instructed. Mr. Smulski was the only candidate who pledged himself to turn the interest on public funds into the state treasury, and it was considered wise to nominate him.

Two-thirds of the delegates voted for his nomination, and their good judgment was vindicated at the polls, for Mr. Smulski received the largest plurality of any candidate upon a state ticket in the United States at the following election. In nominating Mr. Smulski the law was complied with both in letter and spirit. The complaint made against his nomination is, in substance, that the provisions of a law passed two years later were not applied to the nominations made in that state convention.

My opponent has emphasized even more strongly his complaint against the nomination of the Hon. Lewis Rinaker, county judge of Cook county, and the Hon. Joseph F. Haas, county clerk of Cook county, at the county convention held two years ago. At the primary elections 653 delegates were instructed for Mr. Rinaker, 465 for Col. Alling, and 26 for Mr. G. Fred Rush, the three candidates for the nomination to the county judgeship. In the contest for the nomination as county clerk Mr. Haas had 614 delegates instructed for him, Mr. Badenoch, his opponent, having 525 only. It is true that Col. Alling and Mr. Badenoch each received a plurality over his opponent, Mr. Alling having a vote of 25,531 to Mr. Rinaker's 25,429, and Mr. Badenoch 32,066 to Mr. Haas' 32,057, but under the law then in effect no attention could be paid to this circumstance by the delegates without a violation of the law.

Under the law the majority of the delegates, being instructed for Mr. Rinaker and Mr. Haas, respectively, they were nominated on first ballot. Had the delegates refused to follow their instructions they could have been compelled to do so by a proper proceeding in court. Under no possible construction of the law could the nomination of Col. Alling or Mr. Badenoch have been brought about, and the complaints made regarding the nominations of their opponents amount to a censuring of the delegates because they did not violate the law.

During the last few weeks another charge has been made to the effect that certain men in Chicago are "nullifiers," because they held a conference and recommended my candidacy to the voters. My opponent has made a number of speeches in which he has stated that in the event he is elected he will have an amendment passed to the primary law which will prevent "nullifiers" or anybody else hereafter from holding caucuses. The details of his plan have not been given to the public. This could only be done by providing that where two or more persons gather together and agree to recommend a third person to the suffrages of their fellow citizens it should be held a crime. The mere statement of the proposition is its own refutation.

The primary law was not passed on the theory that fewer caucuses would be held, but that more would be held. And this has been the result. Heretofore a general caucus was held for all officers. In this campaign nearly every candidate has had a caucus of his own friends to promote his own candidacy. Heretofore the caucus was held after the voter had cast his ballot for delegates, and neither the voter nor the delegates knew for whom the delegates would vote until after the holding of the caucus. At present and hereafter the caucus will be held before primary election day, and it will avail nothing unless the widest publicity is given to its recommendations and its judgments are ratified by the action of the voters.

On primary election day, Saturday next, for the first time in the history of the state, the voter may go to the polls peaceably, occupy the voting booth privately (it is a crime for anybody to be with him), mark his ballot secretly (it is a crime for anybody to note how he votes or to put an identification mark on his ballot). If the voter does not choose to reveal how he voted no one can know it, as the present law affords every protection to the secrecy of his ballot.

The amendment to the law proposed by my opponent, even if it were constitutional, would amount to nothing but the prevention of persons from giving each other political advice and information. Such a prohibition would not be tolerated for a moment in any free country. It is neither legal nor sensible.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Criticises the Bar Association.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It appears that the Chicago Bar association held a primary a few days ago for the purpose of selecting a ticket to be voted on at the coming primary election. It will be observed that only members of this association were permitted to vote.

In determining the importance of this election the people should not overlook the fact that the Chicago Bar association represents a small minority of the lawyers practicing in Chicago. There are something like 5,000 lawyers practicing in this city, of whom less than 1,000 belong to the association. I am led to believe that this association of lawyers consists chiefly of the corporation lawyer, members of the Union League club, and the so-called "silk stocking" type of lawyer. Such being the fact, they do not represent the great body of hardworking, dignified practicing attorneys of the Chicago bar.

The question naturally arises, then, "Why should they arrogate unto themselves the authority to tell an ever indulgent public for whom it should vote? Again, it should not be forgotten that in weighing the wisdom of this selection the method of selecting this slate has not been made known to the general public.

I desire to enter my emphatic protest against this conduct of the Chicago Bar association in making public this slate, for the reason that in doing so it has done irreparable damage and an unpardonable injustice to many of Chicago's ablest attorneys who are candidates for judge of the Municipal court. The fact that this slate was prepared is an evidence of utter disregard on the part of the Bar association for the spirit of the primary law, since primarily the primary law reserved the right wholly to the people to select their candidates.

This "facing both ways" conduct of the Bar association members is looked upon with distrust and should receive a severe and stinging rebuke by the voters at the polls on Aug. 8.

Swings from Yates to Deneen.

Pontiac, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Billingsgate, blackguardism, and vituperation hurled against a candidate do the candidate no harm, but bring him friends from the camp of his enemies and tend to solidify his real friends and cause them to stick more firmly and tenaciously for his success than they otherwise would. So the epithets hurled against Deneen by Brundage are having just the opposite effect in this section of the state, from that intended, and it is well for the governor that these tactics be continued in the same vitriolic manner. It has made votes for the governor that he will not need. I was for Yates, but will now vote for Deneen. REPUBLICAN.

EXPERTS IN FOOD PLAN MODEL LAW.

Association of State Officers Rebels Against Present Method of Control.

WANT UNIFORM STATUTE

Convention Backs Dr. Wiley in His Opposition to Recent Governmental Orders.

BY PAUL PIERCE.

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Rebellion of the states against the nation in its present method of food control is the practical significance of today's proceedings of the convention of the association of state and national food and dairy departments.

By a unanimous resolution the convention decided to draft a model food law which all the states would be called on to adopt, and which would contain only such provisions of the national law as the association thinks best adapted to the requirements of the different states, with such added clauses as might be deemed advisable.

It also was decided to draft a uniform state sanitary inspection bill calling for strict sanitary regulations in the food factories of all the states represented.

This action is the outcome of the charges against the secretary of agriculture and the recently appointed referee board to the effect that they were permitting themselves to become parties to a scheme to defeat the ends of pure food legislation and allow chemical preservatives to be inserted in food products.

States Upheld by Wiley.

The states, in their opposition toward the federal methods, appear to be guided by Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, who is in practical control of the convention and who is also the controlling power of the board of food and drug inspection which, up to the time of the appointment of the referee board, was regarded as the most powerful authority in national food control affairs. Hence the states claim the board of food and drug inspection with other national officers as their powerful allies in their war against the reigning national food officers.

The whole controversy, it is believed, grows out of Dr. Wiley's opposition to the recent governmental orders curtailing the powers of the board of food and drug inspection and discontinuing the forming of standards.

The action of the convention in opposing the national law is a radical departure from all its previous proceedings. The association was organized for the purpose of bringing about uniform food laws and regulations and before the national law was enacted it was declared that uniformity was impossible without a national law as a guide. Hence there is much surprise among food men that the association should now decide a code of uniform state laws independent of the national law. And the surprise is increased by the fact that the convention is on record as indorsing the national food law and pledging the states to the adoption of laws in conformity thereto.

Confusion Likely to Result.

Any state food law that is in opposition to the national law cannot help but cause confusion, and the conditions in the different states are so varied that it is believed there are no two states which would adopt the same state food law. However, all states could adopt laws conforming to the national law.

Under the new turn of affairs it is probable the states will no longer observe any standards issued by the government, but will be guided by those put out by the joint food standard commission, composed of members of the association of state and national food and dairy departments and the association of official agricultural chemists.

Vice President Fairbanks addressed the convention today and heaped a shower of compliments upon Dr. Wiley for his fearless and persistent fight on food adulterations. Every time the name of Dr. Wiley was mentioned the convention burst into a storm of applause, showing clearly the great influence wielded by the chemistry bureau chief among the state food officers.

New Officers Elected.

The convention decided to hold its next meeting in Denver and elected the following officers:

President—J. Q. Emery of Wisconsin.

First vice president—H. E. Shuknecht of Illinois.

Secretary—R. M. Allan of Kentucky.

Treasurer—James Foust of Pennsylvania.

REPAIR HOSPITAL ELEVATORS AFTER PATIENT SUFFERS FALL

County Commissioners Order Immediate Overhauling of Defective Apparatus After Report of Accident.

All the old and defective elevators at the Cook County hospital have been overhauled and placed in a safe condition, but it required a dangerous accident the other day to induce these precautions.

The accident, which was only made public yesterday, occurred when a patient, Mrs. Mary Kycdeck, 181 Clybourn place, was being taken to the second floor. The elevator dropped in consequence of a defective valve and the woman sustained a broken leg. Her husband has threatened to sue the county.

She was brought into the institution by the police July 29, her condition being regarded as critical. At that hour the regular elevator men were absent at dinner.

In urgent cases the orderlies have been instructed by Warden Happel to operate the elevators and Orderly James Pierce, having placed the woman on a wheel chair, started the elevator.

He was about to wheel out the woman at the second floor when the elevator began to drop. The orderly pulled the wheel chair back into the elevator just quickly enough to prevent a fatal accident, but the woman fell from the chair, suffering a fracture of the right leg.

Warden Happel and County Commissioner H. Mack, chairman of the committee on public service, investigated the accident and decided new elevators were needed. President William Busse of the county board thought so, too, with the result that immediate repairs were made.

Warden Happel said Pierce was not to blame.

"If the woman had not grasped the door," said he yesterday, "she would not have been injured."

Fall Down Chute Proves Fatal.

Frank Neubauer, 1084 North Hermitage avenue, died late Wednesday night at Alexian Brothers' hospital of injuries suffered when he fell down a coal chute in the Eureka Coal company, 162 Clybourn place. His back was fractured. Neubauer was 37 years old.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Evidently there are to be "features" galore at the Wheaton county fair. The last to be announced is a girls' cavalry guard, an organization of young women which is to go galloping about the fair grounds, meet distinguished visitors, and head processions. The guards are to make themselves generally ornamental.

Recruits for the "guard" now are being mustered into service from the town of Wheaton and the immediate neighborhood, and if reports from the suburb are to be credited there are applicants a-plenty. The uniform of the troop is to be of white linen, with divided skirts, blouses with flowing ties, and jaunty hats, boots, and gloves. The ties, hat bands, belts, boots, and gloves will be crimson. The drill will be divided into the guards of eight girls each and these troops will perform their duties alternately.

An engagement announcement of more than ordinary interest was made yesterday. Mrs. William Borden, 80 Bellevue place, made public the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mary Borden, to George Douglas Turner of Glasgow, Scotland. The announcement comes from Mrs. Borden's chalet at Villars sur Olen, Switzerland, where Mrs. Borden and her daughter are spending the summer and where the wedding will take place on the last day of August.

Chicago friends of Miss Borden—her relatives, in nearly every case, are out of the city—intimate that a delightful little romance has been developing while the Bordens have been in Europe.

Mr. Turner, the groom-to-be, has been during the last six years secretary of the Young Men's Christian association in Lahore, India. Both Mrs. Borden and her daughter are active members of the Fourth Presbyterian church in Chicago, and are deeply interested in religious work. Friends of the family, therefore, are inclined to put two and two together and ascribe to the affair something more than the characteristics of the ordinary love match.

At any rate, Miss Borden's marriage will mean her disappearance from Chicago society. After the wedding she will leave with Mr. Turner for India, where he will continue his work with the Young Men's Christian association.

Dr. Frederick E. Wadhams, 226 Winthrop avenue, announces the engagement of his daughter, Wanda Winifred, to George Russell Giroux of Chicago. The wedding, which will be private, will take place in the early fall.

Mrs. Buena Vista Roife of the Lessing announces the marriage of her daughter, Pearl, to George Hoyt Walton. The wedding took place July 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Moor in Cranford, N. J., the Rev. Charles Edgecomb officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Walton will reside in New York.

The marriage of Miss Mary Celeste Haines, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Aaron W. Haines, 2005 Kenmore avenue, to Gus S. Brown will take place next Wednesday at the bride's residence. The bride's father will perform the ceremony, and only a few relatives and intimate friends of the two families will be present. The couple will be at home after Sept. 15 at Geneseo, Ill.

The bridal party for the wedding of Miss Meise Vanderkloot, daughter of Mrs. Marinus Vanderkloot of Wilmette, and Albert Ebeling Shutz has been completed. Miss Ida Bode will be maid of honor and Miss Nancy Barrett of Wilmette and Miss Marjorie Taylor of Cleveland will be bridesmaids. Edwin Weary of Chicago will act as best man and the ushers will be Elroy Vanderkloot, a brother of the bride-to-be, and Percy Andrews of Evanston. The ceremony will take place on the evening of Sept. 16. After the wedding the young people will leave for an extended wedding trip.

Mrs. Potter Palmer has left the city for a trip through Wisconsin, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Honoré Palmer and their son, Potter Palmer III., Mrs. Palmer's father, H. H. Honoré, and her brothers, H. H. Honoré Jr. and Adrian Honoré. From Wisconsin Mrs. Palmer will go to Hot Springs, Va. The Honoré Palmers will go to Mattapoisett, Mass., where Mrs. Potter Palmer will join them shortly before she sails for France, and the Honorés will return to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Hertz, 628 North Hoyne avenue, and their children, Harriet, Marguerite, and Paul, have sailed from New York for Copenhagen. In Copenhagen Mr. Hertz will consult Prof. Bjerrum, an eminent oculist, and from the Scandinavian peninsula the family will return home by way of Berlin and Hamburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jacoby, 4215 Vincennes avenue, and their daughter, Miss Graziella Jacoby, have taken a cottage at Pium Lake, Wis., where they will spend the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gossard, 5476 East End avenue, are in Colorado Springs. From there they will go within a few days to Steamboat Springs, where they will visit friends.

Dr. Heliodor Schiller, 4706 Woodlawn avenue, has left the city for a vacation trip to Arizona and California.

Mrs. Millie R. Hamburger of Chicago and Miss Hamburger, who have been spending the last year in Paris, have started on an automobile tour through Belgium, Holland, and southern Germany. They will return to Paris on Sept. 1.

Mrs. Sanger Steel of the Lessing and her daughter, Miss Harriet Steel, have gone to Grand Haven, Mich., for a visit of several weeks.

Miss Frances O'Gara, 1817 Lexington street, who is visiting relatives in Bray, County Wicklow, Ireland, will sail for home on Aug. 15.

The Rev. William McIlroy of Ottawa, Canada, is the guest of his brother, Joseph McIlroy, 3356 Rhodes avenue.

Mrs. G. V. Dickinson of Highland Park will entertain at luncheon today.

Mrs. James T. Harahan, 3358 Michigan avenue, and her niece, Miss Martha Harris of Memphis, Tenn., have completed a tour through France, Germany, Austria, and Belgium. They are now in Switzerland and will return to Paris the middle of August.

CHICAGO MEN AND WOMEN HAVE LIVES INSURED FOR MILLIONS.

New York Report That 128 Persons in This City Carry $22,000,000 in Policies Starts Inquiry.

There was some speculation in Chicago yesterday as to who the 128 men and women were who carried $22,000,000 life insurance, as was reported from New York the day before.

H. H. Kohlsaat, it is generally known, has about $1,000,000 life insurance and has carried most of these policies for a number of years. He is credited with having the largest amount of life insurance of any person in the state.

Mrs. Charles Netcher, owner of the Boston store, has policies amounting to $700,000. H. C. Lytton has his life insured for $700,000.

Among a list of policy holders in the Mutual Life aggregating over $2,000,000 are John G. Shedd, David R. Forgan, John G. Scott, Julius Rosenwald, Arthur Meeker, E. P. Ripley, Albert A. Sprague, A. C. Bartlett, Henry Veeder, and W. J. Calhoun. Several of them hold policies in other companies, as in the case of Mr. Kohlsaat, whose policies are distributed among six or seven.

Mrs. A. J. Graham has $75,000 insurance on her life.

Builders and Traders' Exchange Passes Resolution Urging Immediate Improvement of Chicago River.

The Builders and Traders' exchange, with a membership of 400 business men, representing interests in Chicago capitalized for many million dollars, has adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Builders and Traders' exchange that the board of trustees of the sanitary district should devote their energies and resources to the immediate completion of the improvement of the Chicago river from the lake to the head of the sanitary district canal rather than to outlying districts, and that no more bridges be built that do not provide for an unobstructed channel at least 200 feet wide."

The resolution was acted upon by the board of directors at its meeting Wednesday.

Five Governors to Attend Dedication.

Columbus, O., Aug. 6.—Five governors will attend the dedication Sept. 1 of the monument on the site of Fort Meigs, near Toledo. The executives will include Gov. Swanson of Virginia, Gov. Willson of Kentucky, Gov. Hanly of Indiana, Gov. Warner of Michigan, and Gov. Harris of Ohio.

New Chief Disinfector Appointed.

Health Commissioner Evans appointed Dr. Hyman Cohen chief disinfector of the health department to succeed Dr. Charles W. Behm, deceased. Dr. Cohen's name was second on the civil service commission's list of eligibles.

WOMAN CHARGES CONSPIRACY

Mrs. Annie Nolain, Found Dying Christmas, Testifies Today.

ACCUSES HIS FORMER WIFE.

G. Y. Laughlin Says Ruth Barnes Told of Getting Deed to Land.

Mrs. Anne E. Nolain, who has been a patient at St. Bernard's hospital ever since last Christmas night when she was delivered by the police from the clutches of three persons who are now on trial for conspiracy to murder, will take the witness stand today in Judge Windes' court.

She is 62 years old, and when the police broke down the door of her dwelling at 1221 Fifty-ninth street she was in a dying condition.

"I never signed the deed giving away my property," Miss Nolain told Capt. Storen last night when he went to see if she was able to appear in court. "Or if I did I didn't know what I was about."

The property is worth around $8,000. The deed was made out in the name of Ruth B. Barnes, a woman 48 years old, who appears to have been the brains of the alleged conspiracy. The other defendants are Attorney Moses E. Brown, 85 years old, and said to be the oldest practitioner in Chicago, and Austin F. Kelly, a sugar broker.

Brown tottered around the courtroom yesterday taking notes and occasionally telling his attorneys when to object. They didn't pay much attention to him.

Testifies Against Former Wife.

Ruth Barnes, as she's named in the deed, also goes by the name of McLaughlin or plain Laughlin, but the man she claims was her husband testified in the afternoon that she wasn't entitled to that name.

"She's nothing but a clever adventuress," said G. Y. Laughlin, "and has been getting money from me off and on for several years. I don't know what her real name is. She has gone under seven names to my personal knowledge."

Laughlin formerly was passenger agent for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company, but is now a telegraph operator employed by the Chicago and Northwestern road. He says when he first met the woman seven years ago she worked him for passes. Finally they started keeping house without the formality of a marriage. They afterwards separated, but she afterwards pressed him at various times for money—with success.

"She told me one day that if she could show that she was married to me she could marry Kelly. So I let her apply for a divorce and even gave her $75 for alimony and solicitor's fees. But there was no marriage. Not long ago she came to me with a proposition about this deed.

Woman Proposes Remarriage.

"'The deed to this property is made out in my name,' she said. 'If you'll marry me we'll get the money. I'll give Kelly and old Brown the slip and we'll go down east and have a good time.'"

The woman got acquainted with Brown by acting as his amanuensis.

Deeds were introduced in evidence showing that Miss Laughin had obtained several hundred dollars in loans on Miss Nolain's property.

Mrs. W. A. Ferrell testified that when Mrs. Nolain was residing for a time at 285 Chicago avenue, where Brown and the others lived, the victim had told her that she was being starved and that the trio who were taking care of her would give her nothing but whisky. Mrs. Ferrell remonstrated with the Laughlin woman and was told to mind her own business. Soon afterward the trio went to Mrs. Nolain's home, taking the woman with them. A little later a complaint was made to the police.

OLD CITY LANDMARK TO GO.

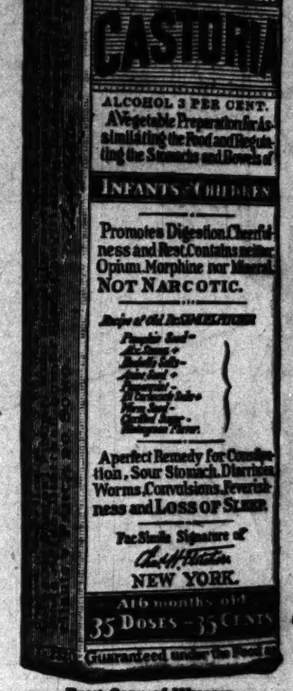

Wreckers Soon Will Tear Down Blackstone House to Make Way for Big Hotel.

Another Chicago residential landmark is to disappear as the work of wrecking the old Blackstone residence at Michigan avenue and Hubbard court to make way for the twenty story Blackstone hotel will begin next Wednesday. Mrs. Blackstone is now engaged in moving from the old home which she has occupied for forty-five years to the Frank O. Lowden residence in Prairie avenue, south of Nineteenth street, which was recently purchased. When she sold the property in 1906 to Otto Young for $500,000, it was agreed that Mrs. Blackstone was to remain in the house until its demolition.

Although known as the Blackstone homestead, it was erected by the late John B. Lyon nearly fifty years ago. Timothy B. Blackstone, about forty-five years ago, paid $60,000 for the property.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

Better late than never, is the revised motto of those determined Sox. The chill gloaming was beginning to gloam in the thirteenth inst. when B. Sullivan and E. Hahn compiled singles with a sacrifice between. The tally thus eked broke a tie and rumpled Boston 2 to 1. Those Sox are keen in long distance combats.

Dr. White, who has been composing thoughts for the magazines, pulsated throughout the entire battle. He would have continued to pulsate until the ham and eggs were cold and the coffee curdled but for Mr. Hahn. It certainly is time that young fellow got his tintype in the paper again along with a life sized portrait of the house in which he was born. Likewise Mr. Davis was a P. F. which is code for potent factor. George wedged into the doings in the ninth and his dust dispersing sprint from first to third on a bunt put a knot in the count and saved the Sox until the bodacious Mr. Hahn could oblige in the thirteenth.

Hungry Hahn Hits Pig's Knuckle.

It so happened that Mr. Cicotte, who pitches the pig's knuckle ball, was effervescing at the time Mr. H. produced his psychological knock. Our right fielder was hungry, and the new style of pitching appealed to his appetite. Otherwise darkness would have delayed the pastime and thrown all hands into the agonies of a double header today. Again we insist that Mr. Hahn's tintype should appear in some of the papers.

Mr. Steele worked the first nine rounds and he looked like a hot ingot to the Sox. Three hits only did the ingot allow and he would have puddled our heroes 1 to 0 had Mr. Wagner behaved himself in the ninth. One single and a double by the prodigious Cravath gave Boston the run in the fourth. After that epoch Dr. White put the lid on and sealed it, and the ingot was going a bit himself. But one of the Sox had infested second base until Davis wedged in to pestle for Purtell in the ninth.

Wagner a Bystander.

Wagner forgot to cover third when Lord raced in for White's bunt behind the Davis single. The Boston shortstopper was doing some bystanding at second base when George shot past him, running with both feet off the ground at the same time. Somebody requested Mr. Wagner to cease bystanding and become an active participant, which he did. Half way to third base he pulled up alongside of Mr. Davis, who was flying straight like a Zeppelin airship with plenty of gas in reserve. They fell neck and neck at the bag, with Mr. Stahl's return throw of the bunt tangled up in the débris. A few moments later, Greenwich time, Mr. Wagner seized Hahn's rap, chucked it wide of the plate, and Davis scooted home with the run that tied.

The Steele ingot was taken off the fire in the tenth to let Mr. Laporte pole for him. That is how the pig's knuckle ball happened to butt in.

Bad as Vapor Float.

For a while the packing house exhibit was as bad as the vapor float that held the Sox to three swats in nine stanzas. McConnell's fielding was of vast help to Steele, as he mowed down a couple of hits. Cicotte fanned three men in succession in the eleventh, but Criger allowed one of them to get away. The lucky athlete was White, third on the list of stricken out in that round. He worked around to third base only to perish on a play at the plate.

White pitched good ball all the way, checking the Beans with seven hits and fanning eight. The doctor passed three men, two of them in the tenth after a wild throw by Davis had put the first batter on third base. A double play lifted the Sox out of this hole and the hostiles ceased to threaten. In the twelfth a thrilling broncho busting act by Mr. Stahl awoke the wrath of the Sox. With one out Stahl rode Mr. Dougherty's neck without the aid of spurs, while Pat bucked to beat the band in an effort to unseat his mount.

Sox Surround "Ump."

Pat and Jake got tangled up on Cicotte's throw, which rolled to the flagpole in right field. Jake jumped for the ball, and came down astride of Pat's neck as he fell over the bag. By the time the broncho shook his rider the sphere was coming back. Dougherty reached second base, when he should have gone to third. The Sox surrounded Mr. Egan and denounced Jake's wild west act in piercing terms. Mr. Egan said if Pat couldn't carry his impost he should be scratched from the race, or words to that effect. Pat would not have scored had he taken third. Business activity first awoke in the fourth. McConnell, first up, singled, and went to second on the infield out of Lord, pitcher to first. Purtell grabbed D. Sullivan's knock, held Mac at second, and heaved Dennis out at first. It happened to be Cravath's day to toil in right field. He came next with a two bagger down the third base line that tallied McConnell. Thoney struck out.

Wagner Nipped Stealing.

One gone in the fifth, Wagner scratched a hit and was nipped stealing. Criger followed with a safety, and Steele whiffed. After two out in the sixth, D. Sullivan singled and stole. Cravath walked. Parent missed Thoney's grounder, but got Sullivan, who overran third base. McConnell's stop of Hahn's drive in the seventh blinked our chances. Jones followed with a hit that would have put Hahn on third. Isbell forced Jones and stole second, but Dougherty fanned. Davis, batting for Purtell, made a hit in the ninth and reached third on White's sacrifice. Wagner's wild heave of Hahn's offering scored Davis. Jones grounded to Stahl and Isbell whacked to short.

Double Play Stops Trouble.

A loose chuck by Davis put Wagner on third with none out in the tenth. Criger walked and was forced by Laporte, batting for Steele. McConnell drew a pass. Lord bumped to White, forcing Wagner at the pan and Sully doubled the hitter at first.

B. Sullivan's safety led the thirteenth and Davis sacrificed. The out of White, short to first, moved Sully to third, and Hahn whaled a single to right, ending the game. Score:

Naps Get New Outfielder.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—The Cleveland American league baseball club today bought Wilbur Goode from the Akron, O., [Ohio and Pennsylvania league] team. Goode is an outfielder with a good record as a batter and base runner.

THE DRY SPELL.

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

The south siders may get an even break with Boston.

Walsh and his parboiled elbow warmed up together at the finish.

Brig. Gen. Jones was due to smile last night for the first time in several days.

B. Sullivan led the third with a single and was doubled at second on Purtell's foul to Criger.

Commodore Anderson, batting for Parent in the eighth, brought Tannehill back into the game.

Dr. Gessler, the prominent sunstroke specialist, resumed his side occupation of coaching at first base.

Wagner gained first on Parent's fumble in the third and tried for third base on a wild pitch, but Sullivan's throw stopped him.

From Aledo, Ill., comes word that Skeets Livingston, an alert Sox fan, is looking them over in that section. He may be a volunteer scout.

A cruel piece of activity by Thoney cooked a hit for White in the third. The blow was ticketed for three bags when Deerfoot raced back and pulled the ball down.

White fanned Thoney three out of five times up with a teasing ball that broke among his ankles. The doctor was going so good he breezed McConnell and D. Sullivan in the thirteenth.

C. D. White, the scorer's friend from Spalding's, was among those present, having dropped in from New York. C. D. is the man who passes out the scoring books with "complimentary" stamped on them.

FOURTH LUCKY FOR BROWNS, WHO BEAT NEW YORK, 3 TO 1.

Three Singles, a Pass, and an Error After Two Are Out Give St. Louis Three Runs.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6.—Three singles, a base on balls, and an error in the fourth inning, after two men were out, gave the local Americans three runs and the third straight game from New York, score 3 to 1. The visitors got their lone tally in the first on two singles and a sacrifice. Score:

TRIMMING FOR "RUBE" FOSTER.

Leland Pitcher "Gets His" at the Hands of Philadelphia Giants, Result Being Eight to Two.

"Rube" Foster received a trimming yesterday, the Philadelphia Giants beating the Leland Giants at Logan Square park by a score of 8 to 2. "Rube" was touched up for twelve hits, healthy drives with one exception, the hardest he has been battered since becoming a member of the Leland Giants. On the other hand, Martin pitched great ball for the visitors, allowing only four scattered hits. The same teams will play this afternoon at Logan Square park. Score:

New Shortstop for Tigers.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—President F. J. Navin of the Detroit American league team today announced the purchase of Shortstop Bush from the Indianapolis American association team. The price is said to have been about $6,000.

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

The Cubs will have to take four straight at New York to regain second place now.

Brown will pitch the Saturday game on account of his supreme steadiness in the face of big crowds.

Doolin made two runs, although at bat only once officially. He was passed once and made one sacrifice.

Tinker robbed Titus of a hit in the eighth of the first game by a fast one hand play on a slow, crooked grounder.

Doolin stole a cinch hit from Hofman in the eighth of the second game by a jumping jack catch with one hand.

The Cubs left for New York at 8 o'clock tonight to be early on the ground for four scrapes with the Giants for second place.

Jack Pfiester will open the series against New York tomorrow. He was not worked in the Philadelphia series to save him for that purpose.

O'Day umpired behind the bat in both games, which is a departure from the usual custom, but a welcome one to the players of both teams.

Evers pulled a liner past first base in the second inning, but it struck seven-eighths of an inch foul and O'Day called it correctly. Jack then flied out.

The Cubs now have won eight and lost five on this trip, with six more to play, and the six that are coming are harder than any that have gone before.

Chance saved Steinfeldt an error in the fourth of the first game by a sparkling one hand catch of a low wide throw, which got a close verdict from the umpire.

The spectators brought large quantities of Fourth of July fireworks and exploded them with and without occasion. Only a month and two days behind is fast for Philadelphia.

Reulbach limped all through the last half of the second game as a result of the blow on the knee from Magee's hit, but will be ready for one of the New York games, it is expected.

Reulbach went into the seventh without issuing a pass. Then, with two out and one on, he passed Titus and Magee, filling the bases, but stabbed Bransfield's hot grounder, retiring the side.

Slagle twice robbed Foxen of safe hits. In the fifth he jumped and pulled down a liner which was going over his head, and in the seventh he tore in and made a brilliant catch of a short fly back of second.

Two were out in the sixth of the second game when Hofman drew his second pass and Evers followed with a long drive over center for two bases. Hofman tried to score on it, but was nailed at the plate, Dooin blocking him off in plucky fashion.

Lucky stabs robbed the Cubs of two hits in the third of the second game. Grant pinched Tinker's high bounder with one hand and threw Joe out. Later Osborne misjudged Reulbach's liner, but saw his mistake just in time to jump and spear the ball with one hand.

Sheckard made a minor league play in the eighth of the first game. He was passed, with one man out, then tried to steal second and was nailed. The Cubs were only five runs behind at the time, and even if Sheckard had stolen successfully it would have been a headless play on his part.

Magee nearly tore a tire off Reulbach in the third of the second game. He smashed a hot one, which hit big Ed's knee and knocked him over. Before he could get up Magee was safe. Reulbach tried to catch him napping at first, but made a low throw, which let the runner to second. There were two out and Bransfield flied.

The horseshoe double playing which Doolin started cut off a Cub run in the second of the first game. Steinfeldt doubled through left center with one out. Howard banged a hot liner straight into Bransfield's hand. Kit made a wild throw to second. Doolin fell flat, but stabbed it with his bare hand, while keeping one heel on the bag, thereby doubling up Steiny.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Chicago's Cubs handed themselves an awful blow in the jaw and made their battle for the 1908 pennant a desperate one the rest of the way by tossing off both games in today's double header with those gay Phillies. The first scoop was given to the home crowd, 7 to 5, and the second one to the same tribe, 5 to 3.

Both games were lost wholly and unquestionably on errors, for all but three of Philadelphia's twelve runs were due to misplays—and one of the three exceptions might have been cut off by a possible double play, the missing of which dumped three tallies over the pan in the fifth round of the first game, practically settling that affair.

Overall, Lundgren, and Reulbach each pitched brilliant enough baseball to deserve victory several times over, and the two big twirlers added to their pitching feats some of the most timely hitting ever seen. Overall batted in two of Chicago's runs in the first game and retired with a perfect batting average after his pals had brought defeat on his unwilling shoulders. Reulbach hit home two of Chicago's three runs in the second game, and was robbed of one hit at that.

Tinker and Steinfeldt Offenders.

Tinker was the most costly offender in the opening game and his pair of boots accounted for that defeat. Steinfeldt was responsible for five tallies in the second game with three wild throws, two of them in the second and one in the sixth inning.

It is not too much to say that the loss of the second game can be attributed directly to Chance's absence.

Despite their wretched fielding the Cubs were not counted out in either game until twenty-seven of their kind were stretched by the heels, dead to the game, in the ninth inning each time. And when the final out was made Chicago had enough men on bases to have tied up the score with a long hit in either battle, while a home run would have won either one.

The contests were started amid aerial surroundings which gave no indication that two could be played. In fact, it was thought doubtful if enough innings could be reeled off in advance of thunder storms, which were wetting other portions of the city to hold the money turned in by the more than 12,000 fans attracted by the bargain day.

Gift Tallies to Phillies.

When the Cubs scored one run in the third round of the first game it looked enough to win if five innings could be completed. But Tinker and Kling handed the Phillies two runs in their half. The Cubs tied this up in their fifth, only to see three more gift tallies sprinting across the plate as the result of Joe Tinker's valiant effort to complete a timely double play which would have blanked the side with the bases full. That settled the first game, although two runs were clouted off Lundgren in the sixth. The Cubs did nothing again until their belated rally in the ninth sent three runs home and waves of shivers up and down the backs of the faithful rooters.

The Cubs also experienced hard luck at bat in the second game, for once they had a runner cut down at the plate in a hair line verdict and again a runner was nailed at third on a long hit by a wonderful relay by Doolin.

This same shortstop played like a fiend all day long, and was responsible for much slaughter among the Cubs. In the first game he pulled off a startling double play, and in both games robbed the Cubs of base hits by his phenomenal stunts. The locals played all round the visitors at all times, in fact, and gave the impression they, and not Chance's men, were world beaters.

Two innings of the first game were reeled off without a run, while a thunder storm was raging downtown. In their third the Cubs grabbed the first run. Tinker started it with a two bagger along the left foul line. Kling sacrificed him to third, and Overall put the Cubs in the lead with the first of his two clean singles, scoring Tinker. Slagle forced "Jeff" and stole second himself, but Sheckard popped out.

In the Phillies' half the Cubs began their weird career, and handed away two runs with two inexcusable errors. Tinker booted Doolin's roller, and Dooin turned that slip into a run with a two base hit into right center. Sparks sacrificed Dooin to third. Grant hit slowly toward third, and Steinfeldt made a brilliant play on it, shooting the ball to the plate in time to nail Dooin, but Kling dropped the ball after touching the runner, and the Phillies were ahead. Kling did not hurry to recover the ball, and let Grant sneak to second, but it mattered not, as the next two skied.

Nothing doing in the fourth, but the Cubs tied things up in their fifth with the help of an error. Howard led with a single to right, and was sacrificed to second by Tinker. Doolin missed an easy one from Kling, then Overall smashed his second single over second, scoring Del. Slagle and Sheckard followed with pop flies.

Weird Antics of Cubs.

This knot did not stay tied for long, and more weird fielding tossed three Phillies over the plate in their half. Overall helped himself into a hole by passing Doolin at the outset. Doolin poled a single into center. Sparks struck out trying to bunt. Grant followed with a single to right, but Howard held Doolin at third. Then, with the bases full and one out, Tinker made a fine grab of Knabe's bounder, touched Grant out on the line, then heaved wildly past first base trying for a double play which would have retired the side runless.

Before Chance returned the ball Doolin and Dooin scored and Knabe was legging it for third. Frank took a shot at him and Steinfeldt muffed the ball in a mixup with the runner, who continued on to the plate with the third run.

Lundgren relieved Overall in the sixth and met a merry reception. One out, Bransfield singled, Osborne tripled over Slagle's head, and Doolin banged out a sacrifice fly, putting over two runs, which eventually proved a winning margin. Lundgren stopped the Phillies there and Sparks held the Cubs from the fifth to the ninth.

Then in their last try Chance's men made the spectators decidedly uneasy by a batting rally which put three runs on the score board in no time. Evers started it with a double, but was run to death on Steinfeldt's grounder. Howard drove a three bagger into left center, scoring Steiney. Tinker walked and stole second. Kling fouled out. Hofman, batting for Lundgren, singled over third, scoring Del and Joe.

Needed Swat Not Forthcoming.

Now a home run would tie the score, and Zimmerman was sent to slug for Slagle. He gained a life on Grant's fumble, and now any long hit would tie. But Sheckard hit to Bransfield for the final out. Score:

Second Chapter of Disaster.

Not a man reached first base off Reulbach or Foxen in the second game until the Phillies' half of the second inning. Magee opened that with a ripping smash against the right field fence for two bags. Bransfield laid down a bunt which Steinfeldt hurled low to first, and Hofman missed it. Magee scored and Kit reached second while Artie was chasing the ball. A wild pitch let Bransfield to third and Osborne scored him with a safe soak to center. There was nobody out yet, so Doolin bunted, and again Steinfeldt threw low to first, giving Mike his life. Osborne kept going for third and Hofman relayed the ball way over Steinfeldt's head, letting the runner home and sending Doolin to second. Another wild pitch put Mike on third, but he was left there when the next two popped out.

In the sixth Philadelphia forged ahead again. Titus led off with a double over Howard's head against the fence and was sacrificed to third. Reulbach struck out Bransfield in this pinch, and when Osborne rolled one to Steinfeldt it ought to have been all over, but Steiny threw so wildly that the ball bounded past Hofman, letting the run score and Osborne reach third. Doolin sent Osborne home with a single, after which the side went out.

The Cubs rallied once more in the ninth, and again had the fans on anxious seats. Evers led off with a single to right. Steinfeldt and Howard flied out, but Tinker stuck in a hit, which drove Evers to third. It was up to Moran, and he poked a bounder to Grant for the third out. Score:

AMATEUR SAILORS RECEIVE PRIZES.

Regatta Week at Lake Geneva Ends with Announcement of Awards.

ALGOMA EARNS HONORS.

Skipper's Trophy to Bullen's Minnewoc II. for Remarkable Speed Average.

Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Corinthians of the Northwestern Regatta association ended their annual events on Lake Geneva today with the final races in classes B and C, and the announcement of the winners. Now a majority of the owners are planning to ship to Oshkosh for the Inland Lakes regatta next week.

Official announcement of the winners in the various classes follow:

Class A—Algoma, O. Y. C., Edward Paine, won; Pats IV., Pistakee Y. C., William Lorimer, second.

Class B—Twenty-three, Lake Buttes des Morts Club, won; Rapid Water, Lake Geneva Y. C., Harold Hough, second.

Class C—Rose, Delavan Lake Y. C., J. Garibaldi and Doe Wah Jack, Pistakee Y. C., L. Lorimer, tied. Rather than sail another race, Lorimer conceded first place.

Skippers' trophy—George Bullen, owner Minnewoc II., Oconomowoc, 7 miles in 34:06, an average per mile of 4:52.

The skippers' trophy was given by Commodore Borden of the Lake Geneva club for the fastest average speed on any leg on any day of the race, and it is the claim of the amateur skippers that this time has been beaten only twice since the evolution of the class A boat. The time, it is claimed, is faster than ever made by an America cup defender.

JUDGES QUESTION DRIVER

Finishes Last with a Horse That Showed Better in Preceding Heats.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—All the seats at the race track were sold by noon today, and then standing room went to a premium. Rain had made the course unfit for use, but some horse plutocrats shipped in with a dozen touring automobiles and soon they were whizzing around the turns and through the stretches with such effect that by 2 o'clock the dust was flying.

The feature was the $5,000 purse for 2:13 pacers, corresponding to the Chamber of Commerce at Detroit, and nine answered the bell. It was plain, however, that Jerry B. was so much the better of the lot there would be little contest, and the hobbled gelding from New Hampshire romped off with the big money in straight heats, the miles being 2:07¼, 2:07, 2:06¼. The only flash of speed was in the first half of the second heat, that being done by Jerry B. and Hal Raven as a pair in 1:01. After that the Bland mare had enough and Jerry came home alone.

Cox, who drove the winner of this race, had another money getter in Sid Axworthy, which landed the 2:17 trot after five heats. The Chicago mare, Queen of Woodcliffe, was the choice, and the way she passed the others in the homestretch in the first heat, winning handily in 2:15¼, made her chances look rosy. But after that she did not do so well.

Driver Before the Judges.

Black Silk, from the Dean stable, led all the way in the second heat, her time being 2:12¾, and Composer, which had been shown when Queen of Woodcliffe won, again took the place. He was there again at the end of the third mile in 2:12½, Sid Axworthy getting to the front that time.

Queen of Woodcliffe was fourth, and at the suggestion of the judges Castle, who is considerably overweight, gave up his mount to Gahagan. The latter celebrated his rise to fame by finishing resolutely last with the Queen, and when the judges asked him about it he said he was just as puzzled as they were.

Sid Axworthy beat Black Silk that time in 2:18, and when they came out for the final struggle Mr. Gahagan and the Queen had found themselves, going away in the lead and never being caught. Time, 2:13¼.

Then the announcer explained to the audience that under the two guesses system of five heats and then figure "where you are at," the judges had doped it out that Sid Axworthy should get the money, although another horse had won as many heats as he had.

The 2:11 trot looked like a fair race, the entries being numerous, until Hamburg Belle trotted in 2:05¾ at Detroit and made the other entrants look foolish with their 2:10 workouts. She was here today, handsome as ever, and took the necessary three heats without an effort, the others having a separate race a few hundred feet in the rear to see which would get second money.

Lets the Belle Out.

In the third mile Andrews let loose of the Belle a little and she stepped it off in 2:05¼, the first half in 1:02¾ and the next quarter in :30¼. The other heats were 2:07¼, 2:09. Octoo beat Locust Jack for second position at the end, and Othello was fourth. Geers and Mochester were distanced in the opening round.

The 2:05 pace had eleven starters, each horse guaranteed to be a crack, but the men who bet would have nothing but Hedgewood Boy and Red Bow, the latter slightly favorite, as she had won at Detroit and Dick McMahon was to drive. But the minute the starter said "go" the two choices were forgotten by the crowd, which saw Alice Pointer tear out in front and take the racetrack all to herself. She passed the quarter in :30¼, the half in 1:00¾, and the three-quarters in 1:30¾. This was a two minute clip, but Alice kept at it. She was a race all by herself until the short distance stand was reached, when Hedgewood Boy, which had worked his way into second place, came along and in a few strides the mare was beaten. Time, 2:03¼.

There was a lot of scoring for the second heat, but when the word finally was given it was Hedgewood Boy all the way. His time by quarters was :30, 1:01, 1:31¾. In the homestretch Red Bow got clear of the others, but never could reach the stallion, which finished with a little to spare in 2:03¾. Alice Pointer broke early and was distanced.

Notes of the Meeting.

The sale of the pacer, Lady Maud C., 2:04¼, full sister to Hedgewood Boy, to Dr. Wyman of Lexington, Ill., was announced today. The price was stated to be $25,000, and the experts are still smiling.

The Buffalo meeting next week has been cut to two days, few of the purses filling. Most of the horsemen going east from here will ship direct to Readville. The western stables will go to Grand Rapids.

LOSES THE STAKES ON A FOUL.

Stamina Is Disqualified at Saratoga in the Alabama, Race Being Awarded to Mayfield.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 6.—John Sanford's Mayfield won the Alabama stakes of $5,000 at Saratoga today, which was run over a muddy track. The victory was due to the disqualification of the favorite, Stamina. Both fillies were extremely tired when they reached the stretch. Stamina bore in on Mayfield, carrying her to the inner rail. No claim was made, but the stewards disqualified the Whitney filly.

Jockey E. Dugan was suspended for the remainder of the meeting and fined $100 for rough riding.

Beckon cut out the early running, followed by Mayfield and Stamina. In the stretch Stamina moved into the lead and drew away, to finish first by one and one-half lengths.

First race, handicap, ¾ mile—Banyah, 99 [Shreve], 12 to 1, won; Fort Johnson, 111 [Shilling], 3 to 1, second; Delirium, 109 [E. Dugan], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:16. Half Sovereign and Ardri ran.

Second race, steeplechase handicap, about 2 miles—St. Nick, 145 [McKinney], 5 to 2, won; Banner, 140 [Davidson], 4 to 1, second; Steelmaker, 132 [T. O'Brien], 7 to 1, third. Time, 4:33 2-5. Canvas and Champs Elysees ran.

Third race, Troy stakes, 2 year olds, 11-16 mile—Obdurate, 104 [Shilling], 5 to 1, won; Fore, 108 [Miller], 2 to 1, second; Harrigan, 117 [Notter], even, third. Time, 1:10 2-5. Von Laer and Clef ran.

Fourth race, Alabama stakes, 3 year old fillies, 1¼ miles—Mayfield, 106 [Shilling], 7 to 1, won; Anonyma, 106 [Notter], 7 to 2, second; Beckon, 116 [McCahey], 8 to 1, third. Time, 2:01. Stamina finished first, disqualified for fouling Mayfield.

Fifth race, 1⅛ miles—Zipango, 106 [Shilling], 4 to 5, won; Crack Shot, 94 [Sweet], 16 to 5, second; Complete, 89 [Lang], 10 to 1, third. Time, 2:50. Lally, D'Arkle and Import ran.

Sixth race, 3 year olds, 1 mile—Regal Royal [Shilling], 7 to 5, won; Tender and True, 105 [Wolke], 20 to 1, second; Frances Ray, 105 [Sweet], 3 to 2, third. Time, 1:47 1-5. Punch and Florence K. ran.

CONTINENTAL IS SECOND.

Trial Over the Elgin-Aurora Course Is the First Ever Held.

Honors in the first demountable rim contest ever held, which took place yesterday over the Elgin-Aurora century course under the auspices of the technical board of the Chicago Motor club, went to the Diamond Rubber company, whose demountable rim, fitted to an Isotta Fraschini car, was placed first by the judges of the contest.

Second place was given to the Continental, fitted to a Packard roadster and entered by the Excelsior Supply company; third went to a Fisk fitted to a Knox and entered by the Fisk Rubber company; fourth to a Fisk fitted to a Chalmers Detroit, while fifth and last place was awarded to a Nadall fitted to a Pierce Arrow and entered by Berne Nadall.

The final examination of the rims, which took place at Riverside, near the end of the century, caused a general reversal of the standing. Up to that place and basing the figures on the actual time consumed in making the changes, the two Fisks were one, two; the Diamond was third, the Continental fourth, and the Nadall fifth. However, the rules called for an examination near the end of the run, with the understanding that if there were any loose nuts on the rims or if any of them had slipped after the road performance it would be necessary to make another adjustment, which would be penalized double time. It was this examination that brought about the change in the standing.

Time for Four Changes.

At the completion of the four changes of rims, which was finished at Elgin, the time of the contestants was as follows: Fisk-Knox, 3:56 3-5; Fisk-Chalmers, Detroit, 4:06 4-5; Diamond-Isotta, 5:12; Continental Packard, 5:16; Nadall-Pierce Arrow, 6:14. This included the actual work in making the changes of the four rims, and the time was considered phenomenal.

But the long run from Elgin to Riverside brought about a loosening of nuts and a slipping of some of the rims, which made extra work necessary at Riverside, and with this time added to the original figures the results as announced by Chairman Beecroft were as follows: Diamond, 5:36 2-5; Continental, 5:48; Fisk-Knox, 5:49 2-5; Fisk-Chalmers, Detroit, 7:35 4-5; Nadall, 7:35 4-5.

Following the announcement of the officials the Fisk people gave notice of their intention to protest the decision, claiming that the Diamond crew used a special tool in making their changes and that the Fisk people had not been given an allowance for putting the tire tool back on the running board of the car, whereas the others had not done this.

The run itself was an enjoyable one and the work of the five crews contesting in the affair showed how easily these demountable rims are applied. The best time for changing one rim was made by Crewdson and Moffitt on the Fisks fitted to the Knox. They changed a right front rim in :58 1-5, taking the rim off in :16.

SPORT AT SPEEDWAY IS GOOD.

Closely Contested Races Keep Harness Horsemen Until Evening at Washington Park Course.

Fast time and close finishes kept the harness horse enthusiasts until nearly 6 o'clock, when the last heat was paced at the Washington park speedway yesterday afternoon. The program opened with an exhibition mile by the only trotter on the card, Prince Charley, owned and driven by R. D. Moreland, which went an easy half in 1:08. Summaries:

BY J. G. DAVIS.

By defeating St. Louis by an inning and thirty-six runs the Chicago Wanderers yesterday took the lead in the cricket tournament at Parkside.

Pittsburg and St. Louis have finished their strings, leaving only the Winnipeg-Wanderers match, which will be played tomorrow. Should the Canadians win they will tie the locals at four points, and a deciding game may be played. A draw will leave them with three points and tied with Pittsburg.

Yesterday's match was the most uninteresting in the tournament, although from a fielding standpoint it was the best. The wicket was inclined to bump a little, and the Missourians did not seem able to keep the ball along the floor, no less than fifteen of the twenty wickets falling by the skyward route. Seven of the Wanderers also were caught, and only five men were bowled during the day.

Campbell a Busy Man.

"Big" Jack Campbell cut quite a swath in the happenings, getting in all nine wickets for 51 runs, making seven catches and just missing two others after desperate jumps, and batting out 38 runs. He was the center of attraction during the tea hour.

Capt. Murray was once more lucky enough to win the toss, but with the exception of Harry Ross the side performed poorly against the twisters of Campbell and the hyphenated attack of G. Manners-Carruthers. The side went out in 71 minutes for 56 runs, the Wanderers giving a fine exhibition in the field.

The Wanderers had 21 minutes of play before the luncheon interval and scored 23. Two were down for 47 when Edwards fell a victim to the two Boer war veterans. Furniss bowled and Edwards hit hard to square leg. It looked good for a boundary, but Overberg, jumping up, knocked the ball in the air and pinched it as it fell. This let in Campbell to join Waller, and the two big batsmen made merry with the bowling from the south end. Waller was missed when he had made 42 by Casterton at mid-on, the chunky fielder not being able to bend quickly enough to get it off his shoelaces.

Campbell finally popped an easy catch to Murray at point. Waller left at 134, caught at mid-off for a finely hit 62. Carruthers fell to the star catch of the day, Willet running far back in the outfield and spearing the ball with one hand. Peter Peel made several of his famous Hibernian boundaries and at 23 he "skidooed." Furniss and Ross were the most effective bowlers.

In the second inning of St. Louis Campbell made a fine catch from a miss hit by Burton, jumping behind the wicket and getting the ball on the second attempt. Eyre and Ross did the best batting. The side was out in one hour and sixteen minutes. Scores:

Crack Pitcher Out of Game.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The Boston Nationals may be deprived of the services of their crack pitcher, Tom McCarthy, for the remainder of the season. With his team four runs in the lead on Tuesday he slid to the rubber in trying to score on a fly to the outfield and fell on his arm. Nothing serious was anticipated, but an examination under the X ray has revealed a slight fracture, and as a result his arm is in splints and he is wearing a sling.

Water Carnival at Lincoln Park.

The Chicago Boat club will open its new clubhouse, now nearly completed, located at Lincoln park, with a Venetian night and water carnival Saturday evening, Aug. 8.

MORE FAST GOLF AT ONWENTSIA.

Younger Brigade Continues Its Great Play in the Mayflower Cup Contest.

Hunter Cousins, Donald Edwards, and D. E. Sawyer Survive the Second Round.

More favorable weather conditions saw a marked improvement in the play for the Mayflower and other cups yesterday at Onwentsia and there were some close battles. Two rounds were played in each of the competitions. So fast was the golf that it took something around 77 to be in the running at all.

That little coterie of Midlothian golfers that has been cutting a wide swath in local circles this year again came well to the front, and the battle for the Mayflower cup will be between Paul Hunter, Robert Hunter, Donald Edwards, with D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton as the fourth man.

Incidental to the low scoring in the match play was a finely made 72 by Charles Evans of Edgewater in the first half of the qualifying round for the La Salle cup. His card was as follows:

Charles Evans Jr., Edgewater—
Out ... 4 3 3 5 4 4 4 4 4—36
In ... 3 4 4 5 4 4 3 3 6—36—72

Sawyer Has Hard Fight.

Sawyer had the hardest battle of the tournament when he was up against Kenneth Edwards in the first round. At the end of the eighteen holes they were even. The nineteenth was halved, as was the twentieth, and it was only at the twenty-first that the Wheaton golfer was able finally to shake off his opponent and win the hole—and with it the match.

J. D. Cady, the Rock Island veteran, gave Paul Hunter a lively chase in the second round of the Mayflower competition and the contest was undecided until the last hole was played. Cady was one up at the turn and going at a fast gait, as he went out in thirty-seven. However, he fell down badly coming in and took forty-one to Hunter's thirty-eight, the Midlothian expert breaking a tie at the seventeenth by taking that hole and, as a result, winning the game, for they halved the last in four.

R. E. Hunter and Albert Seckel also had a close fight in this same round, the former finishing one up in seventy-seven, while the latter took seventy-eight.

Western Champion Mason E. Phelps went down to defeat before Ardo Mitchell of Rock Island, 3 and 2. Phelps was away off in his play, while Mitchell was exceptionally steady. W. I. Howland Jr. of Skokie, the present holder of the Mayflower trophy, was given a bad trimming in the second round by D. E. Sawyer, who won, 6 and 4. In the morning Howland played brilliant golf and defeated Interscholastic Champion Charles Evans by almost as wide a margin as that by which he himself was defeated in the second round.

Match Play Summary.

C. W. Andrews, Onwentsia, defeated R. R. Gilkey, Exmoor, 1 up.
E. A. Mayo, Exmoor, defeated D. H. Cornell, Skokie, 5 and 4.

SECOND ROUND.

Brown defeated Mallory, 3 and 2.
Andrews defeated Mayo, 2 and 1.

The semi-finals in the Mayflower, Solace, Tyro, and Illinois cups will commence this morning at 10 o'clock and the finals for the Lake County cup between A. Seckel and R. Hoagland and Paul and R. E. Hunter will be played in the afternoon. The Benedict cup also is carded for this afternoon.

Golf Play at Ridge.

Miss Ethel Davidson won the Spalding cup at Ridge yesterday, defeating Miss Violet Lee, 1 up in twenty holes. Miss R. Crossman, Miss V. Lee, Mrs. Gotchy, Mrs. Davidson, Miss Wightman, Miss E. Davidson, Miss R. Ioor, and Miss F. Ladd qualified for the Spalding cup.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

Our Paris commissioner sends us the real story of the defeat of our top choice M. W. K. Vanderbilt's Halline in le Prix Blink-Bonny run at le Tremblay. Here it is:

"On préférait Biala et Reyna à Brunette et Bretelle dans le prix Blink-Bonny à tort, puisque ni l'une ni l'autre n'ait été dans les quatre premiers. Au départ Reyna à la corde, Halline et Brunette se sont élancees devant Bretelle et Korrigane* A mi-côte Feyna lâchait pied. Brunette prenait un léger avantage qu'elle gardait jusqu'au poteau, précédant d'une demi-longueur Halline. Korrigane se plaçait troisième devant Bretelle, qui a été bien médiocrement montée."

TYRUS SIGNS A NEW CONTRACT.

Mr. Cobb of Detroit Fame, and Incidentally Some Notoriety, Joins Ranks of Benedicts.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Tyrus Raymond Cobb of the Detroit team of the American league and Miss Charlie Lombard were married today at "The Oaks," the home of the bride's father.

The wedding was followed by a banquet at the Genesta hotel, at which covers were laid for fifty of the intimate friends of the bride and groom. It is said that the banquet cost $20 a plate. The presents came in wagon loads, six loads being taken to the Lombard home yesterday and today. Cobb and his bride left this afternoon for Detroit, where he will resume his occupation.

Miss Lombard is an heiress, her father being worth about $300,000. The couple will visit Japan after the season closes. Cobb had a hard time finding a preacher to perform the ceremony, and he was nervous until Rev. Mr. Walker appeared. Telegrams of congratulations from Gov. Hoke Smith and other prominent men were received by the contracting parties.

PLAYER KELLY REINSTATED?

American Association Executive Committee Takes Action at Meeting Held Here.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the American association, held at the Annex yesterday, Michael J. Kelly practically was reinstated by the association. Five clubs were represented and four cast their votes in favor of clemency. But one of three remaining votes, which President O'Brien has called for by wire, is necessary to complete the case. Either Minneapolis or St. Paul, not represented yesterday, is expected to cast the deciding vote.

Kelly was charged with umpire baiting. He was found guilty by the board of directors and suspended in 1906. The case was a sensational one, involving charges of league politics. Kelly appealed to the national commission, the supreme tribunal in baseball, which refused to consider the case on the ground it was not properly within its jurisdiction.

Prominent citizens of Minneapolis and St. Paul presented petitions in favor of the player's reinstatement. President O'Brien stated that if one more favorable vote was received by wire Kelly would again be in the game by Sunday.

EWRY AND DANIELS CRITICISE CONDUCT OF OLYMPIC GAMES.

New York Athletic Club Athletes Tell of Troubles Encountered by the Americans at London.

New York, Aug. 6.—Criticism of the conduct of the Olympic games in London was freely given today by Ray C. Ewry, the N. Y. A. C. broad jumper, and C. M. Daniels, the swimmer, both of whom arrived on the steamship Adriatic.

"Englishmen treated us well socially," declared Daniels. "In fact, they were anxious to treat us a little too fine for athletes.

"As athletes we were treated 'rotten.' 'Rotten' does not even express the sentiments of the Americans. You over here can't half appreciate the difficulties we encountered. That Marathon was the worst athletic offense possible. The Italian was dragged to his feet and almost carried over the line.

"Of course, the defeats in the endurance runs were a sore thing to the English, but their conduct was inexcusable. We had much better treatment in Athens.

"The English started the unpleasantness and kept it up. We were sorry that they did this, for England is the real home of sports and ought to set a higher standard."

Ewry said: "Our treatment by other nations' representatives was friendly and fair. We can hardly say that for England. After the opening insult to our flag in the stadium we could not feel kindly toward the Englishmen. The tug of war incident was only the beginning of a long line of affronts."

Plans for the reception of the Olympic athletes on Aug. 29 were announced tonight. The celebration will take the form of a parade from Central park down Broadway to the city hall.

Every member of the American team will receive a gold medal, the winners of the various events being specially honored with medals bearing an inscription of their event. Many athletic organizations will take part in the parade.

INJURED IN YACHT EXPLOSION.

C. Tickmeyer and Roy Chandler Hurt While Repairing Defective Tank in Windsit of Columbia Club.

Holland, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Fire caused by an explosion of gasoline vapor nearly destroyed the yacht Windsit of the Columbia Yacht club at Macatawa park about 11 o'clock this morning.

C. Tickmeyer of Chicago was severely burned about the face and arms. Roy Chandler, who was in charge of the yacht, was thrown down and painfully bruised about the back.

The yacht came to Macatawa last week to attend the regatta. A defective tank in the yacht had been giving considerable trouble, and this morning Tickmeyer attempted to install a new one. Escaping gas from the old tank spread through the boat and exploded.

The injured men were rescued by two young men from the Macatawa Bay Yacht club, where they were taken and given medical aid.

The fire was extinguished by the life saving crew. The estimated loss to the boat is $500.

At the Columbia Yacht club it was said Windsit, owned by E. J. Tierney and Albert E. Rehde, was on a cruise, but no particulars of the accident had reached the clubhouse. Mr. Tierney was not on board. The boat is a sailing yacht, and the only way officials could account for an explosion on board was through some defect in the acetylene lighting apparatus or the gasoline cooking range. Windsit is 42 feet on deck, 9 feet 2 inches beam, and draws 6 feet of water.

COULON WINNER; FIGHT IS FARCE.

Champion Finds "Young Joe" Gans a Joke and Referee Stops Bout in Fifth.

NEGRO HASN'T A CHANCE.

Chicago Boy Scores Many Knockdowns in Brief Contest; Deming Stops Smith.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—What was probably the most farcical championship prize fight in the history of the game took place tonight when a sliver of colored flesh calling himself "Young Joe" Gans sought to wrest the 105 pound bantam title away from Johnny Coulon of Chicago. Coulon won hands down.

Not once during four rounds did the negro show he had a right to meet even a third rater, let alone a champion. Although he had a much longer reach and was about a foot taller than Coulon, the negro could not land an effective blow and showed little or no science or strength. Time after time during the four rounds and ten seconds of fighting did "Gans" take the count, only to be knocked down again. Dozens of times he got into a corner and covered himself and let Coulon batter his arms and back.

When the fifth round started Coulon started to finish it. Within ten seconds Gans was down twice and then Referee Cliffe gave Coulon the decision and prevented a knockout. The fans were disgusted with the negro's work.

In the semi-windup between Earl Deming and "Young" Smith of Chicago, 115 pounders, another exhibition of up and downs was seen. In the first round Deming started knocking Smith down and as fast as he could rise he would go down again. This kept on until the bell saved Smith, and a repetition started in the third, when Referee Cliffe stopped it.

Pat Bauler and "Kid" Flannigan of Chicago went four rounds, Bauler getting the decision after both were exhausted. They were to go six rounds.

FANS EXPECT A GREAT BATTLE.

Packey McFarland and Phil Brock Each Confident He Will Put the Other Out Quickly.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—It seems certain that the fight tomorrow night between Packey McFarland and Phil Brock will be the greatest ten rounds of mauling ever pulled off here between lightweights. Each asserts the fight will not go the limit, indicating that they mean business when they promise that the scrap will end just as speedily as is possible.

It is conceded that the two are about as good as the best in the top notch ranks of the lightweight division and that each has attained his prominence in the fight world because of his great punch and generalship.

McFarland has been held as favorite in the betting all along, and there is less betting on the result than ordinarily, because fans are unable to figure definitely which one of them is best at the distance and weights on recent and other form.

It is admitted that neither showed his real form in local fights with Freddie Welsh. This especially is true of Brock, whose fights before and after his scrap with Welsh have been such an improvement over that effort. It is believed he either was not in condition then or did not put up the best fight he knew how.

DEMETRAL RETAINS HIS TITLE.

Greek Wrestling Champion of America Defeats Tony Franks in Match at Brand's Hall.

William Demetral, the Greek wrestling champion of America, successfully defended his title against Tony Franks of Boston in the wind up of the wrestling show held at Brand's hall last night. Franks, because of his weight, gave the champion a hard tussle for the first fall, but Demetral's experience and knowledge of the game enabled him to win in twenty-seven minutes with a crotch and half nelson. Franks took the second fall in nine minutes with a reverse nelson, and Demetral the third fall and the match in five minutes with a crotch and half nelson. In the preliminaries Joe La Salle and Chris Granis wrestled thirty minutes to a draw, and Tony Rooney won his match from John Geanakakas in straight falls. Frank Gotch refereed the main bout.

May Speak for Sir Thomas.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

Glasgow, Aug. 6.—The Herald, in remarking there is a general misconception that Sir Thomas Lipton has challenged for America's cup, points out that negotiations are no further advanced than they were a year ago. It says all that has happened is Sir Thomas' announcement in the press of his willingness to accept unconditionally the New York Yacht club's ultimatum as to the size of the yacht. British yachtsmen are looking to Sir Thomas for a distinct pronouncement within the next week or two that he means to dispatch a challenge on the lines he indicated in June.

SHORT JAUNTS FOR BUSY PEOPLE

If you can't leave town for an extended vacation there are many breathing places within easy reach of the city where there is an abundance of pure air, green trees and the restfulness of the country.

You can leave Chicago in the morning and return in the evening, via the comfortably appointed trains of the or, you can leave on Friday or Saturday, returning on the following Monday morning in ample time for business.

Our illustrated folder, "Short Jaunts for Busy People," contains an accurate map showing hundreds of lakes in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, where there are fishing, boating and bathing, golf, tennis and other outdoor sports, and a list of hotels and boarding houses, conveniently located.

A copy of this folder furnished on application, with full information regarding any trip you may wish to take, at the

Profit Taking and Lull in Outside Buying Weaken Values.

CROP NEWS STILL BULLISH.

Drought in Corn Belt Broken and Prices Decline; Oats Irregular.

The wheat trade marked time yesterday, waiting for the government report for August which will be issued today at 1 o'clock. Profit taking was again heavy, the northwest selling freely, while the local professionals in the absence of aggressive support took a hand in the game and pounded prices throughout the session. Outside trade was much lighter, and as a consequence of the heavy short selling and realizing prices at the close showed losses of 1⅜@1½c. There was no indication that the leading holders had taken profits, Patten being credited with picking up a little more wheat on the downturn, while other leading bulls held their lines intact. Sentiment was not quite so aggressively bullish as on the previous day, and the tenor of some of the reports was a little more reassuring.

Expect Big Cash Demand.

Bulls in wheat who have taken hold for a long pull are banking as much on a big domestic and export cash demand this coming fall as they are on the damage resulting from rust and blight. Premising that the injury to the spring wheat has resulted in a reduction of the spring wheat crop promise to not a great deal more than a year ago, when the yield in the three big northwest states was only a little larger than in the black rust year of 1904, they maintain that this country will be much closer to a home consumption basis than a year ago, when the market was frantically boomed on the short crop.

With the old stocks of wheat probably as nearly wiped out as any time in recent years, the point is made that this country will not have much wheat to spare for export, and that when foreigners become convinced of this European markets will begin to wake up.

Crop Reports More Moderate.

Recent reports have been so sensationally bad that moderate toned advices received from some of the experts were regarded as bearish by contrast. This was the case when it was reported that South Dakota would raise as much as a year ago, and that the three states would make as much wheat as a year ago or a little better, the fact apparently being lost sight of that the 1907 crop of spring wheat, 155,000,000 bu in the three states, according to the government's final figures last year, was only a little larger than the yield in the black rust year of 1904. One estimate forwarded was that the three states this year would have about 160,000,000 bu.

Other reports, while admitting the promise for a bumper yield had gone glimmering, maintained there would be a fair average crop. The South Dakota crop is practically made.

Country Sells More Freely.

The high prices for wheat the last few days have induced more free selling in the country, especially in the southwest, acceptances being liberal. Illinois sold little, but Nebraska offerings were fair. The gulf was said to be outbidding Kansas City in central Kansas by several cents.

Foreigners are watching this market closely, but are not getting excited over the advance. Receipts are expected to increase again in a few days as a result of the more liberal country sales.

The Price Current said winter wheat was turning out conformably with early expectations. Winnipeg receipts continue light, only 25 cars being received compared to 158 cars a year ago. Minneapolis stocks are steadily decreasing, elevator supplies showing a decrease of 325,000 bu for five days. No. 1 northern sold at $1.24, or 20c over the September. Flour prices were boosted to $6.50 for special brands of wheat flour.

Foreign Markets Are Strong.

Liverpool was strong closing 1¼d higher and continental markets showed a firm tone, Paris being 1¼@1¾c higher; Berlin, 1@1½c up; and Antwerp, 1¼c up. A private cable estimated the crop of France with the carry over at about equal to requirements. Argentine shipments were estimated at 2,400,000 bu, compared to 920,000 bu a year ago, suggesting that the higher prices have called forth freer offerings of wheat from South American holders.

Local receipts were 224 cars, with 181 cars expected today. Cash prices were steady relatively with trade slow, elevator interests taking the bulk of the offerings. Cash sales were 15,000 bu, with 25,000 bu reported taken at the seashore. Exports were liberal—367,000 bu wheat and flour.

Drought Broken in Corn Belt.

Rains over night over a large part of the corn area induced a big volume of selling, and the result of the general rush to unload was a break of 1c to 1½c in the new crop months, September losing ⅛c for the day. Rains were quite general in Illinois, Nebraska, Missouri, and Iowa, and moreover temperatures were slightly cooler, making more favorable conditions for growth.

The crop is still in need of more rains, the showers Wednesday night not being considered sufficient on account of the ground being so dry and baked. Advices were to the effect that in some sections the crop is going back, while over a large area is making little headway. The Price Current noted that conditions were not much changed and doubted any serious damage yet. Liverpool closed unchanged. Receipts here were 193 cars, with 130 cars expected tomorrow.

The cash demand was moderate and prices ½c lower with the September, although good sales were reported at high prices near the close. Predictions are for generally clear weather over the belt. Primary receipts were only 253,000 bu, compared to 364,000 bu a year ago. Local cash sales were 235,000 bu.

Oats Are Comparatively Firm.

Oats opened off slightly in sympathy with other grains, but rallied sharply during midsession on active buying credited to the elevator interests, but subsequently lost the greater part of the advance. Resting prices were ⅛c higher for September and ⅛c lower for other months.

Crop news was bullish and thrashing returns from this state in some instances were extremely disappointing. The Price Current said prospects were irregular, but intimated the yield would be larger than a year ago.

Receipts were 212 cars with 223 cars expected today. Western receipts were 472,000 bu compared to 243,000 bu a year ago. Oats from west of the Mississippi are being received and are of fine quality. Cash prices were steady to ½c up with sales of 185,000 bu.

Rye Quiet and Steady.

Rye was quiet and steady. September closed at 76c bid and 78c asked. No. 2 sold free on board at 77½@78c and No. 3 70c. No. 4 was quoted 60@70c. Receipts were 4 cars.

Barley was scarce and met with a good inquiry at strong prices. Malting was quoted 60@65c; mixing, 59@61c, and screenings 45@61c. Receipts were 12 cars.

A decline of 5c at Duluth and improved crop prospects in the northwest caused a break of 4½@5½c in the local flax market. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.30, No. 1 from the northwest, $1.28½, and No. 1 southwestern $1.20. Receipts, none.

Timothy seed was easier. September sold at $3.90; country lots, $3.25@4.00. Clover seed was 25c higher. October closed at $14.25 and cash lots $8.00@17.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

George M. Le Count forwarded the following summary of the Canadian crop to Barrell: "The wheat crop in Canada promises to be large this year. After leaving Winnipeg the crop improves rapidly as you go west. I drove out from Portage la Prairie and found the crop about as good as I have ever seen growing. Some fields stand four feet tall and as thick as a mat. The heads are large and well filled. Most of the crop is in the milk, but some of the fields are in the dough and will be ready for the harvester in a week or ten days. I think the wheat in the vicinity of Portage la Prairie will average 30 bu per acre. The crop is simply immense from Portage la Prairie west until one gets near Saltcoats, where the soil is light and there is evidence of drought, as the crop is spotted and yellow in many places, and the people that I have talked with said the crop would be light there.

"It looks to me as though the wheat there would make 10 or 12 bu per acre. From Basswood west for about thirty miles the crop is mostly oats, and they are the best that I have ever seen. In this vicinity the wheat crop is fine, but no better than at Portage la Prairie, though the farmers here claim the crop will make 30 bu per acre, but I doubt it. There were some reports of black rust at Portage la Prairie, but there was no truth in the reports, for I examined many of the heaviest fields and found no sign of black rust, though there was some red rust. The wheat crop is earlier this season than usual and there is small probability that it will be frosted.

"If nothing happens to the crop Canada will certainly raise a bumper crop this season. The weather is nice and cool—just what the wheat requires for filling. The country is pretty dry, but the wheat is too near maturity to be greatly injured by dry weather."

The advance in futures has brought out more liberal country offerings of wheat, especially in the southwest, where local concerns bought more grain on Wednesday night's bids than they have in several weeks. Considerable wheat was bought in Nebraska also, and it is expected receipts will show a fair increase next week. Prices were relatively on about the same basis as the previous day, No. 2 red 1¾@1½c over the September and No. 2 hard selling at 1½@2c over free on board. Export orders were generally too far out of line to permit any business being worked on the break, although the seaboard reported a few loads taken. Millers are buying the bulk of their supplies in their own territory, and the inquiry for domestic account is slow. Cash men generally are not taking as bullish a view of the situation as was the case a few days ago on account of the rapid rise, which has shut off the demand and also started considerable wheat this way. Southwestern markets were steady relatively, following the futures. No. 1 northern sold up to $1.24 at Minneapolis, which is abnormally high. Corn offerings were not large, but there was not much demand here, and prices were ½c off in sympathy with the September. Cash oats gained ½c owing to the marked strength in the September. Most of the oats are now coming in on consignment. Local sales were 15,000 bu wheat, 235,000 bu corn, and 185,000 bu oats. Seaboard sales were 24,000 bu.

O. K. Lyle wired S. B. Chapin: "From information obtained here I thought it advisable to return to North Dakota and look at the situation that appears to have greatly changed from the heat since I left to enter South Dakota to look into the ravages by rust. I am going to Casselton, N. D., and will be on the Dalrymple farm in the morning. So far as I can determine, the rust is a secondary feature. The heat appears to have blighted the grain, and it is important to ascertain the damage it has made in the Red River valley. Therein lies the abundance, if abundance there be, in the northwest. I am sure South Dakota is now secure, for all is cut except so little it will not affect the estimate. I made it conservatively. Think this state, Minnesota, will make 60,000,000 bu. It is not all good, but my figures take that into account.

"Enough bull thunder here to make one think we are in a calamity. It is not so bad as that, or North Dakota has changed far more than I believe. Will soon know and report." Lyle previously wired that South Dakota wheat crop was now made, and estimated the yield at about 34,000,000 bu. His estimate for the three states is about 160,000,000 bu. The government last month estimated the crop of the three states at 216,000,000 bu.

B. W. Snow, who has been making a thorough canvass of the northwestern situation, says, at the best, the yield this year will not be more than 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 bu more than a year ago, when the total crop in the three states was 155,000,000 bu, or only slightly larger than in 1904, the celebrated black rust season. In that year, when the trade was exceedingly alarmed and supplies were light and of poor quality in the northwest, the total crop in the Dakotas and Minnesota was 153,593,000 bu. Lyle, the New York crop expert, who is now in the southwest, estimates the yield of Minnesota at 60,000,000 bu, South Dakota at 34,000,000 bu, and North Dakota at about 66,000,000 bu, or a total for the three states at 160,000,000 bu. This is only slightly above last year's outturn, and if confirmed would indicate a bullish situation when the light supplies of old wheat in the northwest are taken into consideration.

"As the situation in the spring wheat belt becomes fully appreciated a further enhancement of values will follow," said Bartlett-Patten. "The news from that section is all bullish, going to confirm the conclusions already reached. The results of dry, hot weather are generally admitted and leading newspapers in South Dakota acknowledge impairment from black rust. The Northwestern Miller comments bullishly on the situation, but gives no figures as yet. The best information we have is to the effect that the Canadian crop is going back every day. No. 1 northern at Minneapolis was $1.24 bid, or about 20c over the September. The southwest looks for a lighter movement. Europe is following slowly, as is to be expected, but as the trade abroad learns this is a misfortune and not a scare prices will be brought into line with us, as Europe needs what little we have to spare. This country has only the new crop, as virtually nothing was carried over from the last one."

A bullish government report on spring wheat is expected today at 1 o'clock if private reports are to be relied upon, although it is admitted that much of the heat and rust damage in the Dakotas has been done since the government's correspondents forwarded their reports. A month ago the condition of spring wheat was estimated at 89.4, indicating a yield of 216,000,000 bu in the three states. This suggested yield has been cut down radically according to all private experts, and there is much doubt whether the actual returns will exceed those of last year or not.

"Selling of corn was general at the start, but on the break commission houses bought freely. Lamson, Wagner, and Marfield sold oats early, but later there was a big buying credited to the elevator interests, which caused a sharp upturn. Chapin and Bartlett-Patten bought May. Schwarz was a big seller of January hog products, supposed to be for Armour, while Hately and packers bought the nearby stuff, the Hately buying being credited to foreign account.

Oats receivers here say they have not bought more than 10 per cent as many oats this year as at this time in 1907. Most of the country dealers are consigning oats in preference to accepting bids, as the spot market here has ruled about 1@1½c over the bids sent into the country. Quite a few oats from west of the Mississippi were received yesterday, and advices from there indicate a good crop, while the grading of the first receipts shows a fine quality.

Trade in wheat was not nearly as broad as on the previous day, and local professionals took a hand in wiping out much of the gain scored the previous day, and succeeded fairly well. Support was not aggressive. Commission houses took the wheat on the breaks, and Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, Love, Peavey, Daggett, and Pringle were the leading sellers. Bartlett-Patten were on both sides, but Patten was credited with buying quite a little September.

Extremely bad reports are coming from the central part of this state on oats and reliable reports indicated that the present situation comes closer to being a crop calamity, so far as this grain is concerned, than the state has ever known before. Drought and the lack of vitality in the seed last spring have been the chief factors, and thrashing returns coming in indicate the poor yields of a year ago will be duplicated.

The condition of oats is expected to show a sharp falling off. Thrashing returns indicate disappointment in many sections, and drought in the middle west and in the northwest has reduced the promise to a large extent. The condition July 1 was reported by the government at 85.7, suggesting a crop of 976,000,000 bu, compared to a final return in 1907 of 754,000,000 bu.

The August government report on corn is not expected to show much change in condition from a month ago, although the drought has doubtless lowered the promise to some extent. A month ago it was given at 82.8, suggesting a yield of 2,676,000,000 bu. The final a year ago was 2,592,000,000 bu. Snow estimated the present promise at about 2,850,000,000 bu.

The Price Current said there was not much change in the condition of corn, but that oats were exceedingly irregular, with the ultimate outcome impossible to forecast. Rain is much needed for corn, but only a few sections were said to be actually suffering. Winter wheat turning out according to expectations. Hog packing for the week at western points 365,000, against 500,000 a year ago.

The total winter wheat crop is expected to show about 420,000,000 bu. A year ago the government made the final yield 409,500,000 bu. The Pacific coast wheat crop is much less than a year ago, and all the figures so far in hand indicate that the total wheat yield of the country will not be much greater than a year ago.

A long distance telephone message from Ranson, Ill., on the Santa Fe, to Lowell-Hoit said one farmer had just thrashed out the oats from a field of forty acres and had a total of 280 bu, or just 7 bu to the acre. Other reports, while not all as bad as this, were disappointing in the extreme.

Broomhall cabled: "A report from Thessally states that there is a strong demand for foreign grain, which indicates that the wheat crop is worse than anticipated. Latest reports from Spain state that some estimates on wheat crop are being raised sharply."

The Winnipeg wheat market was up more than 2c at one time, due to the calling of heavy margins of a leading firm there which was short. The railroad strike and bad crop reports also were factors in the upturn, which was not maintained in full.

A Russian cable said: "Arrivals from the southwest are small and prices high. In the east the wheat harvest is not so bad as anticipated. In the Don territory and Ekaterinostav the weather is hot and foggy and crop conditions are bad."

McKenna-Rodgers had a message from Hoyt dated Grand Forks which said wheat around there was fair but spotted, oats poor, and barley medium. Around Rugby, he said, conditions indicated a better crop than last year.

A car of new spring wheat was received here yesterday from Iowa. It inspected no grade on account of being heated and sold at $1.08. Last year the first car was received on Aug. 17, inspected No. 3 and sold at 92c.

A Winnipeg message to W. S. Crosby said the first car of new wheat had been received there. It graded No. 1 northern of good quality, and went about 18 bu to the acre. It was from Rockwell, Man.

Lake had a Minneapolis message saying three grain men there had just returned from South Dakota and stated the spring wheat in that state would not average more than 7 bu to the acre.

Inglis wired Pringle-Fitch from Grand Forks, N. D., that wheat in Pembina, Walsh, and Grand Forks counties, all big wheat sections, continued poor, with the average under 10 bu.

Sales on the call were: Corn—No. 3 yellow, 10 days, 7,500 bu at 79½c Illinois proportional; No. 3, 30 days, 1,500 bu at 77c Illinois proportional; No. 3 yellow, 30 days, 4,000 bu at 79c Illinois proportional.

Slaughter had a Paris cable estimating the French wheat crop at 300,000,000 bu, or about 24,000,000 bu more than estimated by Broomhall's correspondent.

Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 2,400,000 bu wheat and 2,400,000 bu corn. Actual shipments a year ago were 920,000 bu wheat and 1,610,00 bu corn.

A message from Whallon-Case of Minneapolis said reports from their agents still indicated a good general crop in the northwestern country.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 181 cars; corn, 130 cars; oats, 223 cars; rye, 8 cars; barley, 29 cars; hogs, 17,000.

C. E. Gifford had a message from Valley City, saying the wheat crop in that section was the best ever raised.

Kansas City wired that 8c over Kansas City basis was being bid by Galveston for wheat in central Kansas.

An Oakes (N. D.) message to W. P. Anderson said all hard wheat in that section was as poor as in 1904.

Winnipeg receipts of wheat for the day were 26 cars, compared to 158 cars a year ago.

Kansas City reported 75,000 bu cash wheat sold to come to Chicago.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 325,000 bu for five days.

Charters were made for 150,000 bu corn to Buffalo at ¾c.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Cattle trade was devoid of new developments. It was another day on which good to choice native steers met with favor in buyers' eyes and sold at strong to a shade higher prices, while the medium grades of steers held steady and the inferior kinds had to be peddled and cheapened before they could be disposed of. The percentage of really desirable steers was small, and this was one of the principal factors in sustaining values. Best steers sold at $7.65, which was considered a strong price. Included in the arrivals were 2,000 rangers and 1,000 Texas cattle, the bulk of which sold at steady values, although it was extremely difficult to get action on the less desirable grades. Butcher stock values held generally unchanged, and calves were called stronger, with a top at $7.50. Shippers paid 5@15c higher for nearly all the good hogs on the market, while packers took care of all the mixed grades at that much advance. The trade was brisk and the clearance most satisfactory, it being estimated that not more than 2,600 hogs would be left in the pens at the close. The average prices for the day showed 14c gain, although the quality of the hogs was not as good as on the previous day, standing at $6.75, against $6.61 Wednesday and $6.32½ a week ago. Lamb trade was in a demoralized condition, and prices were anywhere from 10@40c lower than on the previous day. It was almost impossible to get buyers interested in the offerings and several loads were left without bids at the close. Sheep sympathized with lambs and sold at a decline of from 15c to 25c, although receipts were not much larger than had been expected, and sellers had been enabled to hold them fairly steady up to today.

CATTLE.

There was no snap to the trade, and, although firm prices were available for strictly desirable strongweight steers, the percentage of such stock included in the receipts of 7,000 was so small that it cut comparatively little figure in the general trade. Taken altogether, it was an unsatisfactory deal, with sellers forced to do a great deal of peddling to secure steady values for steers selling at from $5.00 to $6.00, while for such stock as was held at from $4.50 to $5.00 it depended largely on how badly the buyer wanted the offerings before sales could be transacted.

Common to fair greasy steers sold at around $4.00@4.65, and it required good quality in corn fed steers to bring $6.00@7.00, although there were sales at from $7.10 to $7.35 and up to $7.65. Strictly desirable yearlings sold at from $6.70 to $6.85. Western range cattle met with an indifferent demand at prices that were steady to a shade lower. Most sales of range steers were negotiated at from $4.35 to $4.65, while a lot of good Montanas brought $5.10.

About 40 loads of Texas cattle were received, 30 loads of which came direct to packers, while of the 10 loads on the market 9 loads sold at $4.65, while the tailenders were disposed of at $3.90. Shippers paid steady to strong prices for a few loads of desirable native cows and heifers, but local packers were indifferent buyers in the butcher stock market and refused to pay better than steady values. Best cows sold at from $3.50 to $4.75, while heifers of good to choice quality made $3.75@5.40, with cows and heifers mostly at from $2.50 to $3.45. Bulls were 10c lower, with good bolognas at from $2.90 to $3.00. Desirable calves sold at from $7.00 to $7.25. Quotations:

Cattle at six western markets, 23,300, against 15,800 a week ago, 20,600 a year ago, and 18,300 two years ago. Total for 1908 to date, 4,295,000, against 5,021,000 the same period in 1907.

HOGS.

Receipts of 19,000 were about as expected, outside orders were fairly liberal, and shippers and packers were active buyers from the start, paying 5@15c higher than on Wednesday for all their hogs. Shippers made up their droves of choice medium and strongweight butchers at from $6.90 to $7.00 and paid $6.80@6.90 for choice lights and lightweight butcher hogs. Packers bought their mixed swine at from $6.55 to $6.70, paying up to $6.65@6.70 for strongweight packing grades.

The quality of the hogs was fairly good, and the range in prices narrowed down to a much smaller margin. At the prices all classes of buyers wanted hogs, trade was brisk, and the market closed strong, with all the good hogs closely cleaned up. Strongweight pigs met with an active demand at from $6.00 to $6.25, while the lightweights were disposed of at from $5.00 to $5.50. Good fat rough packing hogs sold fairly well at from $6.25 to $6.40, but there was no demand for the thin, grassy kinds, although receipts of these were greatly reduced, it being evident that the country shippers have lost enough money on such mixed grassy hogs to make them wary of such offerings.

Shippers bought the bulk of the strictly choice hogs on the market, while packers did not care to come into direct competition with shippers and confined their operations largely to the mixed droves. How well they did this was illustrated by the way prices of mixed hogs continued to keep close to the level paid for the selected lots, killers showing little reluctance in paying $6.65@6.70 for mixed swine, although they did not care to put up $6.90@7.00 for selected butchers. Quotations:

SHEEP.

Of primary importance in the live mutton trade were the receipts of 17,000, which brought the increase in arrivals so far this week up to nearly 19,000. Packers said that the heavy receipts of previous days had enabled them to get all the sheep and lambs they needed, and consequently they came out bidding most unsatisfactory prices for the day's offerings. Sellers saw the uselessness of opposing packers, as a glance at the shipments for the week showed that the outside demand was an unimportant factor, shippers having taken but few more sheep and lambs than a week ago in the face of the sharp increase in supplies.

This was discouraging enough for most of the traders, but a few held back in the hope that the market might rally a little, and there was one instance of a seller holding back a string of range lambs until late in the afternoon, although he was finally forced to accept $6.40 for them, a price which he was bid during the early morning trade. The market simply was without backbone and killers secured nearly everything they wanted at their own prices. Native lambs reached $6.50, but this was obtained for only one small string and was entirely out of line with the general market.

Other strictly choice lambkins sold at from $6.00@6.35, with only 77 head at the latter figure, while large droves of desirable killers were disposed of at from $5.50@5.75. Native ewes had to be strictly fine to bring $4.00, although a couple small loads were sent over the scales at from $4.15@4.25. Native wethers sold at $4.15, while rangers brought $4.25. Oregon ewes sold at $3.85. Breeding ewes made $4.75@5.00. Native yearlings ranged at from $4.00@4.90, with westerns at $4.40. Quotations:

Fed western wethers	$4.00@4.50

Receipts for Aug. 7 were estimated at 3,000 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 1,577 cattle, 9,569 hogs, and 9,149 sheep for Friday, Aug. 9, 1907.

STOCKYARD GOSSIP.

Aside from having a restrictive influence on the consumption of beef products cattle traders were beginning to fear that the hot weather would develop into another and more disastrous factor in the cattle trade. The present object of apprehension is the probable condition of the pastures in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, and Michigan as a result of the drought and long spell of extreme heat.

Outside shippers who came in with their stock said that much of the grass had been burned up and that the general situation was beginning to look decidedly serious. Continued droughty conditions are likely to result in an avalanche of cattle from nearby districts marketward, and if this should happen it is difficult to say how low prices will go.

According to shippers here from the threatened districts pastures are fast approaching a state where there is as much dust where the grass used to grow as there is in the middle of the road, and if present conditions continue it will not be long before farmers open their gates and let stock flock in here without stint and regardless of the condition of the market. Commission men in sending market advice to their country customers told them to keep close watch on developments throughout the corn belt, saying that the weather will cut a more important figure in the cattle market than at any time during the last few years.

Good to choice strong weight native steers have sold at steady to strong prices every day they were here, and show little change from the level of values in force a week ago, although the commoner grades are 15@25c off from last week's closing level. The steers which held their value were of the grade which brought $7.00 or more, and as the percentage of such stock included in the daily arrivals was exceedingly small they cut little figure in the general trade.

It has been a week of great dissatisfaction to traders and country shippers; still the outlook does not seem exceptionally bright, and the time may come when the values attained this week will look high. Sellers have had much to contend with, but unless weather conditions improve and the demand for beef grows more active still lower values may yet be seen, as packers' purchases the last month have exceeded their requirements and they have stocked up their coolers, while it is generally expected that the movement from the ranges will show material increase in the near future.

While packers are having their own way in the cattle and sheep trade, it is easily discernible that the hog situation is causing them much worry. A well posted trader in discussing this phase of the situation said: "Packers' buyers tell me that they receive their orders from the house to buy only mixed hogs. They are paying $6.65@6.70 for this grade of stock, while they could get the selected butchers at around $6.90@7.00. The latter grade of hogs are so much better than the mixed swine that this difference in prices could be more than made up in the killing.

"Now, why do packers insist on buying mixed hogs? There is only one solution, and that is: They want to keep from coming into direct competition with shippers, because they are afraid that in doing so they would send prices of prime hogs up to unprecedented levels. Their liberal buying of mixed hogs has brought one good result, however, in that it is keeping this grade of stock at a level much higher than usual, with the best butcher grades at only 25@30c premium."

Hogs carried over from Wednesday's market were officially counted at 5,038.

Tom English, with Moog & Greenwald, prominent cattle shippers and exporters, announced to his many friends in the trade that his wife had presented him with a small edition of himself Wednesday night.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

A continued brisk demand for meats, with a moderate improvement in hog values, offset the bearish effect of lower grain prices and worked for a strong and higher market for provisions. Trade was not large, but aside from little selling of January product credited to a leading packer there was not a great deal of pressure.

Shippers were fair buyers of product and some of the packers bought moderate lines of nearby stuff, but the outside trade was light, the great activity in grains detracting from the speculative interest in hog products. Hog receipts were under estimates at 19,000 with 17,000 expected today. Prices at the yards were a shade firmer. Gossip at the yards was to the effect receipts would be light for the next few weeks.

Receipts at the principal western packing centers were 67,700, against 56,700 a year ago. Hog packing for the west was estimated by the Price Current at 365,000, against 500,000 for the corresponding week last year. Liverpool quotations were 6d higher for hams and bacon. Shipments of cash stuff were light, only 68 cars.

Chicago Horse Market.

Buying of commercial chunks by a representative of a local packing plant, the placing of orders for classified horses by an eastern trader, and purchases of medium grade drivers on southern account and for cavalry service, furnished new outlets for horse receipts, but only the better grades of offerings were wanted by these dealers, while the in between and common grades were neglected at prices which were at the bottom for the season.

Business was far from brisk, and even the choice horses sold at prices not much better than country cost. Big draft horses of good quality sold at from $170.00@190.00, with choice offerings up to $220.00. Medium weight classes were favored by buyers and sold fairly well, at from $150.00@190.00, and higher. Drivers were taken at from $150.00@330.00, with most southern orders filled at from $110.00@140.00. Feeders of good quality brought $160.00@215.00; actors and coachers, $130.00@300.00; carriage pairs, $325.00@675.00. Receipts were estimated at 150.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

EGGS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Prices for firsts were advanced 1c and for extras ½c. Graded lots continue scarce and the demand for this kind is active. Receipts were 9,3[illegible] cases. Prices:

Prime firsts	20c	Do dirties	10@12½c
Do firsts	18½c	Do extra, 50 per cent fresh	23c
Do ordinary firsts	16½c

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—EGGS—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 14,324 cases. Eggs in Philadelphia—Firm, good demand; Pennsylvania and other nearby firsts, f. c., 21c at mark; do do, current receipts, in returnable cases, 20c at mark; western firsts, f. c., 21c at mark; do current receipts, f. c., 20c at mark.

BUTTER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Extras in creameries were advanced 1c. Higher outside markets and continued light receipts were factors. There also was a better inquiry in evidence. Receipts were 7,307 tubs. Prices:

Dairies, extras	19c	Do firsts	16c
Creamery, extras	21c	Do seconds	15c
Extra firsts	19½c	Packing stock	16@16½c

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—BUTTER—Firm; receipts, 5,582 pkgs. Creamery special, 22½@23½c; extras, 22@22½c; third to first, 18@21½c; state dairy, common to finest, 18@21c; process, common to special, 18@21c. Butter in Philadelphia—Steady, fair demand; extra western creamery, 24c; do, nearby prints, 25c.

CHEESE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Prices are firmly held. There is a good inquiry for American makes. Supplies are moderate. Quotations:

Western twins	11¾@12c	Long Horns	12¾@13c
Young Amer	12¼@13c	Swiss block	11½c

POULTRY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Market is unsettled. Receipts are running fairly liberal and buyers are cutting down their requirements to the lowest possible point in hopes of forcing a break. Prices showed no change. Quotations:

Live chickens	11½c	Do turkeys	20c
Do spring	10@13c	Do ducks	9@12c
Do turkeys	14c	Squabs, dressed, per doz	$2.00@3.00

VEGETABLES.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Trade was slow. It was the grocers and butchers' annual outing day, and this fraternity was not represented. Peddlers were the only buyers, and they were after the cheap stuff. No material change in prices was noted, with the exception of tomatoes, which declined 10c. Quotations:

Beets, 100 bunches	75c	Peppers, per crate	75c
Carrots, 100 bunches	75c	Radishes, 100	$1.25

Onions, bu	75c
Potatoes, bu	73@85c
Pieplant, bunch	15@18c

FRUITS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Trade was featureless, but offerings were not particularly large. The hot weather when the fruit was shipped was detrimental to the quality. Quotations:

Apples, new, brls	$1.00@4.00	Red raspberries, 24 pts	$1.75@2.00
Do bu	50c@$1.25	Lemons, box	$3.25@4.25

Plums, 24 qts	75c@$1.25

HAY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Trade is slow and market is easy. Receipts were 745 tons; shipments, 20 tons. Choice timothy, $12.00@13.00; No. 1 timothy, $11.00@12.00; No. 2 timothy and No. 1 mixed, $9.00@10.00; No. 3 timothy and No. 2 mixed, $7.50@8.50. Kansas and Oklahoma prairie—Choice, $9.50@10.00; No. 1, $9.00@9.50. Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska prairie—Choice, $8.50@9.00; No. 1, $7.50@8.00; lower grades, $7.00@7.50.

STRAW.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Rye, $7.00@8.00; wheat, $4.00@5.00; oat, $5.50@6.00.

Groceries.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Business was of good volume and prices generally held firm. Supplies of teas were reported at a low ebb, with values making sharp gains. This scarcity in teas came as a direct result of the pure food laws, which condemned large quantities of the lower grades of teas and forced consumers of low priced offerings to take more expensive blends, supplies of which proved inadequate to meet the increased demand. Rice, flour, and corn products were held at firm figures, with the demand in excess of receipts and stocks on hand being rapidly reduced. Talmage's Sons company of New York, in their weekly review of the rice market, said:

"Good demand continues. Inquiry is for every grade Japan—foreign, old and new domestic. Receipts are of small proportions as the new crop is coming in slowly and arriving parcels being sold before they touch the dock, nothing is added to spot stock. Prices are firmly held, as there is a waiting demand. Renewed interest is manifested in foreign sorts on account of high prices and scant supply of domestic.

"Advices from the south note stocks on the Atlantic coast practically closed out. At New Orleans demand is active, with prices advanced on account of light offerings. Daily rains have caused great disappointment to those who expected large receipts of new crop rough rice. Instead of an ample supply the mills have been compelled to shut down for lack of material on which to work. In the interior—southwest Louisiana and Texas—the rains (which are retarding harvest of the river crop) are beneficial to that which is approaching maturity. The next few weeks will be an anxious period for those engaged in the culture.

"Cables and correspondence from abroad note active markets and prices advanced on account of large requirements in the far east. Dan Talmage's Sons company, New Orleans, report southwestern rice crop season ending July 31, 1908, as follows: Receipts, New Orleans and country mills (including 100,000 sacks carried over from previous year), 4,250,000 sacks. Sales, cleaned (estimated), 4,150,000 pockets. Carried over into new crop (cleaned and rough reduced to clean, mostly export grades and Japan), 100,000 pockets. Talmage, New Orleans, telegraph new crop (1908) movement to date: Receipts, rough, 7,400 sacks; last year, 4,660 sacks. Sales, cleaned, 5,845 pockets, part old crop; last year, 6,850 pockets, part old crop. Receipts light on account daily rains; demand active."

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Offerings of raw sugars were reported to be meeting with an active demand at firm prices. This was reflected in the market for refined goods, which were strongly held at full figures. Following were the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated beet and cane, $5.47@5.67; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.40; canary, $5.15; standard powdered, $5.80; extra C, $5.28; chemically pure milk sugar, 18c per lb in bbl lots.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—SUGAR—Raw unsettled; fair refining, 3.62½c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4.12½c; molasses sugar, 3.82½@3.87½c. Refined quiet; No. 6, 4.80c; No. 7, 4.75c; No. 8, 4.70c; No. 9, 4.65c; No. 10, 4.55c; No. 11, 4.50c; No. 12, 4.45c; No. 13, 4.40c; No. 14, 4.35c; confectioners' A, 5.00c; mold A, 5.55c; cut loaf, 6.00c; crushed, 5.90c; powdered, 5.30c; granulated, 5.20c; cubes, 5.45c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Hot weather resulted in a restricted demand for all grades of mild coffees, but offerings were not burdensome, and values held generally unchanged. Holders of desirable goods had expected a falling off in the demand and were not pressing sales.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—COFFEE—Spot steady; Rio No. 7, 6¼c; Santos No. 4, 8¾c. Mild dull; Cordova, 9¾@12½c. The market for futures opened firm at an advance of 10 points on scattered covering, which was probably promoted by the reactionary tendency of the European markets following recent declines. The close was steady at a net advance of 5@15 points. Sales were reported of 9,250 bags. Quotations:

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Day to day trade was of gratifying volume, while ordering for future shipment was more general and for larger quantities of merchandise. Prices generally held firm, with no signs of weakness perceptible in any line. Special offers of all kinds brought such satisfactory results that all doubt as to the stability of the market was quickly dispelled and jobbers considered the outlook most favorable, with expectations of increasing activity as the season advanced.

Merchants said that the volume of business was fully up to the average for this time of the year and that all reports received from outside points were to the effect that the feeling of confidence in the market was spreading. A most favorable factor was the receipt of orders from manufacturing districts, which up to the present time have been the slowest to recover from the depression noted the first of the year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The dry goods market for the day showed a gain in activity in the jobbing houses, but largely on staple fabrics. The aftermath of the big dress goods auction sale is generally of a favorable character, and there is no longer any doubt of there being a full distribution at the coming auction sale of cotton goods. Men's wear lines are doing better, more particularly on resist dye fabrics and fine worsteds.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—COTTON—Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands, 10.[illegible]; middling gulf, 11.15c. Sales, 800 bales. New high records for the bull movement were made today owing to a renewal of support from the southern leaders and covering by some of yesterday's sellers. The close was barely steady in tone, but at a net advance of 4@11 points. Sales were estimated at 125,000 bales. The market opened steady at a net advance of 5 points on August, but generally 1@3 points lower owing to easy early cables. Futures opened steady and closed barely steady. Quotations:

INDUSTRIAL GROUP LEADS.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The overnight news from the wheat country, particularly from the three northwestern states which produce the largest harvests of spring wheat, failed signally to bear out the numerous unsettling reports of Wednesday, which had been directly responsible for the advance of 3c or more a bushel in prices on all grain markets.

Trustworthy advices from many sources this morning, while admitting a degree of deterioration in the crops, minimized the damage and predicted harvests in the Dakotas and Minnesota at least as large as those of last year. A commercial newspaper of this city which makes careful compilations of crop statistics published the results of inquiries among 1,600 correspondents, showing wheat and corn to be in better shape than at this time last year, with the possibilities of a bumper wheat yield, provided the injury to the grain in the northwest has not been serious. Prices on the produce markets in the face of all this evidence fell sharply at the opening of business and closed finally at losses representing declines of from 1c to 1½c a bu.

Crop Reports Help Situation.

Wall street's mind was greatly relieved by developments in connection with the crop situation, and it turned to the stock market to express this relief. Manipulation against shorts made its appearance in a limited number of industrial stocks, including Amalgamated Copper, National Lead, Republic Iron and Steel preferred, and American Smelters, and advances of from 2 to 5 points or more in this group were the result. The movement in copper was helped by the strong market position of the metal itself. The rise in American Smelters, whatever its real cause, may be accredited to the operations of a well known manipulator.

In the railroad department the features of the strength were Reading and Union Pacific, but the advances of these and other shares of the kind were moderate when compared with the upturn in the industrial group. Additional earnings statements for the month of June submitted by various roads continue to reflect the small volume of traffic moving in that month, but in its bearing on the general situation the showing of the building trades for the month of July was encouraging, expenditures of this kind in fifty-one cities being $35,236,000, the monthly total surpassing for the first time that of any corresponding period of last year. Bank clearings for the week also make a better comparison with last year's, being the best, in fact, of the present year.

Money Ease Abroad Assured.

While the Bank of England and Bank of Germany reported for the week noted decreases in gold holdings and generally less satisfactory positions, although even as they stand these institutions are unusually strong for this period of the year, the Bank of France today returned a condition statement containing an increase of $4,000,000 in gold and a reduction of nearly $42,000,000 in bills discounted. There is nothing in the money situation abroad to indicate anything save ease for months to come. Local banks added to their earlier gains from the government, bringing the total since Friday last up to $4,202,000, where at this time a week ago they had lost $1,350,000.

Money on call easy, 1@1¼ per cent; ruling rate, 1; closing bid, 1; offered at 1. Time loans strong; 60 days, 2¼ per cent; 90 days, 2½ per cent; 6 months, 4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3@4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at 484.90@485 for 60 day bills and at 486.50 for demand. Commercial bills, 484¼@484½. Bar silver, 52⅝. Mexican dollars, 45. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds firm.

MORE DOGS BITE CHILDREN.

Suits Are Begun in Municipal Court Against Twenty-three Reputed Owners of Vicious Animals.

Several more children were bitten by dogs yesterday, and suits were begun in the Municipal court against twenty-three reputed owners of vicious dogs.

Gertrude Negilesworth, 14 years old, who lives at 6318 Rhodes avenue, was bitten in the right leg by a dog owned by John Hickey, 6330 Rhodes avenue.

Henry Schmidt, 11 years old, who lives at 898 North Halsted street, was bitten in the left leg as he was passing the residence of John Klewer, 68 Howe street. Alex Kalenowski, 5 years old, was bitten in the right hand by a dog owned by William Buskilski while playing in the rear of his home, 51 Wright street. Tony Campagne, 7 years old, 286 West Congress street, was bitten in the right leg while walking in front of 352 West Jackson boulevard.

Appoints Collector for Gary, Ind., Port

The appointment of George E. Scott as deputy collector of customs for the port of Gary, Ind., was announced by Collector John C. Ames yesterday. The port was opened last week and there now are five cargoes of ore in the harbor. There will be, according to Mr. Scott, about 1,000,000 tons of ore delivered at Gary this season.

BUYING IN NEW YORK MARKET

Chicago Commission Houses Make Moderate Deals in East.

LOCAL SENTIMENT BULLISH.

Reports of Damaged Crops Are Not Universally Credited.

Chicago commission houses were moderate buyers in the New York market. While sentiment locally is bullish, it is of an uncertain character so far as a majority of the houses is concerned. In some quarters there is pronounced belief in higher prices. No special reasons are offered, but the information that stocks can be bought comes from New York as a suggestion from a friendly and influential source.

There is no doubt that general business is improving slowly and the crop news finding its way to the board of trade is not universally credited. There may be some damage in the northwest, but interests which receive daily reports of crop conditions fail to agree with the board of trade announcements to the effect that great damage is being done.

Among railroad interests it is held that the outlook for the crops is beyond the average and also that the money return will be much beyond the average. Not only the railroads entertain this belief but interests as vitally concerned as the railroads are of the same opinion.

National Biscuit Business.

The assistant treasurer of the National Biscuit company is quoted as saying:

"Our business shows a steady gain. It is ahead of a year ago, as it has been since the fiscal year began Feb. 1. The outlook is decidedly better. This is evidenced by reports of agents all over the country. There is more business in our line in the second half of the fiscal year on account of the year end holiday trade. There has been no talk of another extra dividend on the common stock in this office, and I have heard none elsewhere."

Republic Iron and Steel.

It is announced that the Republic Iron and Steel company is operating 60 per cent of its capacity. The month of July did not make a favorable exhibit, owing to the fact that operations were materially curtailed while the company negotiated with its men over wage scales. In consequence the July business was but 30 per cent normal.

The wage question has now been settled and the reductions in labor charges in various departments range from 8 to 10 per cent, which will figure as an offset to the reduction in iron prices.

New National Banks.

During the month of July thirty-seven new national banks were organized. Of this number twenty-three had a total capital of $590,000 with individual capital of less than $50,000, while thirty-four banks had a total capital of $1,525,000 with individual capital of $50,000 or more.

Since March 14, 1900, 3,947 banks have been chartered. At the close of the week of July 31 there were 6,855 national banks with an authorized capital of $933,465,275. They had circulation outstanding, secured by bonds, to the amount of $625,360,982. The total amount of national bank circulation outstanding is $692,088,991, of which $66,728,009 is covered by lawful money, or a like amount deposited with the treasurer of the United States on account of liquidating and insolvent national banks and associations which have reduced their circulation.

Anderson Gaslight and Fuel.

The Union Gaslight and Fuel company of Anderson, Ind., which one year ago consolidated all of the gas interests in that city, is to be controlled hereafter by an eastern syndicate. It is announced at the same time that the United States Steel corporation will erect there another large plant to use the surplus gas and coke output of the Union Gas company's plants.

Commercial Failures in July.

According to Dun's review, liabilities of failures in the leading branches of business for July, 1908, were approximately $1,400,000 greater in manufacturing than one year ago, and in trading the liabilities were substantially the same. The following sets forth the different classes of business and the liabilities therein compared with July last year:

General Financial News.

A plant for the manufacture of snuff has been planned by members of the Planters' Protective association in the south. The plant will be erected by a company having a capital stock of $500,000.

Net earnings of the United Fruit company for July are reported to have shown a considerable decrease from the net of July, 1907, when the company earned $850,000. The price of bananas is lower than last year.

F. Augustus Heinze says the price of copper metal will go higher. He says, too, that while nothing has been accomplished, negotiations are on looking to the sale of some of the properties which he controls.

The annual report of the American Locomotive company for the year ended June 30, 1908, will be issued shortly. It is expected that earnings applicable to the common stock will be around 12 per cent, as against 18.48 per cent last year.

It is estimated that earnings of the Norfolk and Western for the fiscal year ended June 30 will be equal to approximately 6½ per cent on the common stock.

Announcement comes from New York to the effect that within a short time an issue of bonds will be made by the Atchison on one of its branch lines.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has lost $4,402,000 to the banks.

The Knickerbocker Trust company of New York announces that on Aug. 30 it will release 10 per cent more of its depositors' money instead of waiting until next year.

The New York Stock exchange has listed $13,706,000 capital stock of the American Steel Foundries company. This represents the stock issued in accordance with the reorganization plan.

It is announced that on Sept. 2 the Citizens' Glass company of Evansville, Ind., will reopen its plant and within the next few months give employment to 1,000 men.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison was again moderately active on the local exchange. The price ruled 101½. Around this quotation persons familiar with the business of the company are willing to buy.

Chicago Subway shares were firm, though the business was but moderate in amount. The price closed at 22.

Diamond Match was firm, the shares touching 134¾ at close. National Biscuit common was also firm, making a new high record at 92½.

South Side Elevated dropped another point, selling at 48. For the first time in weeks there was a quotation on Northwestern L common, the price being 13¾. The remainder of the list was without features.

Following were the sales on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday:

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—There was a lot of profit taking on copper stocks today, but in spite of it leading shares nearly all closed higher. Advances ranged from small fractions to 2 in Utah. The stimulating factor today was the announcement that a local producer had sold a big lot of metal at 14c. On the curb there was great excitement, the Lawson specialties, Bay State Gas, Yukon gold, and Nevada-Utah, scoring sharp advances, the former selling at 100 and closing at 96, compared with 88 yesterday. Yukon closed at 5¾, the high point of the day, and Nevada-Utah at 4, likewise the top price. Call loans, 2@2½ per cent; time loans, collateral, 3@4½ per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent; clearing house loans, 2 per cent.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Money was in increased demand today, and the demand was easily satisfied. Discounts were easy. Trading on the stock exchange developed dullness. The easy tendency and a poor bank statement helped to depress gilt edged securities, while home rails did not derive assistance from the announcement of a working agreement between the Northwestern and Midland companies, but later the improvement in consols caused a steadier closing tone. Paris offered its favorites because of the unsettled Turkish situation. Copper shares continued a feature of the mining section.

American securities experienced a dull morning, dealers offering stocks because of the poor Wall street close last night and fears of crop damage. Canadian Pacific weakened on strike news. Grand Trunks eased in sympathy. New York sent a better opening and bought well and in the afternoon the market improved and, with the exception of Baltimore and Ohio, closed firm.

Points for Investors

The wood pulp produced on 25 acres of land is consumed every day when a certain Chicago newspaper goes to press.

This partly explains the increasing scarcity of timber, and is one of the reasons why our Timber Bonds appeal to conservative investors.

They are Sinking Fund, Serial Bonds, secured by First Mortgage on standing Timber appraised at over five times the amount of the Bond Issue by Jas. D. Lacey & Co. of Chicago, Portland and New Orleans.

The Bonds are $500 each and pay 6%. They run from 1½ to 10 years and are offered at par.

IT'S HERE—ISN'T IT?

Owing to the importance of my coming advertising campaign and the necessary word-size of each of the four advertisements of the first series, and because of the fact that they are to be printed everywhere, I have decided to have the first one appear on Monday next, instead of today.

In the meantime I would say most earnestly to that part of the public which invests or speculates in stock, get aboard of this market now. Don't wait until everything has gone up another 50 or 100 per cent, but buy now.

That is, use your horse sense reasoning and then act.

Here is horse sense reasoning: "Since markets began stocks have gone up and down: way up, then way down, then way up again."

This bull market will do the same, first go up, way, way up—and is already doing it. Union Pacific was 196, dropped to 100, now back to 157, will be 225. Amalgamated was 130, dropped to 33, then up to 131, in October down to 40, now 81, will be 131. Smelters was 175, dropped to 57, is now 99⅞ and will be 190⅞—and so on through the list.

Think it over. Remember how I begged you to sell Smelters at 175, and then how I begged you to buy it at 57, and then only the other day how I begged you to buy it at 90, and in two days it is up to 99⅞.

Does not this market confirm what I said to you in my last advertisement:

"In this market fortunes will be picked from every bush if would-be pickers will only follow the advice of those who have never yet missed a big pickin'."

In my advertising which begins Monday I will lay before the world the most startling proposition ever made by a sane and responsible financier. The world will take a gasp, and then for three successive days it will take other gasps; then—it will act, as it never acted before.

Three days ago when I printed that Bay State Gas, St. Paul, Yukon, First National, Trinity and Smelters were going up—way, way up—you could have bought Bay State, now 96, for 50 cents; St. Paul, now 143½, for 139; Yukon, now 5¾, for 4; First National, now 6½, for 4; Trinity, now 18⅞, for 14, and Smelters, now 99⅞, for 87.

Again I say, buy stocks now, for after my advertising has been published Yukon will be in tremendous demand at 8, First National at 10, Trinity at 25, St. Paul at 150, Smelters at 120, and above all else the public will be frantically clamoring at the rate of a million to a million and a half shares a day for Bay State at $1.50, $2, $3, $4, $5, and on up to $10. (On Tuesday there were 325,000 traded in, Wednesday 307,000 shares, and yesterday over 300,000.)

In 40 years I have seen all the big markets come and go. I have not only seen them, but I have studied them and their why-come and why-go and why-come again, and in all that time I have never seen any such foundation as the present for a wild runaway bull market:—

(a.) Prices low, yet so recently high, that all remember them and are acute to the probability of their not only going back to the old prices, but way beyond.

(b.) The country in the artificial dumps and just awakening to the fact that it got there by deliberately jumping in—just awakening to the fact that it is in the dumps not from necessity but because it acted the part of the indolent ass who mistook the thistles for infernos.

(c.) An election coming with the results as settled as though election had already taken place.

(d.) Big financiers opening their eyes to the fact that their stocks were not the punky things they hystericked themselves into believing they were, but the same old American bed-rock interest-earning instruments as before Roosevelt yelled "Scat," Cortelyou, "Fire Department," and John D. and J. P. held the bags.

If these things do not mean that the entire nation is always sound, that it has snapped up a half-dozen holes in its belt with a muttered "What asses we were," and that it has taken to the Prosperity Pike to regain its self-respect, then real stock market signs mean nothing.

If there was nothing behind this market but even-Steven prosperity, the $2,000,000,000 appreciation of values of the past few days would alone carry prices 25 to 50 per cent higher.

Vision a bit:

A man had 10,000 Smelters. He called it worth $1,750,000. He sweated seven different shades of corpuscles while it was sliding to $570,000, but he held on, breath short-sized and all wire connections between will power and eyelids short-circuited—but he held on. Vision again this man realizing that his $570,000 has now become $997,500 with the stock still a-climbing. Does any sane man think anything short of death will keep this man from pyramiding every 10 points' rise until his account puts the Singer Building weather vane in the coal bin by comparison? And there are thousands and thousands of such men all over the country, to say nothing of old investors and new speculators and the big fellows who have been awaiting the coming of just these conditions for the unloading of the billions they have been compelled to buy.

P. S. A pointer as to conditions. My advertising of the past few days has covered only Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, and I have never had such heavy and quick returns. My advertising campaign which begins next Monday will cover the world.

THOMAS W. LAWSON.

BOSTON, August 7, 1908.

Bear in mind: I believe that the contents of my advertising which begins Monday will send Bay State flying to 10 ($10, Boston, or $20, New York, per share), that Bay State's rise will compel Yukon to over 10, First National to over 15, Trinity to over 40. Read and then watch the market.

THOMAS W. LAWSON.

CLUB BUYS NORTH SIDE LAND

Saddle and Cycle Members Now Control Entire Block.

HOTEL AND STORES SOLD.

Property at North Clark and Erie Streets Changes Owners.

The Saddle and Cycle club has purchased from John J. Corbett and John T. Connery 105¼ feet frontage on Sheridan road adjoining the club grounds on the north for $26,312. The transaction is of interest because it gives the club control of the entire block between Foster and Berwyn avenues fronting on Sheridan road and running through to the lake. Cochran & McCluer represented the sellers and Winston & Co. the club.

This is part of the tract which Corbett and Connery purchased at the partition sale last spring, and the remainder, running to Bryn Mawr avenue, is now being put in shape to be placed on the market. The owners have made an agreement with the Lincoln park board establishing the boundary line of the lake, and they now are constructing a breakwater. The lots will run from 250 to 300 feet deep and will be restricted to high class residences.

North Side Hotel Sold.

Mrs. Jemima M. Raffington of Chicago and Mrs. Mary A. Jones of Stockton, Cal., have conveyed to Martha E. Braun, Mabel Braun Pagin, and George P. Braun the property at the northwest corner of North Clark and Erie streets for a nominal consideration, subject to incumbrance of $25,000. The lot is 44x120 feet, and is improved with a four story building containing stores on the first floor and a hotel on the upper floors having thirty rooms. In part payment the seller took the property in Pine Grove avenue, 260 feet south of Waveland avenue, 150x225 feet, west front, put in at a nominal consideration.

Andrew G. Anderson has sold to Frank Wechsler the property at the northeast corner of Rockwell street and Potomac avenue, 50x126 feet, with brick improvements, for $29,000.

For a nominal consideration George P. Blair has conveyed to the Samuel Cupples Woodenware company of St. Louis the leasehold estate and building at the northwest corner of Illinois and St. Clair streets, 125x100 feet.

Buy Land for Residences.

The State Bank of Chicago, trustee, has conveyed to Edward P. Skene, Clyde L. Day, Frank B. Harriman, and Charles J. Baur, respectively, 100x134 feet in Bennett avenue south of Sixty-eighth street for a consideration of $6,000 in each transfer. The grantees are members of the syndicate which acquired the Jackson Park Highlands and it is understood each will improve with a residence.

The Catholic bishop has purchased from Joseph B. Durand 133x125 feet vacant, at the southeast corner of Addison and Paulina streets for $10,000. While no definite plans have been made, it is stated the property ultimately will be improved with a church and school for St. Andrew's parish.

The Scully Steel and Iron company has for a nominal consideration conveyed to Rudolph Haszagh the property in Carroll avenue, 161 feet west of Ann street, 50x141 feet, north front.

The Northern Trust company is trustee in a loan of $32,500, five years at 5 per cent, to Albert Dickinson, secured by the property at the southwest corner of Green and Monroe streets, 100x250 feet.

RETAIL JEWELERS SEEK TRADE.

National Association Is Advised to Take Steps Against Aggressive Mail Order Houses.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Throughout the present convention of the National Association of Retail Jewelers the fight on mail order houses and on wholesalers who sell at retail has been foremost in the minds of the members.

J. H. Purdy Thursday advised the association to adopt a trade mark, to be stamped on goods sold by members of the association. This would not be permitted on goods sold to mail order houses. They hoped to induce manufacturers to stop selling to the mail order concerns, also.

The association named a committee to investigate the trade mark plan of campaign.

Kankakee Editor Beaten.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 6.—Arthur F. Sweeney, associate editor of the Kankakee Republican, was waylaid and beaten this evening by Perry Labounty, a pressman on the Kankakee Gazette. The attack was the result of a conflict between the two newspapers over the republican gubernatorial nomination. Labounty was arrested.

"All I ask is that you examine my record in congress before voting for United States senator." —GEORGE EDMUND FOSS.—Adv.
